THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C. SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1883. NO. 102

The Iowa Democrats will meet in Cincinnati June 6th.

The Governor of Delaware now receives the magnificent sum of $2,500 as a salary.

The black President of Hayti has got the upper hand of the retaliation and proposes to shoot all who don't agree with him.

Senator Colquitt, ex-Governor of Georgia, has recently delivered a lecture in Philadelphia on "The Growth and Power of the Methodist Church."

The late English Government paid off $90,000,000 of the National debt. The present has paid off $102,500,000, and hopes this year to pay off $40,000,000.

A call has been issued for a State convention of colored people to be held in Cincinnati in June, to give expression to the sentiment of the race on the school question.

Mr. William W. Astor, U. S. Minister to Rome, has a reputation in that city of being a young man with more money than manners.

It is said that, although the Georgia fruit crop is largely damaged, yet it is by no means a failure. It is time for reports of disasters to be coming in from the North and West.

Somebody else, and this time it is a Canadian, claims to have discovered a process by which fruit crops may be saved from frosts. If true he will find that there's many millions in it.

An Irishman named Foley, in Bradford, England, recently in a spirit of bravado drank thirty-six glasses of whiskey in rapid succession. Of course he died just after his thirty sixth drink.

Joaquin Miller rises to remark that the daily newspaper is "the six-shooter of Eastern civilization." Yes, but it very often hurts those who hold the pistol worse than those who are in front of it.

The Augusta Chronicle is on a meat reform. Its cry is "less meat and better meat" and it sometimes seems to think that people would get along better in every way if they would eat no meats at all.

A Paris newspaper credits the widowed Baroness Rothschild with the intention of establishing in Versailles a home for aged and destitute authors and journalists. She is said to have set apart 500,000 francs for the purpose.

Mr. R. B. Hayes is mentioned for P. M. of Fremont, O. It has been suggested that Mr. Tilden be appointed and that Mr. Hayes be allowed to stand around somewhere while a new 87 commission awards him the office and the salary.

The Czar has offended the army by abolishing the present regimental flags and colors, and replacing them by church banners, bearing effigies of the patron saints of respective regiments. The new banners are to appear in the coronation procession.

Martin Luther's statue, to be erected in Washington on the 10th of next November, has been ordered from the Lauchhammer Foundry, in Germany. The statue will be a counterpart of the bronze statue unveiled in Worms, June 25, 1868. It will cost, when completed, about $6,500.

Mayor Farley, of Cleveland, owns a brass foundry that has supplied the city departments with many hundredweight of the metal. Since his election Mr. Farley has refused to sell the city any more brass, on the ground that he can not do so consistently with his office. He is a Democrat, of course.

The Boston Globe vouches for the statement that the other morning "a nude declined a piece of shad. He had been told that fish food made brains, and he didn't want to unfit himself for his position he occupied in society." That nude must have been the young man in "Mrs. Winthrop" who had his hair langed.

Rev. J. P. Newman, having pronounced a conundrum as to "what had become of the great moral ideas of the republican party?" the Boston Herald starts that a good many of them disappeared during Grant's term, when Newman was court chaplain and traveled around the world at government expense.

There has been a regular reign of terror in Richmond this week. Numerous bold and daring burglaries have taken place by day as well as by night. The police force has been doubled and extraordinary efforts have been made to detect the rogues, but in vain. It is said that citizens of the place went about in broad-daylight, armed with pistols, and that the entire stock of firearms in the city was sold out. Among others who were robbed was Captain Parater, of the night police force. Burglars entered his house during the day, and robbed his daughter of the very rings on her fingers and bracelet on her neck. This seems to have unsettled the young lady's mind, and she imitated Lady Florence Dixie. She gagged herself and committed an assault on her inoffensive corset, the sequel to which we find in a special to the New York Sun, dated 26th.

The mysterious assaults upon Miss Parater, which yesterday evening gave the climax to the excitement in Richmond over the bold burglaries, were explained to-day by the discovery that the young lady's mind had become unhinged, and that she had committed the assaults upon herself. Her father is Captain of the police force in the district in which the series of depredations have occurred, extending over a month past, and he has, especially in the past two weeks, been out all night with his men endeavoring to get on the track of the burglars. The fact that he was thus engaged, and the intelligence of new burglaries wrought upon her mind, and she was possessed with the idea that her father would be assassinated. It turns out that, in addition to this great strain upon her mind, she had gotten hold of many sensational books, among which was found this morning, "The Boy Detective, or, Dreaded Tom," which she had been reading the past week. It is surmised that she had read and remembered Lady Florence Dixie's account of the assault upon herself, for she had slashed her clothing in almost the same way, and the cut upon her corset was almost identical with that on Lady Dixie's. Physicians who examined her this morning pronounce her suffering from mental aberration, caused by anxiety for her father's safety and fright over the depredations of the burglars. She is very pretty and only 16 years of age. She still adheres firmly to her first statements about the affair, and the utmost cross-examination has not caused her to vary in the slightest degree.

The police hope that the mysterious gang of burglars who have thus far successfully defied them have left the city. Among women and children the fear of their depredations still continues to have a serious effect. Mothers go in at the evening take their children with them, and more than one business man has to come home earlier than usual in order to reassure his frightened family by his presence. So far there is positively no clue to the desperadoes who have caused such a panic. They will probably be lynched if caught.

N. C. Medical Journal.

We have received the April number of the North Carolina Medical Journal and find it, as usual, filled with matter of deep interest to the profession, and of great importance as affecting the treatment and cure of the various diseases to which human flesh is heir. It is a valuable work, and is gotten up in excellent style.

Bed Bugs.

A correspondent says: I see frequent inquiry as to the readiest manner of getting quit of this pest. A safe, sure and proved way in our family is to get a cup full of fine table salt and fill every joint, opening, crack or crevice with the dry, fine salt, even under the extremities of the laths, scattering profusely, and keep it so, and your tormentors will soon be finished without the use of violent poison.

Fun at a Boarding School.

The John E. Ince Comedy Company arrived here at 9:45 last night, after having given a matinee at Goldsboro yesterday afternoon. They gave a matinee here this afternoon at the Opera House, at which "Fun at a Boarding School" was presented to a crowded house. They will appear again to-night in the same piece, and will undoubtedly have a large audience. The play and the manner in which it is presented by our exchanges. It contains lots of innocent fun.

"Young Mrs. Winthrop."

The Madison Square Theatre Company appeared at the Opera House last night in Bronson Howard's society drama of Young Mrs. Winthrop. We do not think the troupe sustained their former excellent reputation, or that their performance gave that satisfaction which was anticipated by the large and cultured audience which greeted them. The acting was not bad, yet it lacked that natural tenor which is always pleasing. The company was no doubt jaded by the hard traveling and loss of rest, which it has been subjected to during the past two weeks, caused by accidents and delays South of us.

A Beautiful Gift.

The officers and employees of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R. have presented Col. L. C. Jones, late of that road, now superintendent of the Carolina Central, with a very handsome memento of their regard. It is, according to the Fayetteville Observer, a splendidly carved and embossed silver tilting pitcher, with gold-lined goblets and waiter accompanying, the latter having engraved upon it a locomotive on the tender of which are the letters, "C. F. & Y. V." On the pitcher is the inscription: "Presented to Col. L. C. Jones by the officers and employees of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway Company, April, 1883." The whole is an exquisite piece of workmanship.

We understand that Prof. Dexter, of Jacksonville, Fla., who has won a reputation as a "magnetic healer," and has effected some remarkable cures of paralysis, is expected to visit this city in the space of a few weeks, when those afflicted may have an opportunity of testing his skill.

Festival at Smithville.

The festival given at Smithville last night by the ladies of St. Philip's Parish in aid of that church, was not only a very pleasant, but very successful affair. There was a large attendance, among those present being a number from this city. The ladies disposed of nearly everything which had been prepared for the occasion, and they netted, we hear, over a hundred dollars.
