WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1883 Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C. as second-class matter.

One of the oldest journalists in the country, Mr. Eliot Kingman, whom most of the old-time readers of the Charleston Courier will remember as "Ion," its Washington correspondent, died at his residence in that city last Friday.

Bishop Doane, of Albany, has made a plan to build a grand cathedral in that city, and he has collected $41,000 with which to begin the work. The site has been selected and the ground has been paid for. The cathedral is to seat 2,000 that the world was round or square, people and will have cost when com- and he said- seein' he was out of a job, pleted about $300,000.

Another chance for Windom is talked of. It is said that Secretary Frelinghuysen is about to retire from the Cabinet and that the famous exoduster is to be elevated to his shoes. This is a way the Republican administration has of cossetting those whom the people have strain himself, but started up, calling declared they do not want.

There is some gossip in the New York bookstores about a daily paper to be started in that city in the interests of the Protestant Episcopal Church, but it is not believed the matter has taken ed it will probably aim to represent the views of the broad churchmen, of which Rev. Drs. Newton and Shipman, it is supposed, are advanced types.

The Junior Democracy of Virginia will in all probability come to the front in the management of the next campaign in that State, as the leading pa proposition that the young men shall be put forward-in the State Convention, which will likely be held at an early after taking some highly puffed up stuff, day, and also as candidates for office in with long testimonials, turn to Hop the elections that may hereafter be held.

On the third page of this issue of the REVIEW will be found a remarkably interesting letter from Prof. Kerr, State diseases cannot resist the curative power of Hop Bitters; besides it is the best family medicine on earth. Geologist, to Gov. Jarvis, relative to the resources of Western North Carolina, and the development, growth and progress of that section of the State. We commend it to the careful perusal of our readers as a paper tot great interest to our people, and as a valuable contribution to our history. Prof. Kerr is engaged in an important work, which will greatly advance the prosperity of the State, by calling the attention of strangers to our unequalled possibilities and induce immigration to assist in the development of our hidden wealth.

The gradual emancipation of the slaves in Brazil has not only permitted BUILDING LIME, AGRICULTURAL LIME the country to prepare itself for the adoption of free labor, but its influence on immigration has also been marked. From 1864 to 1872 the average yearly number of immigrants was under 9,-000. In 1872 a law was passed in favor of gradual emancipation, and from that date to 1879 the immigrants averaged very nearly 23,000 annually-almost three times the average before the enactment. The next two years showed nearly the same results; but then a notable increase was observed, and from the 1st of January to the 31st of December, 1881, 39,784 immigrants landed in Brazil.

was advertised a fortnight ago in London for sale at public auction. She was built soon after the Pope's return from Gaeta to Rome, and, as the Londen Times says, ordered "to be kept in readiness should he find it necessary direct from Matanzas. For sale low. to again quit the Vatican at short notice." She is of about 600 tons, has a speed of 12 knots, with eight large Tifled brass guns. When she first arrived at Civita Vecchia she was receiv ed by the Pope and duly blessed and annotated, her cost having been $250,-000, and her name being Immaculate Concepcione. She remained in the harbor of Civita Vecchia for about twenty years in daily preparation for the Pope, always in charge of a full staff of officers and men, and kept in the highest state of efficiency and preservation."

The fat and the lean are making a show of themselves nowadays. A museum in New York has offered prizes to the heaviest weight and has secured ten competitors and one more on the way. The aggregate weight of the ten who are already entered is said to be about 5,000 pounds, while the man on his way from Easton, Pa., is quoted at 552 pounds. As an offset to all this grossness, Isaac W. Sprague, the wellknown living skeleton of several of the museums, has just been exhibited in clinic at a Chicago medical college as an illustration of muscular atrophy which has reduced him to skin and bone. He tips the scales at forty pounds. Between Sprague, the skeleton, and Rudd, the Eastern fat man, there would seem to be a sort of golden mean which would be much more satisfactory to the aver- LOON ATTACHED.

The bar has long been celebrated as an arena of humor. Mr. Jeffrey, in addressing a jury, was speaking freely of a military officer who had been a witness in the case. Having frequently described him as "this soldier," the out, "Don't call me a soldier, sir; I'm an officer." "Well, gentlemen," pro-ceeded Mr. Jeffrey, "This officer, who is no soldier, was the sole cause of the whole disturbance."
