The largest cable ever made on the Pacific coast was finished at the California Wire Works recently. It is 18,-000 feet in length and weighs twentysix tons. Rolled on a shaft it makes a bundle about twenty feet in diameter and ten in depth. It is made of steel wire and cost $20,000. The cable is for the California Street Railroad.

The general efficiency of the revenue force at Newport News, Va., is illustrated by the fact that the collector of customs at that port says that his force could not gauge about 60 or 70 barrels of whiskey per day. Gen. Grant and Gen. John Newton were the only two candidates for President of the Society of the Army of the Potomac, at a meeting held last night and Newton was elected. How now?

Mr. John W. Garrett will begin at once a costly embellishment of his Baltimore residence by adding thereto a magnificent art gatlery and conservatory. This will give Baltimore two of the finest art galleres in the country; that of Mr. William T. Walters being perhaps unequalled in America. Electric lights will be substituted for gas in Mr. Garrett's building.

All the mills at Columbus, Georgia, are crowded with orders. On one day last week the Eagle and Phœuix mills received orders that tooted up nearly $100,000. The principal portion of these orders came from St. Louis and cities in the Northwest, and the goods are to be delivered as rapidly as possible. The sales of woollen goods made by these mills in one day amounted to nearly $40,000.

Here is an item of interest for this locality. Yesterday's New York World says that on Tuesday a certificate of incorporation of the Northern and Southern Telegraph Company was filed in the County Clerk's office. The lines are to run from New York through New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. The capital stock is $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares at $100 each. The corporators are Edward H. Hawkins, Charles C., Sheldrake, Joshua Kames, Wm. H Hatfield and Wm. S. Kames The terminas of the line is at Charleston, S. C.
