

TUESDAY, APRIL 24 1883.

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation, of any newspaper published, in the city of Wilmington.

Nihilists Executed.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 22, 1883.—The sentences of death against the nihilists, Boganovitch and Boutsevitch, have been carried out, the former having been hanged and the latter shot.

Fire in Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, April 22.—The cotton and general warehouse of Sir Edward Bates and the shipchandlery and ropewalk of Garnock, Bibby & Co., at Lancelots Hey, Liverpool, were destroyed by fire last night. The loss is estimated at over £100,000.

A Snow Blockade.

CHEYENNE, WY., April 22, 1883.—One of the severest snow storms of the season struck Wyoming and Nebraska on Saturday, prostrating telegraph wires in all directions and blocking the railroad cuts. There is a snow blockade near Sherman Station, the highest point on the Union Pacific road, East and west bound passenger trains are lying at Cheyenne and Laramie City respectively. The trains will move to-morrow. The storm was a blizzard and very severe for a while. It extended over the most of Wyoming and Western Nebraska. The cattle losses are nominal because of the snow passing away rapidly with the wind.

The President at Home.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The President reached here at 9:30 to-night, after nearly thirty hours' continuous riding from Savannah. There was quite a gathering of people at the station, among them the President's son, Attorney-General Brewster and Marshal McMichael. The President walked alone from the car to his carriage firmly, but without the fine color that he had gained before he was taken sick.

The President walked from the depot to his carriage between his son, who loomed up above his father, and Mr. Miller, Attorney General Brewster, who was crowned with his white hat, and Secretary Chandler followed. The President looked well, and walked firmly and rapidly to his carriage. He was driven quickly to the White House. On entering the house he shook hands with the attendants at the door, and in reply to anxious inquires concerning his health said that he was never better in his life, and that the despatches pronouncing him very ill were untrue. Nevertheless it is a fact that for some hours the President was in a very alarming condition. He was in great pain for several hours and it is known that he has not for years been so ill as he was at Savannah. All day he sat in his stateroom in the car, indisposed to speak to any one. Although he retired last evening at the unusually early hour, for him, of 7 o'clock, he did not get up until about 11 o'clock this morning, as the train was between Wilmington and Weldon. He saw no one except the members of his party, and he had very little conversation with any one. He was and is greatly annoyed because the extent of his illness has been made public. He is much better to-night, and will probably recover his usual health. It is not supposed that the illness is malaria, but is a temporary attack due to local causes.

University Normal School.

The next session of this school will open June 21 and close July 25. Hon. M. A. Newell, L. D. Superintendent of Public Instruction in the State of Maryland and Principal of the Maryland State Normal School, will be Superintendent. The faculty will consist of a full corps of able and experienced teachers, among whom will be Prof. E. P. Moses, Superintendent of the Goldsboro Graded School. &W.

Interesting to Farmers.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Agriculture, held last week, the commissioner, Mr. McGehee, was authorized to confer with a committee from the North Carolina State Agricultural Society and agree upon the apportionment of the $500, appropriated by said board of premiums, to be offered on field crops at the State fair this fall.

The committee, Messrs. W. G. Upchurch, E. R. Stamps and T. C. Williams, held a conference with the Commissioner yesterday morning, and the premiums were fixed as follows: $50 for the largest yield of cotton from fifteen acres of land; $30 for the second, and $20 for the third.

Fifty dollars for the largest yield of corn from fifteen acres, $30 for the second and $20 for the third.

Fifty dollars for the largest yield of wheat from ten acres.

Twenty-five dollars for the largest yield from five acres each of oats, rye, rice, field peas and ground peas.

Twenty-five dollars for the largest yield of hay from one acre of either clover, orchard grass, herd's grass or Timothy.

Fifty dollars for the largest yield in value of bright leaf tobacco, and $50 for the largest yield in value of heavy shipping tobacco, from one acre each.

Accurate measurement of land and crops, and a detailed statement of the make and cost of cultivation and manuring will be required of each exhibitor.

STATE NEWS.

Greensboro Bugle: Dr. R. W. Glenn, a respected citizen and prominent physician, died suddenly on Saturday evening, about 6 o'clock, from affection of the heart. The Doctor had been to Presbytery in the afternoon and was called away to see a lady at the drug store of his son, R. G. Glenn, and while talking with her manifested symptoms of some pressure about the brain, which alarmed the lady and she called his son, Dr. C. W. Glenn, who was in the store. He hastened up stairs and found his father prostrated, with only life enough left to bid him "farewell," expiring in a few seconds thereafter.

Statesville Landmark: Mr. D. A. Barkley, who has charge of the farm of Mr. R. I. McDowell, in Davidson township, and who is an intelligent, thoroughly progressive and wide-awake farmer, brought to our office, a few days ago, a bunch of rye the average height of which was full five feet. He said he had just mowed it, and this was of the third mowing at that. —Mr. Samuel Gillespie, formerly of this place, but who has been living for a number of years past in Wyoming Territory, arrived here last Monday morning on a very happy errand. When he returns, next week, he will be accompanied by a fair young bride—a lady of this county at whose shrine more than one admirer has knelt. With Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie will go, also, Miss Maggie Gillespie, a sister of the former, and two young men of this place, Messrs. Thos. B. Moore and George Anderson, who will try their fortunes in the mighty West.

Concord Register: Revs. S. T. Hallman and J. S. Heilig had a very interesting communion service at Cole Water Lutheran church, on Sunday, the 15th, at which there were six confirmations. This makes one hundred and two, (102.) additions to Rev. Hallman's pastorate since he began his labors in Concord. Sixty-one of these accessions were to St. James, Concord.

Yesterday the noon train brought to Concord Lucy Phifer and Judy Phifer, the wives of Jack and Alfred Phifer, and their families, and a Townsend woman. These colored persons left Concord about 20 months ago. Jack and Alfred went with them. Alfred returned several months ago. Jack and two of his children still remain in Africa. The women and children are in a very dirty and miserable condition, covered with sores and filth. They have seen sights since they left North Carolina, and are glad to get back. They were enabled to return through the kindness of their white friends here in Concord.

Goldsboro Messenger: The saw mill of Mr. J. F. Humphrey, near Princeton, was destroyed by fire on Saturday evening, together with about 40,000 feet of lumber. Loss about $800. No insurance. —The "twenty-second" of April and its anniversaries form an important epoch in the history of the Messenger and its editor. Mr. Bonitz tells us that on the 22d of April, 1857, he was confirmed in the Lutheran Church; on the 22d of April, 1861, he came from Washington to Goldsboro; on the 22d of April, 1863, he came very near drowning in the Cape Fear at Wilmington, going twice to the bottom; on the 22d of April, 1867, the Messenger was founded; on the 22d of April, 1873, Mr. Bonitz was married, (the day had been fixed for the 15th but had to be unintentionally deferred.) and on the 22d of April, 1881, the foundation for the opera house was begun. All these coincidences happened without any design and were but recently observed.—

We might add that Mr. Bonitz was born on the 22d, but December instead of April. He thinks the "twenty-second" a success in his career, all but the drowning incident.

Greensboro Patriot: A negro living near Hillsboro had a falling out with his wife and left her and went to Durham. He became enamored with one of Durham's dusky damsels and she soon became wife No. 2. He left his Durham home for a short time and on returning night before last the No. 1 wife would not let him in the house, she having learned that her consort had a wife living near Hillsboro. He became furiously mad, and after trying various plans to get in the house finally succeeded in breaking through a window and after he got in, he took an axe and chopped wife No. 2 all to pieces. He cut off one of her arms and cut her head wide open, letting the whole of her brains out. She was still alive yesterday afternoon. The doctors took her back, but they have no hopes of her living many hours. After doing his bloody work, the negro attempted to cut his own throat. An attempt was made by the colored people in Durham to lynch him, but he was rescued by the officials and put in jail at Hillsboro.

News and Observer: The rain which began to fall Sunday night was one of the heaviest seen here in a long time. It was general and has done great damage, as our dispatches show. All the streams are high, and the flat country is partially under water. Capt. Drummond, of the Seaboard road, who came in last evening, stated to a reporter that Tar river was higher than he had ever seen it. The railroad bridge is safe of course, but the water was up to the county bridge and it probably was washed away last night. Neuse river, he said, was also higher than he had ever seen it. The Roanoke is rising and will be "booming" to night and to-morrow morning. Of course damage is done, since such floods always do damage. We learn also that Haw and Deep rivers, and the Cape Fear, which they form, are all high, and that many of the public bridges on them will be swept away. The train on the Chapel Hill road did not arrive yesterday, owing to breaks in the line. The rain fell with great force, accompanied by a driving wind. At Weldon Sunday night great quantities of hail fell, and considerable damage was done. All the handsome glass windows of the new hall there were broken, and early vegetables beaten into the ground.

The celebrated 'Fish Brand' Gills Twine is sold only at JACONTS' Hard ware Depot.
