

This has been a week of inaugurations.

The late Czar's widow lives, surrounded only by dogs and children, at the Hotel Bristol, Paris.

Jay Gould has been again whipped in the courts, this time at the hands of the Mutual Union Telegraph Company.

Judge Wylie may not be the ablest of the counsel for the prosecution in the Star-route trials, but he is much the most efficient.

The scarlet fever prevails in Brooklyn. One poor fellow lost by it four small children, dying at periods very near each other.

The exact figures as to the immigration at New York for the year which closed last Sunday are 455,019, against 441,064 the previous year!

The homicides in Chicago during the year 1882 are counted up at fifty-four and only one of all the slayers was found deserving of the gallows.

The cost of the Indians to the government amounted to $46,729.797 from 1842 to 1862; from 1862 to 1882 (stealing included) it was $100,848,245.

Mr. Paul H. Hayne promised to write a poem for the Sesqui-Centennial at Savannah, but the wretched state of his health will prevent his doing so.

Mr. J. C. Flood divided $6,000 among charitable associations of San Francisco at Christmas, treating Protestants, Catholics and Hebrews alike.

The autopsy of the remains of M. Gambetta has proved that the pistol wound inflicted on November 27th had no connection with the cause of death.

Dr. Deems, from his pulpit in New York, advised those ladies who intended to receive on 'New Year's' to keep wine away from their tables at that occasion.

It is said that Mrs. Frank Leslie, with a number of artists and persons friends, will make a tour of the South. She will herself write the descriptions, which the artists will illustrate.

The richest young and unmarried woman on the Pacific coast is Miss Jennie Flood, who is pretty and very pious. She is the happy owner of $2,500,000 in United States 4 per cents, a present from her father.

Congressman Fulkerson, of Virginia, who was elected as a readjuster, but was unwilling to follow Senator Mahone into the republican ranks, declares that he has never been anything but a democrat.

Secretary Chandler wants to complete the construction of Secor Robeson's legacy, the new ironclads, and calls for $27,750,000 for his Navy, which is only $11,000,000 more than was appropriated last year.

Did ever any one pause to think for a moment what would be the condition of this country if W. H. Vanderbilt, Jay Gould, Sage, Field and one or two others should combine to control the money markets? The four men mentioned above represent now more than a thousand million of dollars.

The profits of the government on patents last year was in excess of a million dollars. The number issued last week was 322. The patent office should be free to inventors; or, at least, only a nominal amount should be charged on each caveat filed, or patent issued, merely enough to cover the cost. It was never intended that the office should be converted into a source of revenue for the government.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII.

WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1883.

NO. 5

A vote is to be taken on the Fitz-John Porter bill, in the Senate, on Thursday next.

North Carolina supports more newspapers conducted by colored men than any other State in the Union.

The Pendleton Civil Service bill passed the House yesterday. It had previously passed in the Senate.

It is reported that Mr. Aldist, a prominent Presidential officeholder, is to be removed because of his sympathy with the star route defendants. He is chief of the salary and allowance bureau.

The News and Observer publishes Gov. Jarvis' message. It is a lengthy document and an able one. We have not yet been able to read it in full but hope from time to time to make some extracts from it.

A rumor is in circulation that Attorney General Brewster is to be impeached, and Senator Cockrell is reported as saying that he will use his efforts to that effect. The annual report of the Attorney General has not been submitted, and the unusual delay causes much unfavorable comment. It is said that Mr. Brewster has been paying enormous sums to the government's counsel in the star route cases, and that he does not wish the present Congress to know how large these amounts are. It is said that Bliss has received $100 per day since the trial began and that Merrick and Kerr have received $50 each per day during the same time.

Sheriff Richardson

The Whiteville Enterprise, in speaking of Capt. Richardson's election as Sheriff of Columbus county, says:
Capt. V. V. Richardson was elected unanimously as successor of the lamented Archibald McCollum on Monday, the first day of the present month. No election could have given such general satisfaction as that of Capt. Richardson. Having held the office for eight years, he was known as thoroughly qualified, and his high integrity of character enabled him to give a good bond for $42,000 within an hour after his election. This ability to give a bond soon after his election is a very high compliment to Capt. Richardson, and we believe that no nomination could have given more universal satisfaction. From the large crowd assembled on Monday we heard no voice except in advocacy of V. V. Richardson, who had served the county so faithfully and so long as a sheriff.

H. W. Perstey, second mate of the Br. barque George Davis, was arrested at the instance of the Captain for an attempt to desert the vessel, and brought before Justice Millis for an examination, who ordered his confinement in the jail for sale keeping until the barque shall be ready for sea.

Fatal Accident.

We learn that Mr. George W. Ellmore, a section master of the Carolina Central railroad, was accidentally killed at Hamlet on the 3d inst. From information received here it appears that the deceased had a pistol in the breast pocket of his coat, and while attempting to pry up a rail with a long lever, the weapon fell out and striking the rail was discharged, the ball entering his neck just under the chin causing almost instant death. The deceased was about 35 years of age, was married and leaves a wife and one child. His remains were brought down on yesterday morning's train and taken last night to Magnolia where he formerly resided.

Waste no time; delays have dangerous ends! If a member of your family is suffering with a slight cough or cold, don't wait until it develops itself into consumption, but procure at once a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and cure that cough.

An Interesting Case.

Testimony in an interesting case is now being taken by E. H. King, Esq., U. S. Circuit Court Commissioner, in which Messrs Stedman & Latimer appear for the claimant, and Messrs Russell & Ricard and F. H. Darby, Esq., for the defendant.

The cause is styled Augusta De Bebian vs the United States, and is a claim for indemnity made by the claimant, as heiress of her father, M. De Bebian. The claimant's brief sets out that on or about the year 1857 M. De Bebian, a native of Gaudaloupe and a citizen of France, came to Wilmington and entered into the business house of O. G. Parsley & Co., who did business in the lumber trade with the Antilles; that his time was passed mostly in foreign voyages of commerce; that in 1861 he was a resident of Wilmington; that on Aug. 6th, 1861, he set out on a voyage of commerce for the house of O. G. Parsley & Co., on the English schooner Adelso, Capt. Thomas Kimball, for Halifax, N. S., where he proposed taking a steamer for Liverpool; that Wilmington was at that time blockaded and the vessel set out without obstruction; that the object of the voyage was to settle certain weighty matters in Europe and to receive a collection of $200,000, &c., &c.; that after seven days trip the captain was obliged to put into Newport, Rhode Island, where the schooner was seized by the U. S. authorities; that the said DeBebian, in the character of passenger and citizen of France, demanded his release in order to continue his journey, but in spite of his French passport was detained as a prisoner, confined with eight sailors in a close cabin; that he was afterwards examined by the U. S. Court Commissioner and released on parole. On August 19th he was again arrested on the evidence of an unknown party on a charge of treason and was taken to New York and closely confined in an unhealthy apartment in Fort Lafayette, where he was retained from August 20th to September 18th, from which confinement he suffered ill health afterwards; that the Custom House authorities took from him, 1st, a letter of credit on Latimer & Fennel, from Mayaguez, Porto Rico; 2d, three letters from Messrs. O. G. Parsley & Co. to a house of the Island of Cuba; 3d, a letter of O. G. Parsley & Co. to Messrs. Brown & Shipley, Liverpool; 4th, a letter of O. G. Parsley & Co. to R. Watson, Liverpool; 5th, certain loose papers with a description of merchandise; and the damages he sustained amounted to $40,000.

The claim is adjudicated under the convention between the Governments of France and the United States, appointing the French and American Claims Commission, the briefs being written in French. The object is to obtain the testimony of all those in Wilmington cognizant of any of the circumstances stated in the brief—of which the above is the substance. The case will probably take ten days or more in its examination.

OBITUARY.

The death of Mr. JAMES DAWSON, at the Windsor Hotel, in New York City, on the morning of Tuesday, December 26th, 1882, has been already formally announced, and sorrowing friends here in the home of his affections have seen his body committed to the earth from whence it came, while praying for the return of his soul to the Lord who gave it. One by one are the men of his generation rapidly passing away. Soon will the time arrive when the days of the last of them shall be fulfilled. But in the death of none shall we lose greater qualities of judgment and heart than in the loss of this truly just and true man. In business his principles were emphatically conservative. He was strict in his requirements, but always just. These habits of exactness and justice, coupled with his great conservatism of character, made him successful in his enterprises; yet not until after years of devoted to labor and unremitting energy. It is not the purpose here to eulogize Mr. Dawson's success. As a merchant and banker his example is common property in this community where the years of his usefulness were passed and his successes attained. But one who knew and loved him would pay a grateful tribute to the memory of those virtues of private character of which the world knew so little. Peculiarly unobtrusive and retiring in disposition, Mr. Dawson's virtues shone not for the admiration of his fellows. In a thousand unobtrusive and thoughtful ways, his charity penetrated many a quiet nook and corner, where it saw not the light, but was treasured deep in grateful hearts that have been relieved, upheld and given fresh courage to "mercy towards justice." His charity was so tempered by judgment, that those towards whom it was exercised felt that it was no mere benevolence, but thoughtful and timely assistance. Of his friends he was ever mindful and many a heart has brightened by the delicacy of his remembrance. In his home the attractiveness of his character was always manifested. Cheerful to his family with the tenderest affection, he was occupied with plans for their happiness. Hospitable in soul and manner, no one could approach him here without being sensible of that rare courtesy, appearing almost exclusively to gentlemen of the old school. To say that he will be missed, feebly outlines the aching void in the circle of his home and friends. There is a day of which we have scriptural assurance when "the secrets of all hearts will be opened." But even now, before all things are made known unto the world, prayers are ascending from many grateful hearts for those who are thus bereaved, while the need of many a "melancholy tear" bedews the eyes of those who knew and loved him and whose plant of remembrance with those dearly loved so precious in the sight of that Father in whom he believed and trusted.
