Figs are plentiful.
Eggs are scarce and high.
No receipts of cotton at this port yesterday.
The fish market was well supplied yesterday.
There is no perceptible change in the condition of Dr. J. T. Schonwald.
A beautiful rain bow spanned the Eastern horizon yesterday afternoon.
Jolly good fellows are the "mashers" So say the "Tailors and Haberdash-ers."
We are constantly adding new names to our subscription books, both from the country and city.

We learn that the harvesting of the rice crop at the Clarendon plantation, below this city, was commenced yesterday.

Anything in the hardware line can be found at reasonable prices at JACO B'S.

A gang of serenaders—we call them so by courtesy—were out Wednesday night, making night hideous with their discords.

There are only nine vessels and one steamer of over one hundred tons burden, in port. We do not recollect of ever having seen so few vessels in the harbor before.

The champion flag of the Carolina Yacht Club, which was given up by the Redless, has been returned to her by Commodore Wiggins.

Mr. S. H. Barrett was in to see us yesterday. He says he is playing to a good business wherever he goes. Our State exchanges speak well of the show.

Our friends at Magnolia pic-nicked yesterday. We trust they had a pleasant time, and regret that we were compelled to decline several invitations to be present with them.

Austrian barque Ester, Capt. Higga, cleared at this port to-day for Trieste, with 250 casks spirits turpentine and 2,651 bbls. rosin, shipped by Messrs.
Ferguson, Downing & Co.

Only one more week, boys, before you will have a month with an "r" in it, and when, by tradition, oysters will be in season. A half dozen Winberry's on the 'alf shell will soon be the cry.

There is a postal in the post-office in this city, addressed by "William" to his "dear wife," but as William forgot to tell the post-office people what his dear wife's name is, the postal has thus far missed fire.

S. H. Barrett's advertising car, carrying eighteen men, arrived in this city yesterday morning. During the day the bill posters decorated the city with handsome circus bills. The small boy was out in full force.

Mr. Jno. C. James, the newly-appointed Freight Agent at Richmond, of the Richmond & Petersburg R. R., leaves here this morning for his new home. He will assume charge of the office September 1st.

Freshwater Perch, Trout and Black fish hooks and lines. A full assortment and lowest prices at JACOBI'S.

A large tree is in the river nearly opposite the marine railway. It was drifting down the stream about a week ago, and was caught by some obstruction in the river, and has since been held firm. It endangers navigation, and should be removed at once.

The ball at the Seaside Park Hotel, at Wrightsville Sound, on Wednesday evening, was the crowning event of the season. There were a very large number of ladies present and all who attended enjoyed themselves. The dance will ever be remembered with pleasure and will be referred to with delight and pleasant recollections.

The minstrel troupes of Primrose & West and George Thatcher have been consolidated, and will visit this city during the season. A letter received by us from them, states that the organization will be carried on with the usual elaborated scale of refinement characteristic of their former enterprises.

City Court.

There was only one case before the City Court yesterday, that of a young man who was charged with disorderly conduct. He was fined $5 or 10 days in the city prison. He lacked the funds and went below.

Sheep, Goats and Dogs.

We have been told by reliable farmers that dogs will not attack sheep when goats are with them. The goats fight off the dogs and the sheep will always get behind the goats for protection.
Would it not be well for our farmers to try the experiment. It can be done at a very small cost, and will doubtless be the means of saving many dollars.

Got it in the Neck.

Yesterday about noon a colored man, who was a waiter on Market street, was severely cut on the neck with a glass. He was abusive to one of the gentlemen in the house when the gentleman struck him with a glass tumbler, making a deep gash. The man lost a great deal of blood and subsequently fainted from weakness. His wounds were dressed by Drs. Potter and Schon-wald.

Worth Knowing.

Bits of toilet soap that are too small to keep in a soap dish, and yet too good to throw away, can be saved until a sufficient amount has accumulated to pay for utilizing them. They put them in a little tin basin and place on a stove until the soap is melted. Next stir in enough powdered pomice stone to give the mixture a grayish tinge, and pour the melted mass into a wet cup or other vessel that will serve as a mold, and set in a cool place to harden. This will turn out in a hard cake that will be found first-rate for cleaning the hands when they are stained with fruit, etc.

More Incendiary Fires.

About ten days ago the store and stock of Mr. G. S. Beatty, at Beatty's Bridge, Pender county, was totally destroyed by fire. Mr. Beatty, who sleeps in the store, was awakened between 2 and 3 o'clock of the night in question by a feeling of suffocation, caused by the dense smoke which filled his room. He saw he was almost enveloped in flames and sprang out of bed and tried to get out of the door, but on that night he had taken the key out of the door and put it in his pocket. He could not get back to where his clothes were and had to jump for his life through a window. By that time the entire building was enveloped in flames. Mr. Beatty valued his stock, fixtures and buildings at $1,500, on which there was an insurance of $800 in the Royal, of Liverpool, represented in this city by Messrs.
Northrop & Hodges. All of his effects were destroyed. He did not save even a suit of clothes. It is thought that the fire was the work of an incendiary, as it came from under the store. About one month ago, Mr. George Henry, living in the same neighborhood, lost his barns and stables by fire, and the evidence pointed strongly to the guilt of a colored man in the neighborhood. Mr.
Beatty proposes to rebuild in a short time, and again go to work and try to repair his loss.

Arrested for Murder.

John Howard was arrested by Esquire J. T. Carroll, of Duplin, at the depot in Magnolia, on Wednesday night, just as he (Howard) was boarding the fast train for this city. He was arrested on the charge of murder, and was committed to jail at Kenansville, to await his trial at the next term of the Superior Court. Howard waived an examination before the magistrate's court.
He is charged with the killing of Joe Daniels, colored, at Duplin Roads, on Christmas day 1878. There had been some trouble between Daniels and Howard, and Daniels had stricken Howard two or three blows when they clinched. Howard ran his hand in his pocket, and taking out his knife, stabbed Daniels two or three times.
The wounded man lived for eight or nine days and died from the effects of the wounds. When he died Howard left home and went to South Carolina where he has been up to three weeks ago, when he returned to this State to visit his parents near Magnolia. He had made his visit and was on the eve of starting back to South Carolina when he was arrested. His actions indicated that he was guilty, and when arrested he looked very much worried and talked but little. He finally made in substance the above statement of the case.
He is not married. He assigned as the cause of the cutting that Daniel had threatened his life, and that he was afraid of him, and that he cut him in self-defense.

Recovered.

The body of Antonio Cassaletto, the Italian harper who was drowned by the upsetting of a sail boat in the Cape Fear river at Smithville, on the evening of the 23d inst., was recovered last evening. It was found near the wharf of the steam tug Blanche. The body of Ben Murray, colored, who was drowned at the same time, has not yet been recovered.

Rice Culture.

If, (as has been fully proven, in the preceding papers on this subject) the rice industry could neither have been commenced nor maintained since 1865 without the aid of a protective import tax, what vital interests are at stake in Eastern North Carolina at this time!
If the American producer is dependent under present conditions, on the protection of an import duty, as it has been shown herein, and is well understood that he is, now important to the section so much interested to have all the facts understood by the national legislature.
With the advantage even of an import duty the prices he obtains are governed by the state of the markets and the quality of his grain, and his profits may proceed wholly from his ability to exceed the average yield or by reducing the average cost of the crops. Such profits may fall to those only who are favored with lands easily cultivated, and of extraordinary fertility.
If the effect of the import duty on the rice market be now considered, it will be found that the average price of good American rice in 1880-'81 did not exceed $5.50 per 100 pounds, showing that domestic and foreign rice were nearly equal in price, (see last number, Asiatic rice $5.40 per 100 lbs.), and were brought into contact under the most absolute conditions of competition. In round numbers, 118,000,000 lbs. of American and 69,000,000 lbs. of Asiatic rice were offered in the market, and the actual demand for home consumption was for 176,000,000 lbs. If either the American or the Asiatic rice had not been supplied, it is evident that the prices must have risen proportionately to the limit of the capacity of the consumer to purchase. This was illustrated in 1864, when the price of Asiatic rice then in sole control of the market, ranged from $12 to $17 per hundred pounds; while the contrary was illustrated with equal force in 1880-'81, when American and Asiatic rice contended in the markets; prices fell in Southern markets to $4.25 per 100 lbs. for good rice. Here the minimum was below the average prices for like qualities in 1837, 1838, 1839, 1854, 1855 and 1857 covering the most prosperous period of American rice husbandry.
It is only left to infer that the effect of the import duty has been; extraordinary increase in the production of American rice, and a corresponding reduction of price. In sixteen years the crops have increased more than ten-fold, and prices have declined from one hundred to one hundred and fifty per cent. It has induced active competition with foreign importation without reducing its value. The average annual consumption of foreign rice in the past eleven years has been about 50,000,000 pounds, but in 1880-'81 the consumption largely exceeded this amount having been about 58,000,000 pounds.

NOTE.—The writer noticed in the Savannah Morning News, this morning, that on the 21st of July Mr. T. L.
Maury, a rice broker of New York, had called on the Tariff Commission, at Long Branch, and read a statement "advocating the abolition of all duty on rice in the rough or paddy state." First, because it would be of the greatest amount of good to the greatest number of people. Second, because it would not injure the rice growers of the South, but would rather stimulate the production of rice at smaller prices. He quotes Southern planters as telling him that an average price of 34 cents per pound would be profitable. While the prices this year have averaged 64 to 7 cents per pound. Third, because it would create a new industry here (in New York) or rather increase an old one in supplying cleaned rice to the West Indies, Mexico and Canada. Fourth, that it would most assuredly increase the production of rice at the South, that is equally desired with cheap wheat and cheap corn.

This "rice broker" or "middle man" either is a deliberate falsifier or he is so ignorant of the subject upon which he undertakes to enlighten the tariff commission that he ought to be harmless. If the statistical information and other facts bearing on this industry, that have been laid before your readers in the foregoing papers, are to be relied upon, this New York "rice broker" should for a while hide his head and first make himself acquainted with the rudiments of an intelligent American board, setting to revise the import duties on foreign agricultural productions as well as on manufactured articles.

According to well known rules of relative values, cleaned rice at three cents per pound is equal to rough rice at 75 cents per bushel of 45 lbs. and at 24 cents a pound on the rough, or one cent to eight cents for cleaned is equal to twenty-five cents for rough rice. Who believes any Southern planter told him that such prices would be profitable.

STATE NEWS.

Newbern Journal: Mr. Alpheus Wood, while at Morehead last Monday, went down Bogue sound and killed a shark six and a half feet in length. He was on exhibition at Morehead on Monday night.

Farmer & Mechanic: J. H. Lester, who lives near McDonough, Ga., is 113 years old, having been born in Rockingham, N. C., December 7, 1769. He distinctly remembers the revolutionary war, and when 11 years old was detailed with other boys to defend the women and children from the Tories.
He served under General Floyd during the war of 1812.

Catawba Mercury: The distillers of the fruit crop say the law is so hard down on them this year that they will be compelled to stop—can't make anything on it. A colored brakeman was killed between this place and Statesville, a few days since, by being struck on the head by a bridge under which his train was passing. There are forty-three mines worked now in Mecklenburg county for gold, iron, etc.
We have more than that in this section if they were only developed.

Charlotte Observer: Mr. Miles Pegram, Jr., will attend the meeting and races of the Springfield bicycle club, at Springfield, Mass., on September 15th, and will compete for the $1,000 prize offered the winner of the five-mile race.

Sheriff Alexander has on exhibition in his office, some remarkably fine specimens of gold ore taken from the Arlington Guarantee mine. The gold fairly oozes from the rocks in lumps from the size of a pin head to a small pea. A glass is not needed to detect the gold. It is said to be the very richest gold ore yet discovered.

Whiteville Enterprise: Mr. Levi Anderson and Mr. W. A. Rockwell of this place have gone to Laurinburg where they will open a mercantile business, under the firm name of Anderson & Co. On last Friday evening during a severe rain and thunder storm, the house of Dr. M. R. Morrison was struck by lightning. The shingles were torn off the roof, the plaster in one of the rooms was knocked off, a place several feet square and some of the members of the family were quite severely shocked. Two of the young ladies were shocked and Mrs. Morrison was rendered partially deaf in one ear. The shingles were thrown all over the yard and the whole place shows the ravages of the storm king.

News and Observer: The ears of corn are remarkably heavy this year, as any one riding through the luxuriant fields will notice. Commercial travelers all agree that business is good, and that the fall trade prospects were never brighter. There doesn't appear to be any abatement in railroad traveling, for every train passing through the city is crowded. A secretary of the State Agricultural Society, to fill the vacancy caused by Major Gulick's resignation, has not been chosen. There are several applicants. It is actually a fact that farmers have left wheat and oats in shocks in the fields in this vicinity, without taking the trouble to shock them, so that the grain has sprouted and is all ruined. A negro man, who is charged with having committed murder in Sampson county, some years ago, was yesterday brought here from Chatham county, by a deputy sheriff, to be delivered to the authorities of Sampson county, who were waiting for him. The negro had been captured in Chatham county. Owing to some hitch in the matter of transferring the prisoner from the custody of the Chatham officials to those of Sampson, the prisoner was taken back to Chatham last night.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly

The September number is even more than usually interesting. It is remarkable for the comprehensiveness and excellence of its contents. The opening article, "The Federal Cities and Capitals of the United States," by J. Burnitz Bacon, with its ten illustrations; "A Few Words about St. Gothard and Tunnels in General," eight illustrations; "Journeying on the Volga," thirteen illustrations, and "A Frog," by Andrew Wilson, with fourteen illustrations, will not fail to receive marked attention.
There are serial and short stories by M.
C. Hungerford, Burke O'Farrell, R. A.
Lea, etc.; some delightful sketches, adventures, etc., by favorite writers; poems (sentimental, comic and descriptive), several of them admirably illustrated, and a large amount of miscellaneous articles, paragraphs, etc., which will afford pleasant and instructive reading. There are in the number 128 quarto pages and over 100 embellishments, together with a beautiful frontispiece, "The Right Path," a picture in oil colors. The price of a single number is 25 cents, or $3 per annum, postpaid. A specimen number will be sent free by enclosing 25 cents to Frank Leslie, Publisher, 53, 55 and 57, Park Place, New York.
