Sampson County Fair opens at Clinton to-morrow.

It has been nearly two months since the alarm of fire was sounded in this city.

Capt. Swift Galloway is elected So-bior of this judicial district by about 2,000 majority. Good!

Col. W. N. Peden, of Clinton, Sampson county, is in the city and will remain here for several days.

Why are some of the defeated candidates unlike a horse? Because the latter is useless unless broke, and the former is perfectly worthless if broken.
How many defeated candidates are in the latter predicament?

The Baptist State Convention is in session at Warrenton, N. C. this week.
The Baptist church of this city, we learn, has sent no regular list of delegates, but has authorized any member of that church who may be present, to act as a delegate. We understand that Rev.
Dr. Taylor, the pastor, will be in at testimony upon the Convention, but are not positive that any of the members of the church will leave for that purpose.

According to promise made in our "indications" yesterday morning the wind veered around to the North, a slight rain fell during the night and in consequence of which, we are having much more seasonable weather. Overcasts and fires were brought into re-question last night which has had a tendency to make the clothiers smile and the wood and coal dealers much sought after.

The case of Mrs. Virginia B. Matthews vs. D. R. Murchison, alluded to in yesterday's REVIEW was commenced yesterday, but very little progress, however, was made during the day.
It is being heard in Chambers before Judges Bond and Seymour, with an eminent array of counsel on both sides, and will probably not be concluded under two or three days.

Cold Snap.
As the cold weather is approaching us we would remind our readers who are in want of a warm suit of clothes or an Overcoat at low figures, to call on A. & L. SHIRES 31 Market street.

A Case of Absent Mindedness.
A young man who lives not a thousand miles away, and who until recently lived at his father's house, married not long ago, and rented apartments and set up house-keeping for himself. One evening a few days after being married, when he quit work he walked up to his father's residence and when the super-bell announced the meal ready, took his seat as formerly at the table.
The family, who had been watching his operations, eyed him with amazement and at last his mother softly inquired:
"My son, have you procured a divorce thus early in your wedded career?" A pale flush suffused the young man's face, which rapidly deepened into cardinal. Then he gasped: "I forgot all about being married!" Leaving the table amid a roar of laughter, the young man hurried out and walked hastily home, where his young wife was impatiently awaiting his coming.

A druggist in New Richmond, O.
Mc. E. J. Donham, writes us the following: "I consider Dr. Bell's Cong-Syrup one of the very best things made.
I use it altogether in my own family and can therefore recommend it."

The Chanfrau.

The Chanfrau give four of the finest plays ever produced in Wilmington.
Thursday night, Dion Boucicault's celebrated comedy drama "London As It Is," on Friday, Taylour's drama entitled "Parted," said to be the finest drama on the stage. Saturday matinee the new East Lynne, entirely different from any yet produced here, and on Saturday night the greatest and most successful comedy ever in the world, "Kit, the Arkansas Traveler," played by Mr. Chaufrau for years with great success. Popular prices, 25, 50 and 75 cents. No charge for reserved seats.
Frank Chanfrau was born in New York City, of French parentage, in 1826, and is the wealthiest actor now connected with the stage. His wife, Henrietta Chanfrau, the daughter of a wealthy merchant of Philadelphia, was born in that city in 1841, and educated in New Orleans, where some of her relatives (connections of Gen. Bessegård by marriage), yet reside. She is said to be the most highly cultured of living American actresses. C. W.
Taylour, Manager of the Chanfrau, was born in South Carolina in 1832. He is of Huguenot extraction; is a member of the Baltimore bar; and until his capture by Rutherford B. Hayes in 1863, was one of the editors and war correspondents of the old Richmond Enquirer.

On the Rampage.

Yesterday afternoon, a cart with a two-year-old bull attachment, and two young men from the "rural districts," created quite a sensation on Front and Market streets. The cart was one of the two bushel capacity sort and the bull, slaughtered and dressed, might possibly weigh 374 pounds to the quarter. But he wasn't slaughtered at all. On the contrary he was very much alive and a good deal in earnest. Just after crossing Princess street, heading South, he struck a Maud S. gait, and went down past the Purcell House with a speed that would have left any ordinary trotting stock "way back." Arriving at the corner of Market street he seemed possessed with the idea that he was a neglected candidate in a political convention, and would bolt the nomination.
With this idea in his head he rushed up Market street, seeming to be in doubt whether the sidewalk, the gutter or the middle of the street was the better place, but trying them all, when nearly opposite our office, after cavorting and struggling for a few minutes, he succeeded in freeing himself from the two bushels of cart and the young men, and went tearing up the street in all the glory of bovine freedom. He was, however, captured after some little difficulty and finally hitched up again, when he went off as quiet and docile as the best regulated beast in the country.

without regard to sect, color, nationality or race. The full particulars can be
