WILMINGTON. N. C.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1883.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C. as second-class matter.

It is related of Gustave Dore that many years ago, while on a tour in Switzerland, he happened to lose his passport. Arriving at Lucerne, he asked to be allowed to speak to the may. or, to whom he gave his name. "You say that you are M. Gustave Dore, replied the mayor, "and I believe you but," he'added, producing a pencil and a piece of paper, "you can easily prove it." Dore looked round him and perceleved some women selling potatoes in the street. With a few touches he reproduced the homely scene, and, ap pending his name to his sketch, presented it to the mayor. "Your passport is perfectly in order," "remarked the official, "but you must allow me to keep it as a souvenir, and to offer you la return one in the ordinary form."

It is seriously proposed to duplicate the Suez Canal. It is 300 feet wide on the surface, but the banks slope so gradually that the channel at the bottom is only 100 feet wide. The earth taken out of this ditch was left on the banks of course, so that the removal of one of these banks to widen the channel would be more expensive than the opening of a new channel parallel. The cost of this would be considerably less than that of the first, when terminal docks had to be constructed and provision depots all along. The new canal would be used for vessels passing in one direction, the old for those passing in the opposite. The plan has not been definitely adopted, but is under discussion, owing to the fact that the increase of traffic necessitates a constant mice, roaches, bed-bugs, flies ants, outlay for the extension of sidings where vessels can pass.

A correspondent thus describes Miss West, the daughter of the British minister at Washington: "She is a vigorous and sprightly English girl, very popular in society, who rides in a stout, open, two-horse phaeton, the driver handling the lines from the rumble. When out making calls this young lady often sends the carriage home, preferring to enjoy a walk, and whether walking or dancing she seems the fortunate possessor of enviable elasticity, so rare among our own girls. In the househeld, where she is almost idolized, she is spoken of as 'our bonnie little girl.' As the head of the house, where a generous hospitality is dispensed, she does the honors with ease and elegance. Her dress is always in good taste, her floral adornments being remarkable for graceful arrangement. The rumor of an alliance with the President is not credited here, and is particularly annoying to the parties interested."

Gen. Hazen, Chief of the Signal Service Bureau, seems to have rather singular and original ideas concerning the ethics of his position. An effort has been made to remove that Bureau from the control of the War Department and make it entirely a civil institution, and to defeat that object Gen. Hazon has had some of the officers under his control travelling about the country at the expense of the government, using every persuasion they could bring to bear upon prominent individuals and associations, to influence legislation to retain the Bureau in the control of the War Department. This fact has become known, and recently a member of the House of Representatives made a speech upon the subject in which he exposed the whole plan and produced a large amount of the correspondence between Gen. Hazen and his emissaries, and also making very serious charges against Hazen. This set the latter to work, and he wrote a letter to the Secretary of War asking him to request the Senate to make an investigation: done, for the Secretary's reply, he caus- ney diseases, it restored me to perfect GUNS AND CUTLERY! ed his own letter to be published. The health. reply of the Secretary, however, in. formed Hazen that the course indicated in the letter of the latter was without precedent, and that it would be highly improper for one house of Congress to inquire into affairs in progress in the other and intimates that the only proper course of investigation would be by a court martial. Through the entire transaction the course of Gen. Hazen has been such as to place him in a really unpleasant position before the country and in a humiliating position among officers of the army. He has injured the cause he advocates, while at the same time he has brought obloquy upon his name that cannot soon be cffaced.

The number of casualties upon railroads is really much less than has been generally supposed. The Railway Age, for 1892, states that during that year 270,000,000 passengers and 419,000 railroad employes were transported by rail and that of this number only 61 passengers were killed by causes which were not the direct cause of their own carelessness. The casualties among railroad employes, however, run up to 260. This gives a result of one passenger injured to every $14.421 transported, and one employe to every 417.

Professor Melville Bell, father of the Professor Bell of telephone fame, and himself a noted inventor, says that inventive genius is hereditary in his family. His father and grandfather possessed it in marked measures, thus making to date four generations of inventors. He believes that the problem of aerial navigtion will be fully solved before long; that means will be found for making electricity travel and convey messuges at will without wires; that a method will be found of detecting the location of minerals in the earth and that the next century generally will be more fruitful of great inventions than

This is especiall true of a medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon ss it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in simlar style to H. B., with variously devised names in which the word with the line of Sixth street 58 feet to the be-"Hop" or "Hops" were used in a way ginning. to induce people to believe they were the same as Hop Bitters. All such pretended remedies or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and especially those with word "Hop" or "Hops" in their name, or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else.
