POINT CASWELL, N. C., March 31st, 1883. 5 DEAR REVIEW:

The little town of Point Caswell is looking forward to the day when the "iron horse" may be heard approaching. The good burghers believe in keeping up a stout heart at all times, and enjoying the social pleasures of life while they may. On the evening of the 30th inst., the young men and fair maidens had a pleasant meeting at the Academy. The ladies were lovely, the music good; so that with dancing and polite conversation all present enjoyed the occasion. The affair was under the direction of A R. Black, Esq., Principal of the Academy. By the way, that venerable teacher has established a popular and flourishing school here.

Yours truly, LITTLE HARRY.

POINT CASWELL, April 2nd. MR. EDITOR: Your correspondent had the pleasure, a few weeks, ago, cf listen'ng to the instrumental performwordragen of Clinton. His touch was wonderfully sweet and he is no doubt a thorough master of his profession. He has for some years past been the preceptor of one of my little girls and I am so much pleased with her progress that I wish thus publicly to express my thanks to him.

ON THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8th, 1883, the undersigned will revive the publication of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER. The OBSERVER will be a large 28 column

The Observer will be a large 28 column weekly newspaper, and will be malied to subscribers, postage paid, at $2 per annum, always in advance. It will give the news of the day in as ample form as its space will permit, and both regular and occasional correspondents will contribute letters from the Capita on State politics and affairs.

Democratic in polities, the Observer will labor, first of all, to assure the prosperity of the Town of Fayetteville, to develop the vast agricultural resources of its own and the neignboring counties, and to promote all that concerns the welfare of the people of North Carolina.

Carolina.

Opposed to such innovations on the homely ways of our fathers as, in the guise of progres, harm society, the OBSERVER will be found in full sympathy with the new things born of the changed condition of the South which sound judgment or enlightened experience find to be also good.

As to the rest: it will strive to deserve the reputation of the name it inherits.
