The number for September abounds with pleasant, edifying and interesting reading, and is, as usual, profusely illustrated. The editor, Rev. Mr. Talmage, has an admirable article entitled "The Horse and his Rider," finely illustrated; and "The Home Pulpit" contains one of his eloquent and characteristic sermons. "What are our Departed Friends Doing Now?" "California Big Trees," "The Disciples of Menno Simon," will be read with great interest. Marion Harland continues her highly interesting serial, "A Good Fellow"; and besides the other admirable serial, "Weighed and Wanting," there are short stories, sketches, essays, etc., by popular writers; some very excellent poems, several of them beautifully illustrated; and a large, interesting and instructive miscellany. There are also Editorial Comments, Personal Notes and Comments. The Collection Basket, The Drift of Religious Comment, etc., etc. The price is only 25 cents a number, or $3 a year, sent post-paid. A specimen number will be sent on the receipt of 25 cents, addressed to FRANK LESLIE, Publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

"How do you manage," said a lady to her friend, "to appear so happy all the time?" "I always have Parker's Ginger Tonic handy," was the reply, and thus keep myself family in good health. When I am well I always feel good natured." See other column.

THE SPEAKING.

Fine Speeches—Republicanism Shown up by Col. Green and Gov. Jarvis.

Quite a large crowd of persons assembled in front of the National Bank last evening, to listen to the speeches to be made by Col. Green, our Congressional standard-bearer, and Hon. Thos J Jarvis. The verandah from which they spoke was decorated with Chinese lanterns and a flag of the country was stretched along the length of the railing. About half past eight, Col. A. M. Waddell appeared on the veranda, and was greeted with applause. As soon as the assemblage became quiet, he introduced Col. Green in a short, but earnest speech, and called upon his friends to do as they had always done, and stand by the nominee of the Democratic party. He stated that it was the first and would be the last time that he would address his fellow citizens during the campaign and urged them to vote for and advocate the election of the nominees of the party.

Col. Wharton J. Green then appeared on the balcony and for the first time addressed the citizens of this city. He stated that when he left his home he had no more idea of making a speech here than he had that he would be defeated on the 7th of November. He made a telling and exhaustive argument and arraigned the Republican party, He showed up their most glaring misdeeds touching on the Black Friday, Credit Mobilier, Post tradership and whiskey ring and Freedman's Bank steals. He held the disgusting and smirched characters of the Republican leaders to the gaze of his audience. He showed up the records of the Grants, Corbins, Belknaps, Ames, Robesons, Sheppards and other worthies of the party of bribery and corruption. He made allegations against the leaders of the Republican party, commencing with Grant and going through his entire Cabinet and appointments and proved by their testimony from members of their party. He made a fine impression and was listened to for two hours with marked attention. Col. Green is a gentleman of culture and ability and will doubtless make his attainments be felt and recognized in the halls of the next Congress.

His Excellency Governor Jarvis, was introduced by Mr. W. B. McKoy, and on taking the stand, commenced to deal out sledge-hammer blows upon the Republican party. He gave them many a home thrust under which the hydra-headed monster squirmed. He compared the expenses of running the State Government for two years when the Republicans had full and undisputed sway and for two years when the State was run by the Democrats. The expense, under Democratic rule was less than one-half what it was under Republican rule. He further stated that the Republicans, during the rule of ruin and pillage, had not erected a single school house within the broad domains of the good old State, and had left nothing behind them to show that they were either capable or honest enough to steer the ship of State through the shoals of disaster and ruin.

He dwelt at some length on the county government system, the improved and now flourishing condition (New Hanover) county. He spoke of the slough of despair and debt in which the county was in when the Democrats were placed in possession of affairs. Governor Jarvis made a practical speech, speaking of what the Democrats had done in instituting schools and building asylums for the white and colored insane of the State. He further spoke of the reduction of the bonded debt of the State from $12,000,000 to $4,000,000, besides erecting the public buildings since the Democrats came into power. He showed up the fallacy of the Republican war-whoop of "a free ballot and fair count," by speaking of the time when the Canby constitution was passed, and showed that 30,000 of our best citizens were not allowed to vote, and those who did were compelled to march between a cordon of Federal soldiers to the polls. We were listened to with wrapt attention by the large assemblage, and made many friends by his able and effective speech.

The Register submitted his monthly report for July, showing $11.40 as having been received as marriage fees, and submitted the Treasurer's receipts for the same.

Correction.

MR. EDITOR:—Observing a letter in the Republican paper called the "Post" dated Smithville and signed "C. H. M." I called at the office of that paper to enquire about it, and was informed by Mr. Sellers, Mr. Cannaday being absent at the time that "C. H. M." were the initials of their correspondent at Smithville. This strange coincidence might mislead some good Democrat, and I desire to say that my version of the meeting at Smithville was telegraphed to the Chronicle & Constitutionalist, of Augusta, Ga., as follows:

"SMITHVILLE, N. C., August 5.—The campaign opened to-day with the greatest speech I have heard in twenty-five years, by Judge R. T. Bennett, candidate for Representative-at-Large. Governor Jarvis and other notables are here—C. H. M."

My letter describing the meeting will appear in the Augusta Chronicle on Wednesday morning.
