We have not the pleasure of the acquaintance of the young man who runs the Laurinburg Enterprise at this time, who pretends to be a "Liberal Democrat," but who conducts a newspaper in the interests of the Republican party, which was purchased with Republican highly, and we would never have been found in the position he now occupies. We can remember, too, very Mr. Troy, Jr., is now serving. But other Democratic member cites Robebor knows what that means. - ear, friend Troy. When you want to make a charge against us you must find something more solid to stand upon than the charge of "office-seeking." Naturally this may occur to your mind, but your position is badly taken. For Mr. Whitthorne's charges were foundmore than fifteen years the Editor of ed had been obtained by a "most bruthis paper has cast his vote at every tal" investigation, iuvading the sanctielection for the straight Democratic ticket and during all of that time hasn't asked for an office, hasn't had an office and bezzlement of some school funds in wouldn't have had an office if it had been offered him-unless it had been a very fat one with but little work and still less responsibility attached to it and then, in that instance, after much persuasion, he might "have been induced to accept."

Thanks, also, Bro. Troy, for your estimate of our intellectual ability. We agree there and it is pleasant to know that there is point of accord between us. But we fear that we would not have harmonized so well if our opinion of your ability had been in ques-

[Applause from the Democratic benches and contemptuous exclamations from the Republican benches.] These were the strong words used by Mr. Hewitt of Mr. George M. Robeson in the House of Representatives yesterday, in referring to the still stronger words applied by Mr. Whitt-horne to Mr. George M. Robeson in true either that Mr Robeson is a thief, a liar, and a perjurer, or else that Mr. Whitthorne is a reckless slanderer, and that one or the other of them should be expelled from the House? Is the case thus raised properly to be met with "contemptnous exclamations"? It is quite conceivable that such charges as those which were brought by Mr. Whitthorne against Robeson might be brought in the House by a man charges as those which were brought by Mr. Whitthorne against Robeson might be brought in the House by a man of no character against a man whose character has stood so high as to make the charges obviously and transparently ridiculous. In that case, the man against whom the charges were directed might afford to pass them with disdain, but in that case the House would owe it to its own dignity to expel the secondard who had insulted the House tation, etc., is Brown's Iron Bitters.

in his vain attempt to injure the character of one of its members. Even in that case the majority of the House could not afford to dismiss such charges with "contempuous exclamations."

But will anybody dare to say that this is a case of that kind? Will anybody dare to say that Mr. George M Robeson's public reputation is such that the charges against him of theft, lying and perjury become too ridiculous for belief, and need no reply beyond "contemptuous exclamations"? Mr. Geo. M. Robeson's public reputation the fact that the intermediary [through | hair. whose influence contracts with the Navy Department were obtained confessed to having received commisions of over $200,000 for his influence in procuring such contracts; by the fact that Robe-son's cottage at Long Branch and Robeson's lots in Washington were paid for out of the commissions of this intermediary; by the fact that Robeson made contracts to the amount of millions so improvident and so extravagant that his successor in office at once annulled them when they were brought to his notice; by the fact that a naval officer of high rank declared that at the very least sixty millions of dollars were wasted under Robeson's administraon his dignity when he is called a thief to his face? To Mr. Hewitt's repetition of Mr. Whitthorne's charges Robeson' defense was that Mr. Hewitt was the son-in-law of Peter Cooper, who was a rich man, thus exhibiting Robeson's superior respect for the sanctities of private life. Now, if Mr. Whitthorne's connection with the school fund of Tennessee had been before the House, or if Mr. Hewitt had asserted that he married a pauper's daughter, and the ques-tion whether he did or not had been an issue, these "charges" of Robeson's would have been at least relevant.
