

THE INDUSTRIAL AWAKENING IN THE SOUTH.

The report of Mr. H. I. Kimball, Director-General of the Cotton Exposition held at Atlanta last year, has been published. Of the 1,113 exhibits the Southern States contributed 627, the New England and Middle States 341, the Western States 138 and there were seven foreign exhibits.

But, as the New York World says, much more to the purpose than the statement of the Director-General are the evidences given in this report of a general industrial awakening and cheerfulness in the Southern States.

Dr. Edward W. Blyden, president of Liberia College, now on a visit to this country, believes that in time there will be established on the dark continent a great power presided over and operated by the colored race.

In the equity suit brought by Lotta, the actress, against B. F. Randall, cotton broker of Fall River, for money loaned for business purposes, the auditor of the Supreme Court makes an award for the plaintiff of $17,000.

The British railroads last year killed and wounded more people than were killed and wounded in the late Egyptian war.

The Oregon legislature has not, as many suppose, indorsed woman suffrage in submitting an amendment, but has indorsed the policy of giving the voters a chance to say whether or not they want the women to vote.

South will make will be a demand for the abolition of the protective tariff. In fact, the South is making it now; and the protected manufacturers who contributed so much to the success of the Atlanta Exposition unwittingly did much also to awaken the people to the oppression of a system of taxation under which the manufacturers get the oyster while the shells go to the laborer on one hand and the consumer on the other.

A spectacle interesting to every Englishman has just been witnessed in Portsmouth harbor. On the 21st of October, every year, Nelson's old ship, the Victory, now nearly 120 years old, is dressed in laurels, and her masts once more display the tattered sails which bear such evidence of the fierce fight at Trafalgar seventy-seven years ago.

The steamship Abyssinia arrived Thursday at New York, bringing 423 Mournous among her passengers. The party is composed of 280 English persons, 115 Scandinavians and 28 returning missionaries, the latter of whom have returned after a year's work of proselytizing among laborers and farm hands in the British Empire.

PERSONAL.

It is not Blaine, but Mrs. Blaine, it is now said, who inspires all those frantic efforts White Housewards.

General Fitzhugh Lee is expected to review the Thirtieth New York Regiment at Brooklyn during Christmas week.

Fountain Tankersley is distinguished now, at Lancaster, Ky., for something besides his odd name. He has tried to poison his family.

President Arthur is going to shake the kitchen cabinet, and take his sister, Mrs. McElroy, and his daughter to keep house for him. The sideboard has been of no advantage to the President.

The English Gen. Wood's profound indifference to being fired upon, which has excited the profound admiration of the English war correspondents, is maliciously ascribed to profound deafness.

John P. Clum, founder of the Tombstone Epitaph, is in Washington. He says that he was obliged to sell the paper a few weeks ago because the cowboys of that wild section kept him in constant fear for his life.

Dr. Edward W. Blyden, president of Liberia College, now on a visit to this country, believes that in time there will be established on the dark continent a great power presided over and operated by the colored race.

In the equity suit brought by Lotta, the actress, against B. F. Randall, cotton broker of Fall River, for money loaned for business purposes, the auditor of the Supreme Court makes an award for the plaintiff of $17,000.

Col. Jerome N. Bonaparte gave a dinner on Saturday night last to a number of friends in Newport, R. I., which was made remarkable by the table decorations. Instead of the usual plateau of flowers, the centre of the board was occupied by a fine silver eagle of the First Empire.

That feeling of languor and debility that follows physical exertion, removed by using Brown's Iron Bitters.

SHORTS.

The British railroads last year killed and wounded more people than were killed and wounded in the late Egyptian war.

The prohibitory amendment to the constitution of Oregon was passed by a Legislative vote of eighteen yeas to ten nays.

In the high school of Dedham, Mass., the experiment is being made of using daily newspapers, instead of text books, in the reading class.

The Oregon legislature has not, as many suppose, indorsed woman suffrage in submitting an amendment, but has indorsed the policy of giving the voters a chance to say whether or not they want the women to vote.

Diphtheria is treated with remarkable success by Dr. Double, of St. Petersburg, through an aperient draught, followed by frequent drinking of cold water and hydrochloric acid, and a gargle of lime water and hot milk.

A joint stock company has been organized at Columbia, Mo., for a 50,000-acre cattle ranch in Texas, the lands being located near railroads and and company have $180,000 and will fence the entire tract.

In California the aesthetic sunflower is abundantly utilized. It produces sixty-two bushels of seed to the acre, and from each bushel of seed one gallon of oil is obtained which makes a first-class illuminant.

There is one result of the renewed confidence of the Southern planters which did not come within the scope of Mr. Kimball's book that is more important than all the results he has enumerated. The gradual emancipation of the planters from the thralldom of debt is now calling their attention to another though not less oppressive burden—the burden of the tariff.
