Philadelphia must be a healthy place. It boasts of sixty graveyards. No wonder that the obituary poet of the nineteenth century, Mr. Geo. W. Childs, M. A., flourishes there.

It is said that the manager and lessee of the Bouffes Parisiennes made in less than two years $400,000 by the production of the Mascotte and $500,000 out of "Fille de Madame Angot."

In some places in Europe steel bars are used in preference to bells, supplanting them sometimes altogether in church steeples, and producing very pure, distinct, and melodious sounds.

The Cincinnati Commercial asserts that thousands of persons are drawing pensions who were never in the army. It is safe to bet, however, that they all vote the straight Republican ticket every time.

Canada is to have a doubled postal card, so arranged as to afford the sender the means of accompanying his communication with a blank reply card, stamped, and only to be detached to be ready for use. They will cost two cents.

The Pennsylvania Legislature will meet next week. It will re-apportion the State, and will be called upon to do reform work in Philadelphia, whatever that may mean. The Senate is Republican and the House is Democratic, so it is sure to be a harmonious session.

The Senate of the United States is not covering itself overmuch with glory. The Civil Service Reform bill passed yesterday is but farce and foolishness. In some of its provisions it is almost ridiculous. The Senate would have done better to have adjourned for the holidays.

Notwithstanding the unprecedented harvests of the present year in the great grain-growing Northwest, there has been a falling off in the receipts of grain at Chicago of 25,000,000 bushels. The people in that section seem to have awoken to the fact that there are other and better paying markets, where gambling in grain is not tolerated.

A half-ton hog was raffled for at Womelsdorf, Pa. Two thousand tickets were sold, and among the purchasers were deacons, Sunday school superintendents, a Judge, two pastors, and many children. A justice of the peace presided over the dice, the throwing of which lasted two days and nights, and a multitude from several counties. Lager beer, card and topool tables, and various side shows were kept running during these proceedings.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VI. WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1882. NO. 312

Hon. James Garland, Judge of the Corporation Court of Lynchburg, Va., has resigned that position at the great age of ninety-one years. He retired in the full possession of his mental faculties at an age never before reached by any other Judge. The nearest approach to Judge Garland's age was Sir Thomas More, of the Queen's Bench, father of the ill-fated Thomas More, who reached the age of ninety years.

Much comment has been made concerning an expression used by Tourgee in Our Continent, relative to the present condition of the Radical party. He said of that party that it was "as dead as if Cheops had been builded over its ashes." In this connection we would simply remark that Cheops was the builder instead of the builded, and we are somewhat surprised that the mistake has not been noticed and corrected by those who have quoted the language. It is also surprising that Tourgee, who, though an unprincipled partisan in that political party which he thus consigns to the grave is most certainly a man of literary culture and ability, should be led into such an error.

Acklen, of Louisiana, will contest Kellogg's seat and has given notice to that effect. He says Mr. Kellogg had a corruption fund of $50,000 which he used to purchase votes. Fifteen thousand dollars of this amount, he alleges, was given by three railroad companies which have bills before the Senate Railroad Committee, of which he is chairman, and that the remainder was furnished by Jay Hubbell's committee and private parties. He also charges fraud and intimidation. We don't care much which wins. Decent and honest people would like to see them both kicked out of the House.

The Philadelphia North American, protesting against the way Mrs. Langtry has been assailed, says: "A more pitiful spectacle of cowardly persecution of an unprotected woman has never been displayed before within our knowledge."

Yet in the city of Philadelphia Mrs. Langtry was completely ignored by its refined and cultured people, and in our view she was served just as she deserved to be. It is not an unprotected woman who is assailed, but it is because she is protected too much and in violation of every rule of propriety and we might say common decency that she is the subject of censure. The glaring defects in her acting upon the stage might be overlooked had she not made herself the subject of scandal by receiving with satisfaction the attentions of the man Gebhardt. Had she come here as a woman ignorant of the world and its ways she might be entitled to some sympathy, but as it is she is only entitled to the censure which she receives.

When the steamer H. T. Baya left the wharf this afternoon it was found that a colored man, employed by Messrs Fowler & Morrison, had either by accident or carelessness been left on board, and there were fears for a few moments that he would be an involuntary passenger to Jacksonville. A passing boat, however, was hailed and he was put on board of it and returned safely to his duties, much to his delight.

Christmas Tree Concert.
We are glad to learn that there was a good attendance at the "Christmas Tree Concert" given last night by the Sunday School connected with St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, and that about $90 were realized, which will be devoted to the fund which is being raised to build a schoolhouse on the vacant lot next north of the parsonage.

New Year's Ball.
A grand New Year's ball is to be given by the members of Germania Lodge, No. 4, K. of P., at Germania Hall, on next Monday evening. The Committee consists of Messrs John Haar, Jr., W. H. Gerken, H. C. Prempert, C. F. Von Kampen, E. W. Doscher and J. G. L. Gieschen, all of whom are veteran managers and know just what arrangements are necessary to insure the greatest amount of pleasure. It will undoubtedly be an enjoyable occasion to all who may attend.

"I would not live always, I ask not to stay." We do not wonder, with such a cold as yours, but there is a bright side to every thing, and sunshine even for those racked with pain. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup never fails to cure the most stubborn cough.

A Fine Steamer.
The side-wheel steamer H. T. Baya, Capt. Samuel Parker, from Philadelphia, for Jacksonville, Fla., put in here last night for a supply of coal, and made fast at Messrs. Fowler & Morrison's wharf, where she took in the necessary fuel. During the forenoon she was visited by many of our citizens, and was the subject of much favorable comment from those who had the pleasure of inspecting her. The H. T. Baya was built during the present year, and is entirely new in all her machinery and equipments, as well as in her hull. She is 441 tons register; has ten life-boats, two of which are metal; one life-raft and 600 life-preservers. Her inspector's certificate permits her to carry 579 passengers. Everything about her is first-class, and the accommodations for both passengers and crew are all that could be desired. She left at about 2 o'clock to-day for her destination, where she will be employed during the season as a passenger boat running from Jacksonville to Palatka, on the St. John's river, a distance of about 75 miles. We are under obligations to Capt. Parker for courtesies extended to us while on board of her.

Notes of the Fire.
Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son lost more by the late fire than was at first supposed. The building caught in several places, and so fierce was the heat that glass in the windows was melted by it. A small frame house on the yard was entirely destroyed, and a lot of rosin was damaged. This rosin was exposed to some of the fiercest of the fire, and the fact that it was saved at all borders on the wonderful. It was the water from the hydrant, near at hand, which did the work in this instance while the building itself was saved by the firemen. Had the flames swept on to other parts of the yard a large amount of rosin would have been lost and then the long spirits shed of Messrs. Worth & Worth, containing probably a thousand casks of spirits turpentine, would have been swept away. Where the flames would have been stopped it is idle to speculate as, fortunately, and Providentially, they were checked at once. The British barque George Davis, which was, and is now lying at Messrs. Sprunt & Son's wharf, was damaged somewhat by the heat of the fire and a claim on the insurance companies will be made on her behalf. Messrs. Sprunt & Son were insured.

Ex-Mayor Fishblate and his daughter, Miss Ella, accompanied by Miss Miriam Greenwald, left here this morning for a trip to the North, in which Mr. Fishblate will combine business with pleasure. They will be absent about two months.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the First National Bank of this city, will be held on Tuesday, January 9th, 1883.

A Christmas Tree Festival was held at the St. James' Home this afternoon, and it was a very interesting event. There are about 125 children who attend the school and the Christmas tree was prepared for their benefit, the gifts having all been contributed by the members of St. James' Parish.

Installation Ceremonies.
At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the officers-elect of several Masonic organizations in the city were duly installed. Those of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, and Wilmington Lodge No. 310, were installed by Senior Grand Warden C. H. Robinson, and Concord Chapter No. 1, and Wilmington Council No. 4, by P. G. H. P., H. H. Munson. The ceremonies were conducted in private.

On Wednesday, the 10th proximo, the officers-elect of the Commandery will be installed and Mr. W. H. Chadbourne will deliver an address on Templar Masonry. The installation ceremonies and address will take place at St. John's Hall. The public are cordially invited to be present.
