The membership in London clubs aggregates nearly 100,000. Their property is worth something over $25,000,000.

The consecration of Bishop Hugh Miller Thompson will take place on February 24th, at Trinity Church, New Orleans.

The new nickel is without the legend on the other "In god we trust" but the trade dollar still carries it around bravely.

A San Francisco grocer had a woman prosecuted for theft, though she was 96 years old, and what she stole was a handful of snuff, worth three cents.

Seven artesian wells, varying in depth from 800 to 1,800 feet and possessing considerable medicinal properties, are now running in Peoria, Ill.

Political Parson Hicks places a high value on his reputation. He sues the New York Star and the Graphic for having said that he had sold Guiteau's bones.

New York merchants predict that this will be a year for large trade but with small profits, owing to the accumulation of manufactured goods, which must be disposed of.

February thus far has been remarkably profuse in accidents by fire and flood, following closely on January's footsteps, over 1,000 lives having been lost during that month.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is much disturbed because 12 soldiers and a Lieutenant, armed to the teeth, guard the tomb of President Garfield at the cost of $281 a month to the country.

Experienced lumbermen say that the supply of walnut is rapidly diminishing, and that fully three-fourths of the good stock throughout the country has been consumed within the last ten years.

The quail-eater, Walcott, finished his last brace on Monday in good style. He ate 60 quails in 30 days, a feat never hitherto accomplished. He got the quails, but the other fellow, his backer, got all of the money.

A soap mine has been discovered in California. The substance is a deposit of white earth, free from grit, and impregnated with a small percentage of potash. It is easily sliced into bars, and, for cleaning purposes, is a fair substitute for manufactured soap.

A blizzard story from the Northwest: A man went for a bucket of water, and spilled a little while returning to the house. He put one foot on the wet spot, and before he could take another step he was frozen to the ground. He had to leave his boot behind and hop to the house.

There is a man in Boston who is willing to bet that he can eat 60 sausages in 60 days. There is another man who has drank 365 cups of coffee during the past year. And we know of one who is willing to bet that he can eat 6000 biscuits in 6000 days. He has never yet quailed at the sight of one.

The bill providing for the erection of a mansion for the Governor passed the Senate yesterday. It provides for the use of the $17,000 realized from sale of lots a few years since; for the sale of the old mansion, and the use of money it brings; and also for convict labor. The old mansion will bring $3,000, it is said. With the total sum a handsome house can be built, suited for its purposes and worthy of the State.

An international chess tournament will be held in London, beginning April 26, 1883. Over £1,200 have been raised to meet expenses, and prizes of £250 and under are offered for the champions. This country will no doubt be ably represented by Capt Mackenzie, of the Manhattan Chess Club, and perhaps others. The time limit in the match will be fifteen moves an hour.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1883. NO. 35

A Savannah dispatch to Bradstreet's notes that "the roads are in a bad condition. Business in the interior has not improved. A number of merchants have overstocked themselves through the urgency of drummers, in many cases stretching their credit so far as to be unable to meet the pressure brought to bear upon them by unpropitious times and backward trade." In response, the Augusta Chronicle says: "Such is not generally the case in this section. Roads are improving; cotton is moving again and the impulse of a bounding Spring trade is already being felt."

Steamship Benefactor, Capt. Tribon, from New York, arrived at her wharf in this city this morning.

Mitchell, Moore, colored, who has been an inmate of the Poor House fifteen years, died there this morning.

Our gallant ex-Confed. friend, Maj. Jas. D. Cumming, formerly of this city, but now of the prosperous firm of Cumming & Bailey, New York, is here on a short visit.

A Suggestion.

In view of the approaching St. Valentine day, would it not be in order for the police authorities to make some other arrangement to protect the residences of our citizen from the detestable annoyance which is an annual occurrence on that day? We mean the suppression of those boys who make a business of dropping cheap caricatures on the porches of dwellings and then announcing the fact by throwing stones at the houses, thereby frequently damaging doors and windows as well as endangering the inmates.

An indiscreet man is like an unsealed letter; everybody can read him, but the wise man secureth in time what in time he will surely need—a bottle of Dr Bull's Cough Syrup.

Survivors' Association.

Pursuant to the call made a meeting of Confederate veterans was held in the Court House last night for the purpose of organizing an association for the aid and assistance of Confederate soldiers. The meeting was organized by calling Dr. Thos. F. Wood to the Chair and Capt. Walter G. McRae to act as Secretary. Capt. Jno. T. Rankin was chosen Treasurer and a collection was made on the spot for the immediate necessities of sick and disabled Confederate soldiers in the city.

Committees were appointed on permanent organization and in the matter of procuring a charter and it was resolved that the association be known as "The Confederate Survivors' Relief Association."

The movement has been started under very favorable auspices and we feel sure that it will soon grow to important dimensions. A Confederate soldier in distress is an object that should not appeal in vain to the sympathies of those with whom he may be thrown in contact and he is always sure of ready aid and assistance and succor at the hands of those who also fought beneath the folds of the Southern Cross.

Bank of New Hanover.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of New Hanover was held at their Banking House in this city this morning.

Mr H C McQueen was called to the Chair and Mr. S. D. Wallace acted as Secretary.

Messrs Isaac Bates and E B Borden were appointed a committee to verify proxies. They reported 2,035 shares represented in person and 4,377 by proxy, a total of 6,412 shares.

Messrs C M Stedman, Isaac Bates, D McKee, H Vollers, J W Atkinson, F Rheinstein, R R Bridgers, E B Borden, W I Gore, G W Williams and J A Leak were elected a Board of Directors.

Major C M Stedman submitted his resignation as President of the Bank, which was reluctantly accepted by the meeting, and the following, introduced by Col Jno W Atkinson, was unanimously adopted:
Maj C M Stedman having expressed his wish to retire from the Presidency of this Bank the stockholders deem it due to him in severing their official connection to express the high esteem in which they hold him and their sense of his faithfulness and intelligence in the discharge of his official duties while President of this Bank.

After the adjournment of the Stockholder's meeting the Board of Directors met and re-elected Mr Isaac Bates President, Mr Geo W Williams, Vice President, and re-elected all of the old officers of the Bank.

The Ball and Banquet.

The ball and banquet at Germania Hall, given last night in honor of District Grand Lodge, No. 5, I. O. B. B., was a brilliant affair. There was a very large attendance of ladies and gentlemen, among whom were many from abroad. The music was furnished by the "harpers" of this city, and dancing was kept up until a late hour. (Perhaps an early hour this morning would better express the fact.)

At the banquet, which was served in excellent style, nearly 300 persons were seated who enjoyed the feast of reason and the flow of soul most heartily. The banquet was opened by Mr. Nathan Mayer, Master of Ceremonies, in a speech of welcome to the guests generally, which was responded to on behalf of the Grand Lodge by Mr. D. H. Stoen, the Grand President. Before the close of the banquet, several toasts were offered, to which eloquent responses were made. A toast to the Board of Control of the Orphan Asylum was responded to by Hon. Simon Wolf, its Chairman, in a most touching manner, concluding with an earnest appeal for pecuniary assistance. His appeal was to the hearts of his hearers, to which their pockets responded, and a goodly sum was collected for the fund.

Silk Handkerchiefs.

It is said that sore throats vanish when encircled in a silken kerchief. This is established beyond peradventure. The grandmothers knew all about this a hundred years ago. They believed, too, that silk would cure all other diseases, and some of them thought it would heal a broken leg "if only taken in time." We do not go so far as that, but we know that silk will absorb and store electricity as readily as a Leyden jar. It forms an essential curtain for the electric cylinder, and, rubbed with quicksilver, has a mysterious power that imparts force to its retentions. The curative force of silk is due to its electricity, and the medical faculty recommend silken hose and shirts for a thousand diseases.

Employment for All.

At the office of Messrs. Cronly & Morris, General Agents for the Fibre, Fertilizer and Cotton Seed Oil Mills, now in course of erection upon the line of the Carolina Central Railroad, we were shown to-day several samples of the articles the company propose to manufacture there in the course of a few weeks. Among other articles we saw a nice specimen of fibre and an excellent imitation of curled hair, which was made from ordinary pine-staw. We also saw fibre made from wire-grass, bear-grass, cotton stalks, bear leaf and palmeto. We also saw an excellent pulp, made from the common cane which grows along the banks of our streams, such as enters largely into the manufacture of paper, and a sample of oil extracted from pine-staw, which is said to be remarkably efficacious in rheumatism.

The materials from which all these articles are made grow abundantly and spontaneously in almost every neighborhood, and persons not otherwise employed may find a ready sale at remunerative prices by gathering them and selling them at the factory, where they will always find Mr. John G. Stephens, the Superintendent and patentee.
