

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop.

WILMINGTON, N. C. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1883.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

Hon. Judah P. Benjamin, ex-United States Senator, ex-Secretary of State of the Confederate States, and eminent as a statesman, and most learned lawyer and jurist, on account of protracted ill-health, has been compelled to retire from the English bar where he has occupied most distinguished positions during the last fifteen years.

New York paper commends Gen. Fitzhugh Lee as an orator, and says: "His little speech at the Thirteenth (N. Y.) Regiment, was a model of wit, good sense and graceful eloquence. His figure representing the United States as bounded on one side by ice and the other by bananas was equal to the most celebrated efforts of our veteran orators."

The Iowa board of railroad commissioners have decided that shippers have rights to select the route by which they will forward goods, and that railroads must accept such freight and bill it as the owner desires. This decision will prevent railroads in Iowa from making arbitrary rules as to receiving freight from connecting lines, and is an important victory for shippers.

Various and sundry measures pertaining to railroads in Arkansas are before the Legislature of that State for enactment, but as yet nothing definite has been accomplished. President Parhamore, of the Texas and St. Louis, (narrow gauge) has reduced the fare upon his road, and is anxious that the Legislature shall make other roads do likewise. A passenger rate of three cents per mile will probably be the outcome of the legislation of the present session.

The number of internal revenue districts is to be reduced from one hundred and twenty-six to forty-six. This is a good, judicious and economical move, as the country will save thereby over one million dollars annually. As soon as a righteous revision of the tariff shall be completed, says the Philadelphia Record, a further reduction of the remaining forty-six, will be the right thing. The prospect of a speedy and "righteous revision of the tariff" however, is not cheering.

Taking the country through, says the Springfield Republican, the one thing now discussed by politicians and newspapers is the tariff. This is true, and the one thing to do is to let the people see as quickly as possible a practical result of all this discussion in the cutting down of taxation and the establishment of a tariff for revenue. It is opposition to the vital measures by the politicians which prolongs the discussion, and the people will not forget the politicians who prolong it. Not "by a large majority!"

The Connellsville coke region in Pennsylvania has been flooded with cheap Hungarian laborers, and a crusade has been opened against their further increase. In an address signed by "citizens" it is stated that women and children are at work fit only for the stoutest men, women at work with infants lying promiscuously on the cold ground; girls under ten years of age forking and drawing coke; extreme filthiness in their houses and in their habits, extreme promiscuity in their marital relations, carrying on an illicit whiskey traffic, and hundreds of degrading habits which space cannot afford to enumerate.

SOME FACTS. In the fiscal year ending June, 30, 1883, says the New York Sun, every man, woman and child in the United States, white, black, or mixed, was taxed upon an average over seven dollars, under the operations of the present iniquitous tariff and the internal revenue abomination. The State, county and city taxes for the same year fell below this average; but taking the two elements together, the taxation in round numbers may be called fourteen dollars a head, or seventy dollars for an ordinary family of five persons. This sum represents about one-fifth of the average yearly wages of labor in most of our factories.

This heavy burden falls especially upon the workers for wages. With large families and small compensation, they have to pay this enormous taxation, distributed over almost every article consumed by themselves, by their wives or by their children. For nearly eighteen years the people have been oppressed by taxes that could only be justified by the demands of a great civil war. Now the Treasury is overflowing with an immense surplus, which has served as a constant incentive to cupidity, corruption and prodigality. Under the stimulus of this surplus, the public expenditures have increased enormously; vicious legislation has been encouraged; river and harbor steals have passed; and multitudes of officers have been created as sinecures for impecunious and exacting politicians.

This load of taxation has not only impoverished the toilers, but it has caused a great public evil by demoralizing the whole civil service, and by converting a hundred thousand officeholders into a standing army of political partisans.

For years past a cry for relief has come out of the cabins and cottages of millions of workingmen. It has attracted no notice from the party which had the power to grant a remedy. The monopolists have controlled legislation on this subject, and they are deaf to every proposal of concession by which their profits might be diminished.

Now, on the eve of an expiring Congress, this question is again debated, and with no prospect of better success than heretofore. At the last session Mr. Kelley, professing to speak in behalf of the committee of Ways and Means, voluntarily promised to bring in a bill which would reduce the internal revenue seventy-five millions of dollars. That announcement was followed by a caucus where Mr. Kelley was disciplined; and then his pledge was redeemed by a little bill of reduction for sixteen millions on cosmetics, matches, bank checks, and patent medicines! And that bill was defeated.

In its defeat, however, it furnished the basis for the tariff agitation in the Senate and for the measure lately reported by Mr. Morrill from the Finance Committee. The House has also been discussing at the same time another bill from the Ways and Means. Neither of these schemes agrees with that proposed by the Tariff Commission, and none of the three gives substantial relief to the sufferers who most need it.

Hence the situation may be summed up briefly and conclusively: The bills before Congress reduce some of the present duties, but in every important instance they increase taxation. If either of them should pass finally, or if a conference bill should be framed by Mr. Morrill and Mr. Kelley and be adopted, the existing burdens would continue in nearly all the force of their oppressions. If these attempts should fail, the monopolists will rejoice as they fall back on a war tariff, which some of them say does not give sufficient protection in time of peace.

The doors of real relief are closed for this Congress, no matter which of the suggested alternatives should come to pass. The Republican statesmen have shut their ears against reason and their eyes against light. The people will know how to find redress at the next elections.

Twenty Years a Sufferer. R. V. PRICE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. Dear Sir—Twenty years ago I was shipwrecked on the Atlantic Ocean, and the cold and exposure caused a large abscess to form on each leg, which kept continually discharging. After spending hundreds of dollars, with no benefit, I tried your "Golden Medical Discovery" and now, in less than three months after taking the first bottle, I am thankful to say I am completely cured, and for the first time in ten years can put my left leg to the ground. I am yours, WILLIAM RYDER, 87 Jefferson St., Buffalo, N. Y. with Experienced lumbermen say that the supply of walnut is rapidly diminishing and that fully three fourths of the good stock throughout the country has been consumed within the last ten years.

The cost of the institutions under the care of the New York Board of Charities is about $10,000,000 a year, $1,500,000 being expended on the insane, who number about 11,000, and are rapidly increasing. Those Democratic governors who believed that they were following in the footsteps of Thomas Jefferson when they refused all parade and expense at their inaugurations will have to look to their laurels. Gov. Hamilton, of Illinois, proposes to outdistance them all. He says his inauguration will not cost the State a nickel. When the time comes he will take the oath of office and become governor and that is all there will be about it. Mr. Hamilton must now expect to hear it said that he has a Presidential bee in his bonnet.

Real estate in Jerusalem is evidently by no means stagnant, since the American consul in that city reports the issue of permits for building sixty five new houses and for adding to sixty three others. Houses of modern style are fashionable in the suburbs, and there is a rise in rent. Not only has the population of Jerusalem increased during the year, but that of Jaffa and Hebron, the chief gain being an influx of Russian Jews fleeing from persecution. "Judaea for the Jews" may soon become a rallying cry. Jaffa contains nearly 20,000 people.

It is reported that Dr. Benson, the elect-Archbishop of Canterbury, recently had a long interview with General Booth, the leader of the Salvation Army, and expressed himself as being in sympathy with the organization. THE SUN. More people have read THE SUN during the year just past than ever before. It was first published on this side of the earth has been published in any year by so many men and women. We are credibly informed that people who read and like THE SUN for the following reasons among others: Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for humankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the real sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the latest world at present revolving in space. Because people have learned that in his remarks concerning persons and affairs THE SUN makes a judicious use of telling them the exact truth to the letter and the spirit, and that in six and six days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent and plausible and feeble as when supported by general approval. THE SUN has absolutely no purpose to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good. Because it is everybody's newspaper, no man is so humble that THE SUN is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be perpetrated against him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of the principles of right and wrong. Because it is a newspaper that has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Intemperance and for honest government. No matter what the power, THE SUN stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the arbitrary and despotic encroachments of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers. All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds that THE SUN is the best religious newspaper ever published, because it is Christianly and unbiassedly and another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper ever published, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss, notwithstanding its worthiness of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of the Sun covers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking. If you already know THE SUN, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not know it, you will find it to be a mirror of all that is lively, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.
