THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1883. NO. 47

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

There is $1,659,000,000 cash in this country, of which $1,283,600,000 is engaged in carrying on business.

It is said that over one million orange trees in Orange county, Florida, will come into bearing this year.

New York registered just 199 suicides last year. But one more lost soul was needed to make the list a round two hundred.

It is claimed that sleeping cars were used on the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac R. R. forty years ago.

The Irishmen in Philadelphia have announced that there will be no parade on St. Patrick's Day, but that the money instead will be devoted to charity.

The New Jersey bank wreckers will go to the Pen. Boice, the President, gets ten years, Shaw one year and Beach four years. Justicia regnorum fundamentum.

Lieutenant-Commander H. H. Gorringe, who brought the obelisk to New York, will shortly resign from the navy, and assume the management of a large iron-ship building yard in Philadelphia.

Ohio penitentiaries paid to that State last year a profit of $16,000. This punishment-for-revenue-only business is getting to be popular. There is little regard paid to the humanities of the case.

The unmarried Senators are Davis, of Illinois, Anthony, of Rhode Island, Hampton, of South Carolina, and Jones of Florida, but it is said that Senator Davis will soon desert to the enemy.

Idaho is relatively stronger in Mormonism than is Utah, there being ten Mormon representatives in its Legislature, one of whom is a Bishop in the Church, and fully one-third of the 65,000 inhabitants are adherents of the Mormon faith.

It is believed in Canadian official circles that the Prince of Wales will reach Montreal the first week in March and stay in America until after the Science Association's meeting in 1884, making a journey through the United States and the far Northwest.

The tables were appropriately decorated when the Boston Commercial Club gave a dinner to some railroad men. The central piece represented a complete train, with engine and tender two feet high, made entirely of roses, pinks, violets, and other flowers. It extended nearly half across the Presidents table.

A Chicago man started a business in competition with the Post Office. He delivered letters anywhere in the city at a cent apiece, and sold stamps at an even lower rate by the thousand. He did well until a fine $170, with a promise of the same punishment for every letter afterward carried, closed his enterprise.

Jay Gould expects to go to Europe next June and travel abroad for two years. He is having a magnificent yacht built that will accommodate all of his family, who are to go with him. The yacht is of iron, 225 feet long and 26 feet beam. She will be fitted with cabins and state rooms forward while the sailors' quarters will be aft, an innovation for which no reason is given.

Charlotte Journal: It looks as if there might be breakers ahead of the sale of the C. F. and Y. V. railroad, and the modification of the contract with the lessees of the Western N. C. road. There are certainly two sides to the argument in each case, and the day on which final action is taken in regard to them may prove to be a very cold one for the Democratic party in North Carolina.

President Eliot, of Harvard, in his last report, says that of the eighty-four men engaged in boating, baseball and football from 1873 to 1881, more than a quarter stood above the middle of their classes, and the average standing of the whole number was represented by 72 in a supposed class of 100. He adds that the increased attention given to physical exercises and athletic sports has been of great advantage to the university, and that under their influence the "ideal student has been transformed from a stooping, weak and sickly youth into one well-formed, robust and healthy."

In the Senate, yesterday, the bill to create a railroad commission was laid on the table. This, in all probability, settles the thing for this session.

Mahan, the insane inebriate who committed murder while an inmate of Bellevue Hospital, is said to one of 300,000 persons now living whom rum has ruined in this country. The mortality of drunkards is reported to be 50,000 a year.

It is estimated that there are 200,000 vagabonds and beggars in the German empire, including thieves, pickpockets, and other swindlers, and the authorities estimate the annual loss to honest people by their operations at the enormous sum of $25,000,000.

Wendell Phillips, the old Abolitionist, wants some one to write the history of the days and doings of the gang. We thought that this history was already written in the four years of war and bloodshed and famine through which the people of the South passed as through the flames of a fiery furnace.

Three cucumbers for $1.25 was a bargain offered to a boarding-house keeper in the outskirts of Washington Market, in New York, last Saturday. Early spring fruit and vegetables are arriving from the far South, but sell at extravagant prices. Cucumbers are 50 cents each, new potatoes $6 the barrel, strawberries $2.75 a quart, and tomatoes 30 cents a quart.

The leader of the Salvation Army in England, General Booth, evidently regards persecution as an honor, for he gives the details of the indignities to which his followers have been subjected during 1882, dwelling with especial satisfaction upon the item that 251 of the 609 of his soldiers who were knocked down, kicked or otherwise brutally treated were women. The statistics indicate that his crusade is aptly called a war.

The dignity of the Alderman in office is well maintained in Boston where the Common Council spent $30,000 in 1882 for "refreshment and carriage hire." The Aldermen have fallen into a way of speechmaking and wrangling till 3 A. M. So midnight suppers are necessary, and the members must ride home in carriages, occasionally taking the city's cigars and wines along. A few years ago the newspapers showed up this junketing, and the Board in 1878 managed to ride and eat only $3,000 worth, but the figures have risen again.

The total is a very handsome one indeed. The Wilmington Light Infantry furnished to the service 1 general officer, 13 field officers, 11 staff officers, 25 line officers, 6 artillery officers and 1 naval officer, a total of 57 in all, enough in themselves to make up a very respectable company. But 30 of the 57 are now alive.

Good style is good sense, good health, good energy and good will, but a bottle of Dr Bull's Cough Syrup is a good benediction that suffering humanity has already learned to appreciate.

Tunison's Map.
 Mr. O. M. Merrill, agent for Tunison's New Railway and Distance Map, is in the city canvassing for its sale. One side of the map gives the United States with the railways and the distances between important stations, while the reverse side gives a map of the world on the Mercator projection with the routes of different navigators, explorers and discoverers. It is a valuable map, the price of which, mounted, is $2.90.

The List.
 In response to repeated requests we republish here to-day the list of officers in the Confederate service who "first saw the light" of military service in the ranks of the Wilmington Light Infantry. We believe the list is now complete and correct and the paper containing it should be carefully preserved as the fact is a matter of history which adds a mighty weight to the glory and renown of our good old town. The names are as follows:

D C Allen, Captain; John B Brown, Capt 3d Infantry; Edward Cantwell, Lt-Col of Cavalry; A D Cazaux, Capt and A Q M, 18th Inf; Cicero-Craig, 1st Lt 3d Inf; Thos Cowan, 1st Lt 3d Inf; R H Drysdale, Capt 3d Inf; W L DeRosset, Col 3d Inf; A L DeRosset, Capt N C T; Z Ellis, Lt Art; W C Fergus, Lt Col; E D Hall, Col 46 Inf; M M Hankins, Capt; J W Howard, Lt Cav; T Calhoun James, Adjutant 3d Inf; Thos B Lippitt, Lt; A D Lippitt, Lt; C D Myers, Capt and A A G; J C McIlhenny, Capt Art; R B McRae, Major 7th Inf; T H McKoy, Major C. A Long Passage.
 The Br. brig Signal, Capt. Williams, which arrived at this port to-day from Hamburg, has had an unusually long, tedious and rough passage. She left Hamburg on the 29th of November last, which would make a passage of 85 days. Many ships have made the passage round the Cape of Good Hope to Calcutta in less time and, if we remember aright, the clipper ships White Squall and Flying Cloud made the passage from New York to San Francisco in one day less time. The Signal has had, we learn, very heavy and continued westerly gales to contend with nearly the entire passage.

The Light Infantry.
 As we go to press the Wilmington Light Infantry are on parade "to the swelling sound of the fife and drum." Their ranks are much fuller than usual and their appearance is creditable to the organization. The precision and neatness of their manual and movements elicit much favorable comment.

Memorial Services.
 We would be glad if we were able to print in full the report of the proceedings in Congress in memory of Hon. John W. Shackelford, but we cannot. In the Senate Senators Ransom and Vance both spoke, the former gentleman having been particularly felicitous in thought and expression. We quote a short paragraph:
 Mr. Shackelford was not a brilliant man. He was not remarkably distinguished for genius or learning or eloquence. He was never the "observed" of all observers." But he possessed in very large measure the qualities that make great and good men. He had excellent common sense. He was a good judge of the relation of means to ends. He was decidedly and eminently a practical man. He saw things as they were—in their true and real light. No illusions, no phantoms, no chimeras, no mirages deceived his clear sight and sense. His moral qualities were always in the ascendant. Honor, fidelity, truth, courage, conscience were even with him and of him. He believed in what was true. He loved what was honorable. He practiced what was just. No man ever more faithfully followed his convictions of what was right. He scorned, as he was free from, all artifices. He moved on straight lines from point to point, and in all things and at all times bore himself directly and erectly. Evasion, equivocation, indirection, found not one particle of favor in his upright nature. To these strong qualities he united the high sentiments of generosity, magnanimity, and sympathy for his fellow man.

Commemorative Services.
 The twin birthday of George Washington and J. R. Lowell was celebrated in a becoming manner at the Thieston School this morning. At precisely 9 a. m. Miss Bradley rapped the large assemblage to order, and the exercises of the day commenced before an attentive and appreciative audience of ladies and gentlemen. A brief biographical sketch of the immortal father of our common country was read by Miss Carrie Alderman, and she received a well merited applause. Singing followed and the everlasting little haichee was acted in costume by five children; the moral of which, as told by Miss Bradley, was "aevor tell a lie." The heroic youth came next, and then "The Sacred Ground of Mount Vernon." To the tune of "Massa is in the Cold, Cold Ground," was feelingly sung by the pupils and teachers. And, finally, a brief history of James Russell Lowell and his work was well read by Miss Kati. Roston. The school was then dismissed, and the children marched out in the street with the firm intention of never telling a lie. But to err is human, and school boys are no exception to the rule, for as we came down town we heard several of them hurraing for Birthington's Wash-day.

 RICHMOND, Va. January 26th, 1883.
 MR. N. FERRIS has made known to me the composition of his Hair Restorer and I have also subjected it to chemical examination. It contains no lead or silver, substances very commonly employed in making preparations for the hair, nor anything harmful, and may therefore be used without apprehension of injurious results.
 WM. H. TAYLOR, M. D.,
 State Chemist.

Whilst thanking you, Mr. Fackel, for the Hair Restorer you so kindly sent me, I take great pleasure in saying to you that the beneficial effects upon my hair have been so apparent as to attract the commendation of all my friends who have noticed it.
 It is in my estimation a treasure, without which the toilet of some trio here used, it will be complete. Hoping it may realize you the pecuniary success you so richly deserve, I remain, very respectfully,
