THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C. SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 1883. NO. 78

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation, of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

Italy exported $7,000,000 worth of eggs last year.

A grand international exhibition is booked for Paris in 1885.

James Polk, aged 15 years, of Midway, Ky., weighs 327 pounds.

The trunk of an apple tree near New Albany, Ind., is eight feet in circumference.

The public schools in Chicago were closed this year on Good Friday, for the first time.

Ex-Vice President Wheeler is recovering from a severe attack of inflammation of the eyes.

John Boyle O'Reilly writes that "the Philadelphia Convention will be the most forcible expression of Irish sentiment ever given."

Ocean steamers arriving at New York this week report encountering myriads of gigantic icebergs off the Newfoundland coast.

A prosperous moving village of about 400 inhabitants follows the end of the track of the Northern Pacific Railroad as it crawls westward across Montana.

Business is so dull at the New York Stock Exchange that seats for which $33,000 was formerly asked are now offered at $38,000, and the prospect is that the price will fall still lower.

There is such a thing as carrying economy to extremes—for example, a man in New Hampshire is said to talk through his nose in order to save the wear and tear on his teeth.

The London Lancet thinks that sewer ventilators should be built up like tall chimneys and open above the tops of houses so as to let foul gases mingle with the higher waves of atmosphere.

Prince Gortschakoff, who has just died, was an able man, but he was singularly vain, his idea being that no one could write a better dispatch, and that he possessed the fascinating power of the serpent over the female sex.

The subscription for a memorial to the late Lord Frederick Cavendish has already been closed. It will take the form of a recumbent statue, to be erected in the Priory Church at Cartmel, Lancashire, where he was brought up and passed the early years of his married life.

About 5,000 boats and 25,000 fishermen are engaged in the sardine industry on the French coast. There are about 200 factories in which 15,000 to 17,000 women are employed. A good catch for a boat would be 25,000 fish a day for which they get about thirty-five francs.

A manufacturer of Nashua, N. H., has recently imported 200 girls from Ireland to work in his cotton-mills, and it is reported that his agent found thousands who were willing to come to America. They had their passage paid, and made contracts to work for five years.

The Association of the Confederate Army of Tennessee is arranging for the erection in New Orleans of a monumental tomb and equestrian statue of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, the cost of which will be at least $15,000. It is desired to lay the corner stone April 6, and to push the work to speedy completion.

The jewellers of the country are warned by the "Jewellers' Protective Union" that a band of New York cracksmen are touring the South and West, and it is said that this gang has already stolen $92,000 worth of goods since October from the retail shops. The union was organized to protect travelling salesmen, and the retailers are advised to club together for mutual protection.

The Missouri Senate has passed a bill that prohibits under a penalty of a fine of $25 to $300, the selling, giving, loaning, hiring or bartering, or the offering to sell, loan, hire or barter "to any minor any pistol, revolver, derringer, bowie-knife or other deadly weapon of like character, or any toy pistol designed to shoot caps or cartridges of any kind, or to be loaded with powder."

The Florence, S. C., Times says that the schools in Newberry, S. C., have adopted the two town papers instead of text books in reading, and very sensibly adds: "The pupils will thus be brought face to face with the issues of the day, and learn the doings of men and things which in no other way would be brought to their notice. If a good newspaper was used in every school and academy in the land, the varied information thereby gained would give so great an advantage that the text book makers of the day would have to seek some other occupation."

The Star of Bethlehem.

The occasional star, known as the Star of Bethlehem, is expected to appear some time during this year or next. It was seen by Tycho Brahe in 1572; and astronomical researches showed that the same star, or one very similar, had appeared in the same part of the heavens in 945 and 1264. It is, therefore, inferred that the great star of 1572 is variable with the period of something over three hundred years. By counting back from its first appearance in 945, we are brought to the near vicinity of Christ's birth, hence the star has been called the Star of Bethlehem.

Killed Instantly.

Information was received here yesterday afternoon to the effect that Mr. Marshall Brown, a native, and for many years a resident of Wilmington, had been killed at Montville, N. J., on Tuesday last. He was employed in a celluloid factory at that place, and the shaft of the machinery at which he was working slipped in some manner and struck him full on the left breast, killing him instantly. Mr. Brown was the eldest son of the late Thomas W. Brown, of this city, and was in the 49th year of his age.

Settled at Last.

The vexed market question is at length to be settled. At a meeting of the joint committees from the Board of Aldermen and the Butchers' Association, held this forenoon, it was finally agreed to occupy the new markets. The terms of the agreement have not yet been made public, and will be submitted to the Board of Aldermen at the meeting to be held next Monday night. It is understood, though, that the buildings are to be occupied on the first day of May, and that thereafter all who may want meats must go to the market houses for them.

Meares, Jr., was elected Secretary. Col. S. L. Fremont, Dr. W. H. Green and Messrs. John L. Holmes and J. Alexander were chosen as delegates to Convention with Gen. M. P. Taylor and Messrs. B. Gleaves, W. J. Gordon and O. P. Meares, Jr., as alternates.

Appeal for Help.

We invite attention to the earnest appeal made elsewhere in this issue, by a number of kind-hearted ladies, in behalf of John Sneed, the poor fellow whose fearful injuries we all remember so well. Send something to the place designated, if it is nothing but a pound of sugar or a pound of meat, to help the poor fellow out.

Dunder and Blitzen

A fierce thunder-storm visited this section last night and the rain fell in furious torrents, and to-day the performance was in a great measure repeated. From the Signal Office we learn that from 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to 11 o'clock last night the rainfall was .14 of an inch; from 11 P. M. to 7 A. M. it was .9 of an inch; and from 7 A. M. to-day to 3 P. M. it was .38 of an inch, a total of .61 of an inch.

The Drowned Sailor.

In reference to the man who was found drowned at Messrs. Parsley & Wiggins' mill, a brief account of which appeared in yesterday's REVIEW, it appeared that the body was discovered by Jack Howard, a colored man employed at the mill, while cutting some timber loose from a raft. He immediately informed the Chief of Police of the fact and Coroner Jacobs and Dr. Potter, the city physician, were also notified. It was deemed necessary that an inquest should be held and a Coroner's jury was summoned for that purpose, who, after examining quite a number of witnesses, returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from some cause to them unknown.

The deceased was identified as "Jack, the Sailor," his other name not being known. He tramped here from Charleston, S. C., reaching here in the early part of last week; last Sunday he left a boarding house on Nutt Street in company with the tramp, William Crawford, who was arrested for offering "charms" for sale, and since then was not seen until found as before stated. He had received a severe blow on the right temple, but Dr. Potter said there was no fracture, and that the wound of itself was not sufficient to cause death. He was horribly disfigured and was identified by the tattoo marks on his arms. His remains were interred in Oak Grove Cemetery, at the expense of the county.

Dr. F. C. Miller resumes his advertising space in the REVIEW, and we invite special attention to his "few brief remarks" in this issue.

An Object of Charity.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto Me." Many persons will recollect the sad accident that happened to young Sneed while in the act of firing cannon at the time of President Garfield's death, which resulted in the loss of one entire hand and the mutilation of the other. This accident has disabled the young man for life, and rendered him unfit for almost every kind of labor. Having been the mainstay and prop of his widowed mother, he is now almost entirely dependent upon her exertions, and she has lately been too much enfeebled by sickness to work. Hence their condition is pitiable in the extreme. During the late uncomfortable, cold and sleety weather we have been having, these two sufferers were found without fuel of any kind, and many of the common necessities of life. An effort is now being made by a party of kind-hearted women and children to get up a pound party, or subscription of money or eatables for the benefit of these sufferers. Any persons who feel an interest in a cause like this, can obey the Divine command of "giving" by sending contributions of provisions, money, etc., to the school house in the rear of St. James' Church, on Monday afternoon, April 2nd, where a committee of ladies will be prepared to receive all contributions and see that they reach their proposed destination.

"God loveth a cheerful giver."
