THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1883. NO. 31

PLEASE NOTICE We will be glad to receive communications from our friends on any and all subjects of general interest but the name of the writer must always be furnished to the Editor. Communications must be written on only one side of the paper. Personalities must be avoided. And it is especially and particularly understood that the Editor does not always endorse the views of correspondents unless so stated in the editorial columns.

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

Gladstone is said to be rapidly regaining health at Cannes.

Bismarck is said to have fought twenty duels when a young man.

Memphis, Tenn., before the end of 1883 will have nine railroads in operation.

The question of a canning factory is beginning to be agitated in Greenville, S. C.

Seven members of the United States Senate as it stands at present are natives of Kentucky.

Congressman Springer's idea of a great man is one who can "set the world on fire." They begin with the rivers.

A Republican paper says that "the Republicans in the Senate need a leader." Jess so, and in the House they will need voters in the 48th Congress.

The Texas cattle drive for the coming spring is estimated at 220,000 head. Of these not more than 120,000 will reach the open market. The rest will be reserved for ranch purposes.

Governor Hendricks is out again after his long illness. On Wednesday evening he made his appearance before the Judiciary Committee of the House and Senate and made an argument for a client.

Hon. Alexander H. H. Stuart has been requested by the Historical Society of Virginia to prepare a history of the events of 1869 "which led to the restoration of the State to her place in the Union."

The contrast between the then and the now, the days at the White House when His Fraudulency was acting as President and the now, with Arthur, the Accident, on the republican throne, is very marked.

Medical men will be interested in the statement that a society of "regular" physicians in New York has voted, 147 to 60, that in cases of emergency allopaths may consult with homeopathic practitioners.

Last week, the North Carolina Legislature chartered two cotton factories and six mining companies. This is a good indication for the old North State—which is one of the surest of the sure in faith and good work.—Macon Telegraph.

It is said that fricasséd muskrat is a favorite dish with the Wilmington (Del.) epicures. And why not? Anybody who can see a hog feed and wallow and then eat of it ought surely to be able to stomach any other animal.

"Pity the sorrows of a poor old man" is, we fear, soon to be the whine at Raleigh. A bill has been introduced to remove the political disabilities of W. W. Holden. It is a cheeky proposition and its author is very appropriately named Cheek. Mr. Cheek, of Orange, gentlemen.

As an illustration of the great value of secrets that are sometimes carried by judges, a Boston paper states that if a man could have known on Tuesday what the decision of Judge Lowell, in the Bell telephone case, was to be, he could have put out $1,000 on "margins," and have cleared $28,000 within twenty-four hours.

Nearly 11,000 tons of newspapers and periodicals passed through the New York post office last year to news agencies and regular subscribers. The receipts from this mass of mail matter amounted to $439,803.88, which is 27 per cent of the entire amount collected on mail of a similar class received by all the post offices of the United States. The New York post office receives an average of 35 tons of newspaper and periodical mail every day.

There is a veritable tempest in a two-ounce vial in Raleigh. Bro. Creecy, of the Elizabeth City Economist, waxed full of wrath at the act which passed the Senate changing the name of the Elizabeth City & Norfolk R. R. to that of the Northern & Southern R. R., and he exploded in the columns of his paper, whether wisely or unwisely it is not for us to say. Mr. Cahoon, Democrat, from the Second district, rose to reply in a question of privilege yesterday but no resolutions of censure were introduced.

The celebrated "Fish Brand" Gills Twine is sold only at JACOB'S Hardware Depot.

Tell it not in Askelon! Whisper it not in Gath! Gen. Grant has actually refused an office! True, there was no salary attached to it and no valuable perquisites, a great oversight, no doubt, on the part of some individual, but for the great national (big N) mendicant (big M) to refuse anything is of the nature of a miracle in itself.

According to a dealer the next fashionable craze in "household art novelties" will be in brass and old iron, bringing in "hatracks made of muskets; centre tables with the legs of swords; old guns cut down for table legs; card receivers, cabinets, brackets and mental ornaments to look as if they were made of old implements of war."

Inhuman Conduct.
Residents in the vicinity of Ebenezer church were aroused at about one o'clock this morning by the outcry of murder, made in the street by a woman. When they arrived at the scene they found that the cry came from a colored woman who had been made the victim of her husband's brutality, and was lying bleeding upon the sidewalk from the effects of his blows. She was taken away by some of her friends and the beast of a husband escaped. We were unable to learn the names of the parties but ascertained that the trouble arose from a domestic difficulty, in which the man was the real culprit.

Chadbourn, N. C.

Such is the name of a postoffice recently established in Columbus county, on the line of the W., C. & A. Railroad, at a point 53 miles from this city. The location is due to the sagacity, energy and business capacity of two of our fellow citizens, Messrs Wm. H. Chadbourne and James H. Chadbourne, Jr., of the firm of the "Chadbourn Mill and Railway Co.," from whose surname the postoffice takes its name. These gentlemen have invested largely of abundant means in the purchase of large tracts of timber land in that locality and have erected a mammoth milling establishment, which is supplied with every modern improvement and appliance for manufacture of lumber. This enterprise was inaugurated by Messrs Chadbourne about one year ago, since which time they have had built a railroad eight miles in length in their forests of timber, and equipped the same with an engine and rolling stock, so that they can "paddle their own canoe" without calling upon any outsiders for sc(k)ulls, and at the same time prove an important feeder to the traffic of the W., C. & A. Railroad, with whose line they connect.

The firm gives constant employment to about 115 hands, and as a consequence quite a village has sprung into existence for the accommodation of those men and their families. These hands are all paid every night for the labor they have performed during the day, and the only books kept are those in which the amount of labor performed by the employees is recorded. A store, liberally supplied with the necessities of life, has been fitted up by the firm, and a system of payment by checks adopted for the hands, and these checks are considered as cash and are received as such at the store for goods or for the actual money, whichever the laborer may desire.

This enterprise, although in its infancy, has reached important dimensions, and the "baby" is growing lustily and rapidly. Already has it attracted the attention of others, and new industries are being located there to increase the general prosperity, wealth and influence of the locality. Among others who have invested there we may name Messrs. Joseph A. Brown & Co., who have erected a large turpentine distillery and store. There are abundant opportunities and facilities in the immediate locality for either the business man, the capitalist or the agriculturist. The land is excellent—none better in North Carolina—and the husbandman is sure of a rich reward for his toil. Cotton, corn and potatoes yield abundantly on the soil and the vine flourishes as it does in no other section of the State.

The firm is bound to succeed and they have our best wishes for the success which we are sure will crown their efforts. "So mote it be."

The Register of Deeds issued four marriage licenses this week, one of which was for a white couple and three were for colored couples.

Pug dogs as pets have had their day among the extremely fashionable, but colds never go out of fashion, so that it is always necessary to know that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a sure cure for all coughs and colds.

The Observer.
We are very sorry to see that Mr. R. M. Bryan is to leave the editorial business. He has sold the good will, type, fixtures, &c., of the Fayetteville Examiner, which will be discontinued, to Mr. P. M. Hale, who will revive the old Observer, which was published by himself and his father previous to the war. Mr. Bryan is one of the best writers in the State, and we are sorry to see him leave the profession. At the same time, we are glad that Mr. Hale is to return. He is not only a veteran journalist, but he is a gentleman of excellent mental parts, and will do yeoman service to his party and his people in the columns of the new Observer. Long may he wave and give his enemies Hale—Columbia.

Mrs. Fannie Smith, Newberne, N. C., says "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters and consider it the best tonic in existence."

The bill boards throughout the city were decorated to-day with illustrations of the artists who are to appear at the Opera House on Friday night next.

A Portable Electric Lighter.
(Scientific American, New York, December 16.)
A Portable Electric Lighter for $5 is being extensively sold by the Portable Electric Light Co., of 22 Water Street, Boston. It is an economical and safe apparatus for lighting for home and business purposes.

Panorama of the Bible.

The exhibition of paintings, representing scenes in Bible history, given last night at the Opera House by Mr. A. L. Butt, the artist, was witnessed by a crowded house and all were highly delighted and many deeply impressed with the real artistic merit of the work as well as the sacred scenes delineated upon the canvas. It was not merely entertaining; it was instructive and rendered a valuable assistance and to all who delight to read and study upon the solemn and sublime truths of the Word of God.

Mr. Butt is to be congratulated upon the precious gift which has given him the skill and power to transfer to canvas those impressive lessons the Bible teaches with such taste in design and execution. He certainly afforded our citizens a rich treat, for which they are truly grateful.

Drunk and Down.

A white man, whose name we did not learn, but who is evidently from the country, and who was very drunk, was arrested this afternoon by Officer Latham, of the police force, who attempted to lead him off to the guard house. The man showed a decided disinclination to take that direction, and so a bystander, a colored man, was summoned to assist the policeman. The two succeeded in forcing the man along until they were half up the block to Second street, when he refused to go any further and threw himself upon the pavement. Thereupon the officer drew a pair of nippers from his pocket, slipped them upon the man's wrist and began by main force to drag him along the pavement, the man at the time yelling most pitifully. At this the Chief of Police appeared and ordered a dray to come alongside the sidewalk, when the prisoner was placed upon it and conveyed to the guard house.
