HOW THE GOVERNMENT IS RUN.

The patronage and the power of the Government are openly used to keep the Republican party in office. This is the primary object of the present Administration, and it has been the main object of all its predecessors since the second election of Mr. Lincoln. The worst methods, however, came in with Grantism in 1869, and laid the foundation of the detestable and destructive system which has been in operation since that time.

The appointments to office, the assessments upon the employees, the distribution of contracts, the favors of the Treasury, the honorable distinctions of the civil service, the promotions in the army and navy, and everything else within the control of the executive department are all appropriated for the party, and in the interest of the dispensing power. In other words, the Government is converted into a great machine for continuing the supremacy of the Republican party as against all comers. When ordinary methods fail to secure a majority, fraud is unhesitatingly employed, as it was in 1876 to steal the Presidency.

The Republican leaders knew well that if Mr. Tilden entered the White House the robberies and the rascalities by which many of them had been enriched would be exposed. They determined on revolution if necessary, and devised the Great Fraud, with force behind it, and threats of civil war in case of resistance. The Navy Department was set on fire three times within a few weeks. It has been proved before the Senate investigating committee that whole pages of the great ledgers of the Treasury were cut out, that enormous balances were forged, and that there were erasures and alterations on the books, involving millions of dollars.

These acts, and others of a like character, are so many confessions of criminality. They bear witness to the corruption and the crimes of the party which has debauched the whole public service, plundered the Treasury of untold millions, and established an oligarchy of officeholders, who, with a standing army of more than a hundred thousand drilled subordinates, enter States, bulldoze primaries, purchase delegates to State and local conventions, forge proxies, and dictate the nomination of candidates wearing the Administration collar.

The Departments at Washington are the headquarters of State associations of politicians appointed to clerkships by Senators and Representatives. These are nine or ten thousand strong and their chief business is to keep up a constant correspondence with the home managers, to act as secretaries for members of Congress, and to become proficient in the art of running the machine. They instruct the Custom House officers, the postmasters and their deputies, the internal revenue collectors, inspectors, and detectives, the land officers, the United States marshals and their deputies, and the host of agents all over the Union as to the "views and policy of the Administration," so that upon a given signal the whole force moves with precision upon any chosen point of attack.

These Republican mercenaries are allowed thirty days' leave of absence every year, with full pay, and without any authority of law. They draw a year's salary for eleven months' attendance, and the so-called working time is about six hours daily, while the actual working time is less than three hours by general average. At election time ten days' leave, with pay, is allowed to all the officials at Washington; they are required to go home at their own expense and to vote the machine ticket. Any default, except for sufficient reason, which is to be made known to the chiefs of the State associations, whose active vigilance is always a recommendation for favor, is regarded as a good cause for removal, and is so reported. Deducting Sundays and holidays and including this permitted absenteeism, the loss of time in the so-called working hours of these mercenary soldiers is about two-thirds of a year, though each receives pay for three hundred and sixty-five days. They know that members of Congress receive $10,000 for about ten months' work, and they think the example is worthy of imitation. The President, the Cabinet, the heads of bureaus, and the chiefs of divisions all desert their posts for months every year, and demand full pay for every hour as if present on duty.

At the present time, the First Comptroller of the Treasury, the final authority on all disputed claims and accounts, is stamping Ohio for the machine ticket. His assistant is sick, and an outsider has been appointed from the President's fishing camp on the Canadian frontier to do the neglected business as best he may.

This is the way the Government machine is run. Suppose millions are stolen; is not the Treasury full to overflowing?

Young man, don't fail to register.

See that you are duly and properly registered.

Yesterday was a busy day in Ohio and West Virginia.

Who squandered the State School Fund? A Republican Legislature.

Is there any Republican that you would like to see in the United States Senate to take the place of Matt Ransom? We don't believe there is.

The seat of government seems to be in New York city just now. A meeting of the Cabinet was held there yesterday, and Secretaries Chandler, Teller and Lincoln were sent for to attend.

It is stated now that Mr. Blaine does not expect to be nominated for President by the next Republican convention, but that he hopes to be able to name the candidate, and be again at the head of the State Department.

The Liberals want to change the county government system so that in this and other counties where the colored race predominates, there may be an entire board of colored magistrates. They might do very well to make returns to a Liberal(?) judge, but the people are not yet ready to accept of either.

PERSONAL.

The Khedive continues to distribute medals to British officers. Murch, Maine's Greenback Congressman out of a job, is thinking of turning editor as a last resort.

Anna Dickinson has taken the trouble to write to an Omaha editor that she is not in sympathy with the woman's suffrage movement.

Manager Van Horné expresses the opinion that the Canadian Pacific road will be extended to the summit of the Rocky mountains next season.

J. R. Keeue, it is said, pays the English jockey, Cannon, $10,000 a year for the first claim on his services. He has only used him half a dozen times this year.

Henry Ward Beecher has been the pastor of Plymouth Church just thirty-five years, and in that period has changed his religious belief just thirty-five times.

New Mexico has a new "Billy the Kid," in the person of George Lucas, a fifteen-year-old boy, for whose capture the governor has offered a reward of $500. The boy killed a miner.

Not an alcoholic beverage, but a true and reliable family medicine is Brown's Iron Bitters.

SHORTS.

The colored ministers of Maryland have held a meeting, and resolved to religiously stir up the race all through the South.

Upon a modest gravestone in Vincennes, Ind., cemetery appears this plaintive legend: "His neighbor played the cornet."

The Nickel church, to be built at Palestine, Texas, is to be paid for by not less than 200,000 persons contributing a nickel apiece.

The Golden State has been visited by a heavy storm, and the "glorious climate of California" would be gladly substituted for some inglorious warm weather.

It is said that the Spanish minister wanted to make an international matter of a pet dog, killed unwittingly by a horrid Newport beer bottle, and telegraphed to Secretary of State Frelinghuysen for justice.

A woman's medical college has been opened in Baltimore. It begins with ten matriculates, who come from the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina.

This is the story told of the quick growth of a Texas town: Upon the 10th of September, 1872, one man took another to a lone tree away out in the prairie and said: "How will this do for the centre of Main street?" From the spot there was not a house visible in any direction. That solitary tree is now sure enough the center of Main street, Denison, a town of 7,000 inhabitants.

Best ever made, Emory's Little Cathartic Pills, pleasant to take, sugar coated; no griping; only 15 cents a box of Druggists or by mail, Standard Cur Co., 114 Nassau Street, New York.

STATE NEWS.

Newbern Nut Shell: The Greenbackers have decided to hold a convention on the 21st of the present month.

Concord Register: The Rev. Mr. Strohecker has resigned the pastorate of the Lutheran church in Charlotte. He takes charge of two or three country churches in Rowan county, with residence in Salisbury.

Stonewall Enterprise: Last Saturday we rode with Mr. T. C. Hadder from Vandemere to Bayboro, a distance of nine miles, making the trip in thirty-five minutes. At the time Mr. Hadder's mare was sick and the roads in very bad condition.

Asheville Citizen: Major Wilson gave us a call on Thursday morning. He reports all well in the Ducktown branch, the grading finished to beyond Waynesville, grading across the Balsam finished, work on the Cowee tunnel proceeding satisfactorily, and the whole track as far as Charleston, in Swain county, will be ready for the cross-ties early in the Spring.

Edenton Enquirer: On Monday last, Gus Skinner, colored, and his two brothers were cutting wood on the farm of Mr. Frank Wood, in this county, when a tree was felled which struck Gus on the head, killing him instantly. On Friday last at the saw mill of Mr. Stephenson, in Washington county, Mr. Elma Hines, in some way came in contact with the cut off saw, and was painfully cut about the hip. He is doing well and will recover.

Statesville Landmark: The cotton receipts at this point for the cotton year ended September 1st were five times as great as for the year preceding. Mr. Iva Dowdy, of this township, was handling a pistol, last Sunday, when it was discharged. The ball passed into the fleshy part of his left hand, ran up the arm, came out just above the wrist and entered his body. His wounds are not serious. Mr. D. L. Bradford sends us a hen egg of extraordinary size. It measures 6 1/2 inches one way 8 the other, and weighs a trifle over a quarter of a pound.

Weldon News: We have heard that the people of Scotland Neck, and those living below, want the railroad extended to Hamilton, where it would connect with boats for Norfolk, the Elizabeth City Railroad at Edenton and with the railroad at Williamston. It is also reported that unless such extension is made a road will be built between Scotland Neck and Hamilton. Another report is, that the W. & W. Road intend, sometime in the future, to connect Tarboro and Scotland Neck with a railroad. We do not know how much truth there is in these rumors, but hope they may all be fulfilled in a short time.

Greensboro Patriot: The Misses McMichael, living near Greensboro, have gathered and dried this season 1,675 pounds of dried fruit, and to-day sold the lot to J. W. Scott & Co., realizing over $200 in cash. The body of T. G. Wharton was found floating in Young's mill pond late yesterday afternoon. He was last seen in that neighborhood, and on close inspection tracks of a horse were found near the water. It is supposed, it being after night, that both he and the horse missed their way and got into the river, which runs within a few feet of the main road. S. H. Jordan was deputized as coroner and held an inquest over the body this morning. The verdict of the jury was that deceased came to his death by accidental drowning.

News and Observer: Cotton receipts yesterday 677 bales. Col. Robert Bingham will bring about 145 casks to the fair. The staple of the cotton is so unusually good this season that it is a matter of daily comment. Wake's corn crop this year will far excel all previous ones. The same was true as to wheat and oats. The barn of the Rev. G. J. Dowell, at Carys was entirely consumed by fire yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, as well as the stables and other out-houses, the wheat, oats and forage, a wagon, and agricultural implements. The loss is between $600 and $700. The dwelling caught fire on top and was saved with great difficulty, it being two stories high. Mr. R. J. Harrison and a colored man fell from the roof in attempting to put out the fire, but were not seriously injured.

Charlotte Observer: The receipts of cotton at Charlotte this week are 3,677 bales, just 2,746 more bales than were received the corresponding week last year. A colored woman, the wife of Lee Potts, living on 7th street, gave birth to triplets night before last. All of them died and were buried in Pine-wood cemetery yesterday. Yesterday morning a messenger came to the city at an early hour in search of the coroner who was wanted to hold an inquest over the body of old man Albert Wallace, who is more commonly known in this county by the name of "Prince Albert." The old man fell from his wagon about dark, Friday evening and broke his neck. Yesterday morning a party of men were coming to town with a wagon loaded with six bales of cotton, and couched upon the topmost bale was a little darkey, about eight years old. When coming down the hill by Wadsworth's farm, the wagon ran over an obstruction, and tumbled the bales to the ground. The little negro hit the ground first and three bales of cotton came down on him. Of course it was expected that the life had been smashed out of the boy, but when the bales were rolled away, instead of seeing the mangled and bloody corpse as they expected, the men were surprised to see the little darkey hop up unhurt. They felt him all over to see if any bones were broken, but he was found to be sound and solid as a dollar.

The Secret

of the universal success of Brown's Iron Bitters is simply this: It is the best Iron preparation ever made; is compounded on thoroughly scientific, chemical and medicinal principles, and does just what is claimed for it—no more and no less.

By thorough and rapid assimilation with the blood, it reaches every part of the system, healing, purifying and strengthening. Commencing at the foundation it builds up and restores lost health—in no other way can lasting benefit be obtained.

75 Dearborn Ave., Chicago, Nov. 7. I have been a great sufferer from a very weak stomach, heartburn, and dyspepsia in its worst form. Nearly everything I ate gave me distress, and I could eat but little. I have tried everything recommended, have taken the prescriptions of a dozen physicians, but got no relief until I took Brown's Iron Bitters. I feel none of the old troubles, and am a new man. I am getting much stronger, and feel first-rate. I am a railroad engineer, and now make my trips regularly. I can not say too much in praise of your wonderful medicine. D. C. MACK.
