LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a bunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coil, a lumberman. Accestomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree, had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coil is a obstracter, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, stripped for als work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bouf's Castle, must have presented an admirable pic-

A WINTER SONG.

Oh, Summer has the roses And the laughing light south wind, And the merry meadows lined With dewy, dancing postes; But Winter has the sprites And the witching frosty nights.

Oh, Summer has the splender Of the corn-fields wide and deep, Where scarlet poppies sleep And wary shadows wander; But Winter fields are rare With diamonds everywhere.

Oh, summer has the wild bees, At of the ringing, singing note In the robin's tu eful throat, And the leaf-talk in the trees; But Winter has the chime Of the merry Christmas time.

Oh, Summer has the lustre Of the sunbeams warm and bright, And rains that fall at night Where reeds and lilles cluster But deep in Winter's snow The fires of Christmas glow. -Susan Hartley.

A Delineated Adumbration. A man with a pair of blackened eyes, a red and swollen nose, matted hair and daubs of dried mud on his garments stood up before the police judge this foreneon, and shook-not with fright.

"Col. Dammitt," said his honor, "you are charged with being drunk and dis guilty or not guilty?"

"Perhaps," answered the colonel, we may be assisted to a better understanding of that point by means of a delineated adumbration of the evidence.

Hereupon Col. Dammitt handed up a sheet of foolscap to the deeply impress ed-not to say awed-court. The following is a copy of the doucment:

The Fact—IWVD. The Reason—TWWB.
The Manifestation—IWN. The Primary Result-TPCM. The Secondary Result-HPMITC. The Invocation-MTSL. The Aspiration-IWTS.

IWVD-Iwas very drunk. TWWB-The whiskey was bad.

IWN-I was noisy. TPCM-The peeler clubbed me. HPMITC-He put me in the cooler, MTSL-Make the sentence light.

IWTS-I want to skip. "What d'ye call this thing?" asked

"Thank you," retorted his honor.— You can take three months in the county jail to figure out some more de-ineated adumbrations." "Is there no respect for profundity in this community?" demanded Col. Dammit, as-he was hustled off to the cooler.

Hadn't Lost Faith.

In days gone by a Philadelphia Qua- Pocket Knives, ker, who was also a large ship-owner, suddenly dropped all his insurance on his vessels, and when beset by the agent to explain his singular conduct

he said: "I have come to the conclusion to depend upon the Lord for the safety of my ships." No arguments nor explanations could move him from his purpose, and things went along for five or six months without a loss. Then one ship was destroyed by fire, and another was driven ashore, and close upon the heels of these disasters came the destruction of a valuable cargo. It was then that the old announces to the citizens of Wilmington, the man sept for an agent and said:

"Friend Thompson, the Rover is about to sail for Liverpool." for $50,000 on her."

"Just so." "I do not desire thee to understand." continued the old man. "that I have lost faith in the Lord, but it is more to save Him the bother of keeping track of my sailing property."—Wall Street Commercial Hotel
