WARNER'S SAFE

KIDNEY-LIVER CURE

It is an effect, not a cause. Its origin within its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the CAUSE must be removed, and no other way can be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It reaches that 95 Per Cent.

All diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a PURGATIVE and a TONIC, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and win from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Rheumatism and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

Concerning Certain Relics of the Past—Dogs that have had Their Day.

George Stephenson's "Rocket," and the magisterial locomotives of to-day, are built upon the same general principle, yet the machine with which the great engineer astonished his age is interesting now only as an illustration of the beginning of the invention. There were plasters with holes in them long before BENSON'S CAPCINE PORUS PLASTER surprised both the public and the physicians; and the triumph of the Capcine is founded upon the partial successes, or the utter failures of its predecessors. Everything of value in the old porous plaster is retained in the Capcine; but at this point all comparison ends, and contrast begins. For example: The old plasters were slow in their action; the Capcine is quick and sure. The old plasters lacked the power to do more than to impart slight, temporary relief in cases easy of treatment; the Capcine penetrates the system and permanently cures the troubles for which it is recommended. The old plasters depended for any good results they might attain, upon an accident of their makers and the naked faith of their wearers; the Benson's reaches its ends by means of the scientific combination of the rare medicinal ingredients which it contains. In brief, the old plasters, like Stephenson's discarded engine, are switched off the track, while the Benson's goes on its way winning golden opinions from all sorts of people. Yet in this very fact lies the leading danger to the people who try and use this reliable and scientific remedy. "Hypocritism is the tribute vice pays to virtue." Imitation is the occasion failure makes to success. Benson's Plasters are parodied in name and style. Beware of swindlers. The genuine have the word CAPCINE CUT in the center. Price 25 cents. Farmers, Take Notice.

MORRIS' HOG CHOLERA COMPOUND is just the thing to cure or prevent Hog Cholera and all diseases to which Swine are subject; it will prevent that dreadful disease known as Trichina, and will put your hogs in a thrifty, healthy condition, clearing the kidneys, liver, &c., of worms and parasites.

Each package contains one and one-half pounds and will, if given strictly according to directions, cure 10 hogs of the Cholera and put 20 hogs in a condition to fatten in one half the usual time, thereby saving one half of the loss. The farmers of Duplin county are giving it the praise. All farmers should buy a package.

TRUE BEAUTY.

May I find a woman fair,
And her mind as clear as air;
If her beauty goes alone,
Tis to me as if 'twere none.
May I find a woman rich,
And not of too high a pitch;
If that pride should cause disdain
Tell me lover, where's thy gain?
May I find a woman wise,
And her falsehood not disguise;
Hath she wit as she hath will,
Double arm'd she is to ill.
May I find a woman kind,
And not wavering like the wind—
How should I call that love mine,
When 'tis his and his and thine?
May I find a woman true;
There is beauty's fairest hue;
There is beauty, love and wit;
Happy he can compass it.

How He Won Her.

"Cecile!"
"Yes, papa."
She arose—a brown-eyed, brown-haired girl, with a rare grace and sweetness in her manner—and approached, Pierceval Deadwood pushed aside the mass of papers that lay on the desk before him and gazed steadily, almost fiercely, at his daughter. She returned the gaze with a timid, hesitating, May-corn look while the rosy blushes of maiden modesty chased each other rapidly across her fair young features and leaped outward into the great beyond.

"What brings young Frelinghuysen here so often?" asked the old man.
"His feet, I suppose," was the answer in low shrinking tones. "I noticed that he had them with him the last time he called," and she shrank instinctively against her bustle.
"I want no nonsense," replied the father. "I have talked you here to talk about your future. You must make a wealthy marriage."
"Papa!"
"Do not interrupt me," he continued. "I have spoken my piece and have only to add that I am a Hard Man from Wayback."
Sobbing as if her heart would break Cecile went slowly to the sofa and sat down with a dull, sickening thud. She had broken her bustle.
Suddenly she arose. "I love Harold Frelinghuysen," she said, "and I will marry no other man."
Two minutes later she was doing up her back hair.
"You are sure you love me?"
"Can you doubt me?" asked Harold.
"Yes," replied the girl, "but I have decided not to"—and, kissing him warmly, she went away.

Spring in Coshocton.
Pierceval Deadwood is again seated at his desk.
"You expect young Frelinghuysen to day?" he says to Cecile.
"Yes, papa."
Even while they are speaking the door opens and Harold enters.
"Have you come to redeem your promise?" asked the old man, scornfully.
"I have," is the reply, and Harold places $50,000 in bonds on the desk.
"How did you get this money, and where have you been all winter?"
Drawing himself up proudly, Harold answered: "I am a retired sandbagger from Chicago."—Chicago Tribune.

The following explains the difference between "luck" and "chance." You take a girl out to the theatre and discover that you haven't a cent in your pocket. You are, of course, compelled to invite her to an oyster saloon after the performance. She refuses for some reason: that's "luck," but the "chance" is a million to one that she will accept.
