THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C. THURSDAY, APRIL 26, 1883. NO. 100

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation, of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

The census report of 1880 shows that there are 3,000 actors and 2,000 actresses in the United States. The figures quoted may account for the frequency with which actresses change husbands.

Mr. Reese, one of the Representatives in Congress from Georgia, gains popularity in Burke county by wrestling with the country lads. His back was made distressingly muddy in a tussle the other day.

The News and Observer tell us that Col. W. H. Pryor has been appointed Chief Engineer of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R. Has Maj. Atkinson resigned, or was the news of his appointment to this position premature?

Frederic N. Crouch, the composer of "Kathleen Mavourneen," has obtained an injunction to restrain a Baltimore firm from selling photographs of himself. He thinks that if any money is to be made in that way he ought to make it.

Only eight insane asylums had been built in the United States in 1830-4, being State institutions; by 1840, sixteen were built; by 1850, twenty-four; by 1860, forty-four, and by 1880, ninety, of which sixty-six are supported wholly or in part by State aid.

The rivalry between Kansas and Nebraska this spring in regard to Arbor Day has been a commendable one.— The Governors of both States issued proclamations in favor of tree planting, and in the single town of Ellsworth, Kansas, arrangements were at once made to set out 2,000 shade trees. Other States would do well to imitate these.

There is great danger that Boston will soon be called upon to mourn the loss of one of her most illustrious sons.
 It is stated that John L. Sullivan, is now lying dangerously sick at his home in that city. Should his disease prove fatal it would be a sad day for the people of the "Hub," who so delight to show honor and reverence for her distinguished sons; but we doubt if the peace and good morals of the country will suffer materially by his demise.

Jay Gould has selected Capt. John W. Shackford, of the American steamship Illinois, to command his new yacht, the Atlanta. Capt. Shackford has been given entire charge of the fitting up of the vessel. He will have the selection of every article of furniture, of tableware, and ship stores. He will audit and pay all bills, and render a statement weekly to the owner.

The yacht will be finished under Shackford's directions. The two years' voyage will not begin before October.
 The first winter will be passed in the Mediterranean. Thence the yacht will proceed to India and China. Nothing definite has been decided on regarding the itinerary of the cruise, but it will include every port of interest in the world.

The officers of the Louisiana Association of the Confederate Army of Northern Virginia propose establishing a soldiers' home in New Orleans, the said officers having been constituted a board of directors for that purpose by the last General Assembly of Louisiana.
 Gen. Francis T. Nicholls, who lost an arm and leg, besides being badly wounded otherwise, in the Confederate service, is the president of the Home.
 Contributions will be voluntary, but such is the interest shown in the scheme that its projectors are sanguine of accomplishing much good, providing homes for many worthy men who were disabled in the war and are unable to take care of themselves. A similar scheme has been discussed by the Virginian division of the Association of the Army of Northern Virginia, and it will probably soon take positive form.

We glean from the Durham Recorder the following report of the Baptist Conference held in that town recently, a notice of the fall for which was published in the REVIEW at the time:

We were pleased to see among us last week so many reverend gentlemen of the Baptist Church from different parts of the State. As a body, we do not hesitate to say that they would bear favorable comparison with an equal number from any other Christian association in the land, and too much cannot be said touching the intelligence and high Christian culture by which our community was refreshed during their short stay among us.

The exercises, as is usual, were confined to the discussion of high, moral and religious themes, and the development of those principles so essential to the lives of such as are set apart for the guidance and instruction of all committed to their charge.

We noticed among some of the most prominent the Rev. Dr. J. B. Taylor, of Wilmington, Rev. Dr. Theodore Whitfield, of Goldsboro, Rev. Dr. Nelson, of Shelby, Rev. Mr. Eason, of Newbern, Rev. A. C. Dixon, of Baltimore, and Professors Charles E. Taylor and W. B. Royall, of Wake Forest.

 Our community cannot soon forget the soul inspiring sentiment that fell from the lips of some of these distinguished men, and we trust that no common good will result from their sojourn among us. The body was pleasantly entertained by the various members of the Baptist Church, and also those of some of her sister churches.
 It is indeed pleasant to note the brotherly feeling existing between the different Christian denominations of our town. Harmony among Christians is the main spring to success in the development of religion.

There will be a meeting this evening, at Mr. Darby's office, of the Wilmington Branch of the Irish National Land League.

A young lady correspondent, only 13 years old, writes us from Burgaw, sending a very ingenious solution of the egg puzzle published by us a week or so ago, but it is not the correct solution, 15 being the answer.

John Richardson, colored, was brought before the Mayor this morning charged with disorderly conduct.
 He was found guilty, but as he was a stranger here judgment was suspended upon his promise to leave the city at once.

Very heavy rains are reported along the line of the W. & W. Railroad, and especially between Goldsboro and Weldon. At the latter place the Roanoke river is said to be higher than at any time since the bridge was washed away some years ago.

Exports Foreign.

Swedish brig Urna, Capt. Pahlberg, cleared to-day for Greenock, Scotland, with 2,300 barrel tar, valued at $4,600; shipped by Messrs. Robinson & King.

Jack Frost.

There was a heavy frost throughout all the interior portion of the State yesterday morning, and it is feared that the growing crops have been seriously damaged thereby. This morning there was a slight frost in exposed localities in this city, and in the country, a few miles from here, in every direction, it was plentiful and severe.

Truck Farming.

Green peas were quite plentiful in the market this morning, and, speaking upon this subject, we are informed that Mr. John R. Meiton, at Love Grove, has 5 1/2 acres planted in that succulent esculent, and that they are now being picked as rapidly as possible for market.
 He ships them to Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, and even as far North as Boston, and is now giving employment to a large number of persons in picking and preparing them for shipment.

The Mayor's Room.

We are glad to notice that some much needed improvements have been made in the Mayor's office. There is now a nice carpet covering a large portion of the floor with matting laid down where there would necessarily be the most wear to the floor. The chairs and other furniture of the room have been newly varnished and repaired where repairs were needed, and the entire room renovated and repainted, so that it now presents an appearance worthy the city.

Look Before you Leap.

A. I. SHRIER are now showing the best line of Mens, Boys' and Childrens' Clothing that has ever been brought to this Market. Here buyers will find it greatly to their interest, to inspect their stock of Spring Clothing before purchasing elsewhere.

Rev. Dr. Milburn.

"Sargent Smith Prentiss and Flush Times in Mississippi" was the theme discussed at the Opera House last night by the Rev. Dr. W. H. Milburn. There was only a fair audience, when the house should have been crowded, but those who had the good fortune to be present were some of the most intelligent and cultured of our citizens and they were delighted and captivated by the interest surrounding the character as well as by the elegant manner in which the story was told.

Dr. Milburn was introduced to the audience by Rev. Dr. Wilson, who stated in the happiest manner imaginable that "the distinguished speaker, although blind, had seen more than many who were blessed with sight and much more than some it even they had been Argus-eyed."

The speaker opened by giving a description of the "Flush Times of Mississippi," their main characteristics and the causes which produced them.
 Into these scenes, in an easy graceful and interesting manner, he introduced Sargent S. Prentiss, describing his personal traits and characteristics, his unexampled success as a lawyer; his brief, yet brilliant, career as a politician; his generous heart, his weaknesses, foibles and follies and his death.— Each of these was illustrated by some anecdote showing the character of the wonderful man he was describing and whom he knew well and loved sincerely.
 Throughout the entire lecture the audience was spell bound, both by the interest attaching to the subject and by the wonderfully magnetic power and eloquent oratory of the speaker. No one thought of fatigue, the flight of time nor of anything else but to drink in every syllable which fell like sweet music upon delighted ears. We had heard much of the meteoric career of Prentiss and were expecting a rich treat, but the feast far exceeded our expectations.

We remember reading many years ago what purported to be an episode in the life of Prentiss and the times and localities in which he lived and was a conspicuous actor, that, whether correct as to facts or not, fairly illust rates one phase of his character and something of his surroundings, which we will endeavor to relate. It was about as follows:

Prentiss and several other lawyers, in travelling one of the judicial circuits of Mississippi, arrived at a country town where court was to be held the next day. As usual upon such occasions there was a large crowd in attendance, some drawn thither by the duties of the court, but others from curiosity, the purposes of trade or to have a "good time." The hotel had poor accommodations at the best and with such a crowd there were hardly any. When the time for retiring for the night came, Prentiss and some of his legal friends were shown into a large room in which there were several beds, where they were to spend the night as best they could. To pass away the time for awhile they indulged in games of cards, stopping occasionally to take a drink, until towards morning when they blew out the lights and retired. But not to sleep; for hardly had they laid down when swarms of bed bugs took possession of the beds and made sleep impossible. To arise and relight the candles was the only alternative and this they speedily did, and then took their revolvers and began shooting their midnight tormentors. The report of firearms at once drew a crowd to their door and among them was the landlord, who expostulated indignantly at their treatment of his bedding, which was being pretty thoroughly riddled with bullets. They quietly told him to withdraw as they were bound to shoot all the vermin they could find and they might possibly consider him as such—and continued shooting. At length a very large bedbug was seen and attention called to his unusual venerable appearance, some one declaring that he was the grand patriarch of all the bed bug family, another claiming that he should be spared in consideration of his venerable appearance, and at last it was decided to put him on trial for his life. A judge and prosecuting officer were selected and the duty of defending the culprit was assigned to Prentiss. All the formalities of a trial were carried out with the strictest decorum by those lawyers, who had nothing on but their nightclothes. An able speech was made by the prosecuting officer and there seemed but little hope for the offender. Prentiss, however, was equal to the occasion, and when the time arrived for him to be heard, rose and made one of the most masterly speeches ever made by that wonderful man.

 For two hours he pleaded for the life of that insignificant creature with such pathos, such unanswerable logic, making it one of God's creatures, carrying out merely its God-given instincts and with such impassioned bursts of eloquent oratory that the prisoner was set free amid the approving shouts of the bystanders. It was stated that at times during the delivery of his speech the sobs of rude men could be heard as he moved their hearts by his overpowering and sublime pathos while at other times the very rafters of the building shook with the shouts of applause which greeted his fervid oratory; at times men looked pale and trembled at his terrible invectives while anon they would seem as children lulled by the soft song of a fond mother.

New Letter Boxes.

Col. Brink, Postmaster here, is now having placed in position thirty-one street letter boxes. These are in addition to those already established, and the public are cautioned against depositing letters in any of the new boxes before May 1st, as they will not be emptied until that date, when the entire service will be performed by the letter carriers. All of the old boxes, however, will be visited and emptied as usual, and on Tuesday next they will all, old and new, be placed in service. The new boxes will be placed at the following points: Eighth and Nixon, North Water and Chestnut, Nutt and Mulberry, Purcell House, Third and Chestnut, Fourth and Mulberry, Fourth and Brunswick, Fourth and Harnett, Fourth and Nixon, Fifth and Chestnut, Sixth and Miller, Market and Ninth, Market and Eleventh, South Water and Dock,

 Third and Nun, Third and Castle, Fourth and Queen, Fifth and Castle, Sixth and Orange, Seventh and Castle.

The Tobacco Tax.

The new tobacco tax goes into operation next Tuesday. From May 1st a rebate to the extent of the reduction on all original and unbroken factory packages of tax-paid tobacco and its products held by manufacturers and dealers on May 1st is provided for, in case the claim for rebate is made within sixty days thereafter.

To secure this rebate the manufacturer or dealer must, on May 1st, take an inventory of his stock on hand "at the beginning" of that day, entering the different items under the appropriate heads in the rebate blank, which he can procure from the collector of the district or which he may have printed for himself. The inventory must be taken in the presence of two impartial witnesses, each of whom must personally count and inspect the stock. By "impartial witnesses" is meant two persons who have not the slightest interest or ownership in the goods, direct or indirect, and who are not clerks or employees of the claimant or of any other claimant under said act. Both the dealer or manufacturer and the witnesses are required to make affidavit that the inventory is correct, and that every requirement of law in the preparation of the same has been complied with. The inventory and affidavits are to be turned over to the deputy collector. Rebate labels are to be attached to each original and unbroken factory package examined.— Claims for rebate cannot be sold or transferred. Dealers are not required to affix a rebate label to each package containing ten or twenty cigarettes, or to each one ounce package of foil chewing tobacco; or to each two ounce, four ounce or eight ounce package of smoking tobacco. Rebate labels are to be affixed to each box or case containing stamped packages of cigarettes.
