WEALTH IN COTTON SEED Lead water OIL:

The New York Mail and Express is one of those papers which have a decided penchant for facts, figures and statistics. It has recently become much interested in the productive capacity of the South, and especially in the matter of cotton seed oil. We have quoted from its columns on previous occasions, and we again present its later calculations upon this very important matter. In a recent editorial in that paper, it states that the amount which the South proceeds to give facts and figures, from which we gather that the amount of cotton produced during the fifteen years from 1845 to 1860 was 46,675,591 bales, and for every bale of cotton there were 1,200 pounds of seed, or three times the weight of the cotton itself. The amount of seed wasted was therefore 28,005, 354.6 tons. The manufacture of oil and its products has created such a demand for cotton seed that the price at the crushing mills was about $18 per ton last year and will probably average twenty dollars in the future. At the latter rate the seed wasted during the last fifteen years before the war was worth $560,107,092. Probably that amount represents not much more than half the market value of the manufactured products of the seed. During the first fifteen years after the war the amount of cotton produced was 56,438,-335 bales, and but a small part of the seed it yielded was utilized. The average annual cotton crop is now not less than 6,000,000 bales, so that the amount of seed is 3,700,000 tons, which at $20 per ton would be worth $74,-000,000 at wholesale. It is safe to place the value of the manufactured products of that amount of seed at $100,000,000. It will be seen, therefore, that the wealth in cotton seed is about equal to half the annual expense of the United States government. When the nation manufactures all its cotton, as well as utilizes all its cotton seed; its income don Bennett, of the New York Herald. 414 cants. from the cotton crop will be more than

The Washington Post, after showing that the people East and West steadily decline to elect colored men to office, adds that Mr. George T. Downing is mistaken when he wrote that colored office holders in Washington were satisfied with their lot, and had no grievance against the Republican party. One of these persons writes to the Post, giving the names of fifty-three colored office holders in Washington, all af whom, the writer says (and he is one them). "hold office only on condition that they do medial service at the homes of the men under whom they serve the public." All these men, according to the correspendent, who gives the best of references as to his character, are "regularly paid on the rolls of the Departments;" and, in addition to their official duties, "serve their master in every menial capacity in which servants are employed." They are "coachmen, stable boys, footmen, cooks, waiters, valets, barbers and roustabouts in the residences of the men who hold the power to remove them," and, he adds, "if these men were to assert their rights of manhood and demand their rights, off would go their heads and a more compliant set of rious sections, in double boxes, two boys' would take their places."

A CONGRESSIONAL CLUB-HOUSE.

The plan of levying assessments on the office-holders of the government, ostensibly as a campaign fund by which the Republicans hope to maintain their grip upon the public treasury and their continuance indefinitely in power, is working wonderfully well-for those who are the custodians of the fund at Washington. The New York Herald states that a Washington dispatch to WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1882. the Evening Post gives the interesting information that the Congressional Committee are contemplating the purchase of a very handsome building on Thirteenth street, in that city, with a part of the funds they have extorted by their political assessments, and fitting it up for a club house. The Herald then adds, very appropriately, that this will be a comparatively innocent manner of using the ill-gotten money and the application of it in that way is much less ob- enough to run for almost any office in jectionable than many others that are possible. In ordinary justice to the government clerks, !letter-carriers, female nurses, colored messengers and errand boys, whose contributions will be applied to the purchase, they will of course be constituted honorary members of the club and become entitled to all its social privileges, including the restaurant and bar. Sally Binus, the cat, also will be entitled to a warm and cosy place by the fireside of the lounging room. The door plate should be inscribed "Hubbell."

The following statistics copied, from the Chattanooga Tradesman, are of in-

> In the days when cotton was king, says the New York Sun, many people saw the mistake of the South in making cotton so autocratic that corn was despised. Things have greatly changed since those times, as is shown by the announcement that the South is this year raising more corn than its own wants require, and has also already exported a large amount of wheat by way of Baltimore. It is obvious that only a very limited use has hitherto been made of the vast agricultural resources of the South, and that her fertile soil will one day yield crops far greater in varie- their claims, to the exclusive control of the Panama Canal. ty, as well as in value, than was ever dreamed of in the past.

MALARIA

Malaria is an almost indescribable malady which not even the most talented physicians are able to fathom. Its cause is most frequently ascribed to local surroundings, and there is very little question, but this opinion is substantiated by facts. Malaria does not necessarily mean chills and fever while these troubles usually accompany it. It often affects the sufferer with general lassitude, accompanied by loss of appetite, sleeplessness, a tired feeling and a high fever, the person afflicted growing weaker and weaker, loses flesh day after day, until he becomes a mere skeleton, a shadow of his former self.

> Malaria once having laid its door of the system is thrown open to nervous diseases. The body weak and enfeebled absorbs no nourishment, but subsisting upon itself, the digestive organs no longer perform their functions; the liver becomes torpid, and other organs failing to do their routine work, speedily become disordered, and dissolution and death are apt

In addition to being a certain cure for malaria and chills and fever. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is highly recommended for all diseases requiring a certain and efficient tonic; especially indigestion, dyspepsia, intermittent fevers, want of appetite, loss of strength, lack of energy, etc. Enriches the blood, strengthens the muscles, and gives new life to the nerves. Acts like a charm on the digestive organs. It is for sale by all respectable dealers in medicines, price, $1 per bottle
