We regret very much to learn of the serious illness of Mr. Owen D. Holmes, of this city. Mr. Holmes has been ill but for a short time yet the fears of his family and friends are already seriously aroused as to the result.

The probabilities are, we think, that the weather hereabouts to-day will be clear and cold. The wind which swept down on us yesterday came from the Northwest, where they have been having a high barometer.

Thanks to Mr. James H. Ennis, of Raleigh, for a copy of that "old standby," Turner's North Carolina Almanac, for the year 1883. It will be found on sale at the book stores and can be procured in quantities of Mr. Ennis, at Raleigh.

The revival which has been in progress at Fifth Street M. E. Church, in this city, under the ministrations of the pastor, Rev. T. Page Ricaud, assisted by Rev. Mr Mendenhall, of Greensboro, was brought to a close on Wednesday night. The revival had been in progress just three weeks, and the result was 89 conversions. Many of these have connected themselves with Fifth Street M. E. Church, and some have gone off to other denominations-

This revival has been a most wonderful one in its results, and the amount of labor entailed upon the ministers was immense. Mr. Mendelhall was prostrated by it and was for some days confined to his bed but had recovered at the close. He left here on Wednesday evening for his home.

A Grand Turnout of the Wilmington Democracy -- The Welcome Extended Hon. A. M. Waddell-Large Procession with Torchlights and Fireworks-Colonel Waddell Speaks to a Crowded House.

Hou. A. M. Waddell, formerly Representative from this district, who is now a resident of Charlotte, arrived here yesterday morning in response to an invitation to speak here last night. It had been arranged to have a torchlight procession on the occasion, which was faithfully carried out, in accordance with the programme published in the REVIEW yesterday morning. The occasion was one of unusual interest .-The procession was a lengthy one and it was greeted with a display of fireworks; a squad of young men, marchiug in front, also made the way luminous with the discharge of Roman candles as the procession moved

AT THE MARKET HOUSE. The building was fairly packed by the The stockholders of the Wilmington dense throng in attendance, and the in annual session in this city on the 21st ters. Among the men we noticed quite a number whose silvered locks and furrowed cheeks betokened the downhill of life, but the larger portion were of the young and rising generation, to whom the presence of so many older heads seemed to be giving encouragement and advice by example.

After the audience had become com. posed and quiet restored, Mr. J. C. Davis, a young and promising lawyer of this city, rose and stated that it would have been his pleasant duty to have introduced Hon. Mr. Shackelford had not sickness prevented that gentleof Wilmington would be addressed by one who needed no introduction.

Col. Waddell then rose and was greeted with rounds of applause which continued for several minutes. After silenee and order had been resumed the speaker, by way of preface, expressportance to the welfare, prosperity and by an abundant supply of ores. That there were good men, both in the Democratic party and in the Republican party, who voted for it, he well knew, and he also knew that there were equally as good men in either party who voted against it. He said that he had been informed that tickets had been printed and were in circulation, rolls about thirty members, and they bearing his name as a candidate for Congress from this District, and in the have a house and grounds on the cor. most impressive manner asked that ner of Sixth and Princess streets, where every Democrat who had any regard they practice every Friday evening. for the glory of the State, the triumph of the party or respect for him, do all in his power to prevent them from being used. He hoped that no such ballot would be cast by any man, and he was well assured that none would be by any real friend.

Col. Waddell then spoke of the plan of the Republican leaders to bull doze the voters of North Carolina by sending a lot of deputy marshals into the different voting precincts of the doubtful districts of the State, which he denounced as a most flagrant assault upon our rights as freemen, and should be resisted to the death. He counselled no violation of the law, no opposition to the legal requirements of properly consti tuted officials, but the right of tranchise Saddles. was a blessing conferred upon him by the "Bill of Rights," and no man could with impunity molest him in its exer-

We regret our inability to give his speech in full, for it was a grand-s noble-effort, and was listened to with the most profound attention and interest throughout, and at its conclusion round after round of hearty and uproarious applause testified to the appreciation of the audience.

Calls were then made for "Davis," "Ricaud," "Oldham" and others, but none responded save Mr. A. G. Ricaud, who made a brief address, and Mr. W.P. Oldham, who deputized Mr. Thos. W. Strange to respond for him. The latter gentleman submitted a few pertinent remarks, which closed the s caking for the evening.

We neglected to state in the proper place, that at the conclusion of C Waddell's address, he was presented by Mr. G. J. Boney, with two beautiful bouquets, upon one of which was a card bearing the legend-

"Col. A. M. Waddell. The Jews' harps have all turned to flowers, and are presented to you by the ladies of Wilmington, as a token of their esteem." The other was in the shape of a borse-shoe, and bore the legend :- and public place, retail or sell, except upon "Good luck to Col. Waddell and the Charlotte Journal.
