In building the St. Gothard Railway, 310 workmen were killed and 631 injured. Of the latter a number afterward died.

A Philadelphia Journal considers the question whether babies' milk should be boiled, and a New York correspondent expresses ignorance that babies have any milk.

In spite of a somewhat extensive emigration of French Canadians to the United States, they have increased in number from 1,092,000 ten years ago to the present population of 1,398,999.

The Dismal swamp, of Virginia, has been greatly reduced by the canals and ditches that drain it, and it now contains some of the best farming land in the State. A railroad runs across it, and it is on its way to final extinction. The drainage of Lake Drummond, a central body of water lying higher than the average level of the swamp, would make the whole area fertile. This is a project of Governor Benjamin F. Butler, who once had surveys made, but at length abandoned it. The great industry of the swamp is lumbering. The lake itself, however, with its almost impenetrable fringe of cypress, and its projecting roots and broken stumps, is quite as dismal as ever.

Hon. Geo. Howard, in his communication to the Tarboro Southerner, says: "He" (Senator Ransom) "not only voted for the River and Harbor bill, but it was his pride and pet. Could any Democrat or Whig have voted for such a bill before the war and been endorsed by North Carolina?" The citizens of the Cape Fear have something to say on both of these points. First, Gen. Ransom's efforts, either as a member of the Senate Committee on Commerce, or as its Chairman, have been productive of great benefit to this section and we think other sections as well; at all events, we have never yet heard of a refusal anywhere, not even in Edgecombe county, to receive and apply the appropriations made for the improvement of water-ways in various portions of the State. Second, as to the question, "Could any Democrat or Whig have voted for such a bill before the war and been endorsed by North Carolina?" To this we will let the facts reply. During the term of Gen. McKay, Democratic representative from this district, many years ago, an appropriation was secured from Congress for constructing the jeties in the Cape Fear, a few miles below the city. Gen. McKay was afterwards returned to Congress. Later, and but a few years previous to the war, Hon. W. S. Ashe, Democrat, (the father of Capt. S. A. Ashe, of the News and Observer) secured an appropriation for improving the bar. It was Gen. (then Capt.) Whiting, we think, who supervised this work. Mr. Ashe, who secured the appropriation, was afterwards triumphantly re-elected to Congress.

If Judge Howard has any more hard questions to ask, we will be pleased to answer them, if we can.

Why is it that in the minds of some people there can be no Christmas without whiskey while there can always be lots of whiskey without any Christmas?

We call attention to the advertisement of the Wilcox, Gibbs & Co's. guanos as they appear in this issue. Mr. Jas. T. Petteway, of Laurinburg, formerly of this city, is the Agent for these guanos in this State. They have been advertised in the REVIEW for the past six years.

Lippincott's Magazine. Lippincott's for January offers a very attractive list of contents. The first of two papers by Dr. Caspar Wister, giving an account of the cruise among the Windward Islands in Mr. Henry C. Lea's yacht, the "Vega," is very fresh and delightful. A beautifully illustrated article on Colorado Springs tells the story of the great enterprises undertaken in Colorado by the "National Land and Improvement Company." "A Day in Tokio," by Charles Wood, is a bright and entertaining sketch, and there is a sensible and timely paper on Church Music by Wm. F. Biddle.

The opening chapters of the new serial, "The Jewel in the Lotus," by the author of "Signor Monaldini's Niece," will be read with avidity by the many admirers of this charming writer. "Wee Jonkydaides" is the quaint title of a pathetic story, while "Through the Storm" and "Mr. Holman Lunt's P-er" belong to the class of Christmas stories which may be welcomed among the regular enjoyments of the season. The Monthly Gossip is unusually full of entertaining matter.

The celebrated 'Fish Brand' Gills Twine is sold only at JACOBI'S Hardware Depot.

Best ever made, Emory's Little Cathartic Pills, pleasant to take, sugar coated; no griping; only 15 cents a box of Druggists or by mail, Standard Cure Co., 114 Nassau Street, New York. Sm daw

Cotton.

The receipts of the crop year to date foot up 87,703 bales, as against 98,116 bales for corresponding date last year, a decrease this year of 10,413 bales.

They say "a word to the wise is sufficient," but we think it takes five, "Use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup." You can get this article in any drug store for twenty-five cents. Physicians recommend it.

The Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph line is now open between that city and New York.

We should think it was. And it has been open, too, for more than twelve months past, which goes to show that news percolates slowly through some substances. Last Spring, while in Boston, we noticed placards in various places announcing that dispatches for New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Cincinnati would be transmitted over the wires of the B. & O. Company at a tariff of 15 cents for 20 words.

"We come with smiles to greet you." It is the eve of the happy day, the great Festival of the year, in the Churches and out of the Churches, for everywhere and in almost every clime, wherever the Christian religion is known and spoken of and holds its believers in the divinity of Our Lord, is His natal day observed as a holiday and a day of rejoicing. We have no sermon to preach here on this subject; we will leave that for those who will fill the pulpits to-morrow and Monday, who will deliver excellent discourses on the subject "without money and without price." These few lines are merely to congratulate our readers upon the recurrence of the happy event, to hope that we may all spend yet many holidays together and with the grand old refrain "Peace on earth, Good will to men" ringing its way through the avenues of thought and memory as well as of pleasant anticipations, to wish them, one and all, old and young, little and big, male and female, white and black, a MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Pender Superior Court.

Large attendance. Judge McRae wins new laurels. The general opinion is that he has no superior on the Bench in the State, though quite young. Burgaw very uncomfortable and weather bad. Court House cold and everybody dissatisfied with the provisions for holding court. Nothing done in court, hardly except to try pious State cases. Civil docket not taken up. Court adjourns to-night, after four days session, in order to allow lawyers and others to go home and prepare for Christmas. Much dissatisfaction among the people as well as suitors in civil cases at such early adjournment and continued failure in Pender to try civil cases. Civil docket now swelling to large proportions. Three courts have passed and this bad condition continues. Local lawyers of Pender did not object to the premature adjournment, although the Judge was willing to hold on and try cases until Saturday night. The lawyers who attended Pender Court are, many of them, now urging a special term for trying civil cases. The non-commissioners and tax-payers are not favorable thereto. Some propose, as a remedy, the putting in of Pender, with New Hanover and other counties, into a Criminal Circuit. Others say let civil litigants compromise and settle their differences themselves and not burden Pender Superior Court with their complaints and differences. Others still are beginning to enquire of the success of inferior Courts in other counties, in view of the vexatious delay in Pender of trying civil cases. One thing all are agreed upon, and that is, but little was done in court here this week. The people are wearied and dissatisfied at the operations of the present system. Change is needed. Reform is demanded. Justice is delayed. The law is too slow. The people are ripe and anxious for whatever will but remedy existing defects, errors and evils.

Burgaw, N. C., Dec. 21st. Useful Holiday Present. We know of no better present to be made than a genteel suit of clothing or a fine over-coat, and, of course, to find these, you have only to step into the store of A. & I. SHREVE, No. 24 Market street.

Capt. Smith, of the steamer D. Murphree, here to-day, reports that the river was rising a foot an hour when he left Fayetteville yesterday.

Opera House.

The matinee yesterday afternoon and the regular performance last evening, of the Madison Square Theatre Company, were both attended by good houses. The audience last night was especially a large one, and the play of "Esmeralda," which has been presented here already this season by the Madison Square Company, was rendered, as was evident by the frequent rounds of applause, greatly to the satisfaction of the audience. We hope that the Company will visit us again at the earliest opportunity.

THE REVIEW makes another suspension this time for the holidays. We take our usual "traces" to Congress, and hope to greet our friends again on Wednesday. In the meantime may our readers and printers alike have a very MERRY CHRISTMAS.

At a meeting of the New Hanover County Medical Association, held in this city, on the evening of the 22d inst., the following memorial and resolution was read and adopted:

JOSHUA COCHRANE WALKER, M. D. On the morning of the 22d December, calmly and peacefully, he departed this life, leaving behind him a wife and three children. He was born in North Carolina in 1820, graduating in 1844. Making choice of the medical profession, he entered the office of Dr. Edwin A. Anderson, as a student. He graduated at the University of New York, in 1848. He entered upon his professional career at Fernandina, Florida, the same year, and at the outbreak of the civil war returned to his home in Wilmington.

Full of arduous labor for his native State, and appreciating the gravity of the duty devolving upon all her sons, he offered his services and was commissioned as an Assistant Surgeon. He was assigned to the Third Regiment North Carolina Infantry, and served with that body until the beginning of 1862, when he was assigned to duty in charge of the Marine Hospital in Wilmington.

After the war ended he commenced civil practice, and with one interval, he continued his work until taken down in August with his last illness. From the inauguration of the County Board of Health, until his death, he held the position as Superintendent. In 1873 he was chosen a member of the Quarantine Board of the Cape Fear River. Only a month ago he was appointed by the Governor as a Director for the Western Insane Asylum at Morganton.

For the fifteenth time since the dread epidemic of yellow fever of 1825, the hand of death been laid upon our profession, but no stroke of the insatiable enemy will cause a keener pang of regret than in the death of Dr. Walker.

He was a peculiar mind, seeking always the practical side of his profession, and able to grasp, in the maze of theories, facts to use at the bedside. In emergencies he was self-possessed, in expedients he was well armed, and in all professional matters conservative. In matters of surgery he had the tender gentleness of a woman, and a quick eye and resolute mind of an expert.

In days of peril, on the field of battle, he was useful, untiring, unselfish, courageous. The men of his regiment admired his intrepid bearing, and soon learned to know that he was quick to lean to mercy's side in opinions affecting their welfare. His friendships were ardent and lasting. No man ever sought the interests of his friends with more unselfishness. In all the years of his professional life he exemplified that gentle courteousness which was but the natural expression of his refined manhood. The poor who came under his care, will remember with what delicate generosity he dispensed comforts to them, beyond the official routine, and they will remember, too, how assiduously he labored far beyond his physical capacity in his attention to them.

Few of his friends realized how greatly he struggled against his physical infirmities in performing work which to them was so easy. Months after he had been seized with the disease which was to destroy his life, he resolutely performed his public and private practice, enduring discomfort and pain, with hardly a murmur.

Resolved, That a page in the journal of this association be inscribed to his memory, and that this memorial and resolution be published in the next number of the North Carolina Medical Journal.

Resolved, That the members of this association attend in a body the funeral of our deceased associate, and escort his remains to their resting place.

THOMAS F. WOOD, M. D., GEO. G. THOMAS, M. D., W. J. H. BELLAMY, M. D., Committee.

Wilmington, N. C., December 22, 1882.
