THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C. FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1883. NO. 54

In 1882, 181 Jews in Vienna became Roman Catholics.

It is suggested by the Freeman's Journal that a canal from Dublin to Galway, Ireland, 100 miles in length, would shorten the passage to America by a day and reclaim 1,000,000 acres of land. It is added that the surplus labor of the island might be profitably employed for years, and afterward settled on the reclaimed land. The cost of the undertaking is placed at £50,000,000.

China possesses the longest bridge in the world. It is at Lagang, over an arm of the China Sea, and is five miles long, built entirely of stone, is seventy feet high, with a roadway seventy feet wide, and has 300 arches. The parapet is a balustrade and each of the pillars, which are seventy-five feet apart, supports a pedestal on which is placed a lion twenty feet long, made of one block of marble.

The Senate of North Carolina yesterday resolved itself into a Humpty-Dumpty show. It is needless to say that the characters were all well sustained, and that the aspect offered the audience in the grand and lofty tumbling scenes would not have shamed a circus. The most surprising displays of acrobatic power were made when it was necessary to act, on its third reading, on a bill to make it an indictable offence to give or take a free ride on a railroad. Instead of confining themselves to State officials, over whom it may be presumed that the Legislature could assume some control, the august Senate have included ministers of the gospel, editors of newspapers and others in the sweeping provisions of the bill.

Mr. Evans, of Caswell, characterized it as a legislative farce, although it hardly reaches that dignity, as it is a mere legislative burlesque, and nothing else in the world. It is unconstitutional and absurd, as the wise men knew when they passed it on its third reading, and its provisions can never be enforced. Of course the bill cannot pass the House this session as its supporters well knew when they voted for a measure which might not otherwise have obtained their support. But it is painful to see these paid servants of the people frittering away their time on such demagogical tricks and schemes.

For the Curious. A gentleman in this city sent a telegram over the wires of the Western Union line to a relative in Wyoming Territory. The dispatch left here at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and reached its destination in Wyoming before 3 o'clock on the same afternoon. This would seem like an annihilation of time and distance were it not for the fact that the sun in its diurnal course from East to West brings a given hour in this longitude earlier than it does in any degree of longitude West of here, and there is about three hours difference in time by the sun between here and Wyoming.

Good style is good sense, good health, good energy and good will, but a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a good benediction that suffering humanity has already learned to appreciate.

Sad Accident to a Wilmingtonian.

We regret to learn that Mr. J. M. Bunting, of this city, who is a conductor on the Savannah, Florida & Western Railroad, had the misfortune to have his foot crushed while under a car "bleeding" the air-brake, near Thomasville, Georgia, on Tuesday last, rendering amputation necessary. The train started while he was under the car, and before he could extricate himself the wheels passed over his foot. The amputation was performed on the day following. Mr. Bunting is a son of the late Jos. Bunting, of this county, where his mother, sisters and brothers reside. He is a young man and unmarried.

Bishop Northrop.

The News and Courier of yesterday's date speaks of the arrival in that city, on Tuesday night, from Jacksonville, Fla., of Bishop Northrop. He states that the official papers conveying notice of his appointment have been received by Archbishop Gibbons, of Baltimore, and were probably received in Charleston yesterday. Bishop Northrop has appointed Passover Sunday for his installation, and will invite Archbishop Gibbons and Bishops Keane of Richmond, Becker of Wilmington, Del., Kane of Wheeling, Moore of St. Augustine, and Gross of Savannah, to be present and take part in the ceremonies. The episcopal residence will be in Charleston. The Bishop received congratulatory calls from a number of distinguished priests and prelates who are on a visit to Charleston. He is expected in Wilmington to-morrow on a brief episcopal visit.
