In Chicago, last Wednesday, a decree of court was entered permitting Mrs. Francis Maria Scoville, sister of Chas. Guiteau and divorced wife of Geo. Scoville, to change her name to Francis Maria Howe.

At the meeting of the American Fish Cultural Association in New York, it was again stated that fish in the harbor of that city were being poisoned and depleted by the kerosene factories thereabout.

Gen. Sherman is looming up as the Republican nominee for the Presidency. The Richmond Dispatch thinks him a most formidable candidate because of his fondness for and aptness at making short speeches; his popularity with the ladies, and even with some Southern people; his faithful attachment to such old "rebel" friends as General Joseph E. Johnston, and their warm feeling for him.

The St. Paul Pioneer-Press says it is not a question of candidates in Ohio. Republican success depends upon the extent to which people are stirred up on the liquor question, and the degree of disgust with which President Arthur has inspired the rural Ohio mind.

The late Archbishop Wood was a bank officer in early life and would have become a millionaire had he remained a worldly man. His financial administration of the Philadelphia diocese was as prosperous as could be. His motto was Safety rather than Profit. He left a church property of $12,000,000 and three stands against this vast estate no debt that cannot be immediately satisfied.

Dr. Oswald, in discussing the Remedies of Nature in the July number of the Popular Science Monthly, says that "gymnastics, combined with cold bath-air baths, deep draughts of cold spring water, dietetic, aperients, temperance, abstinent forenoons, liberal siestas, cheerful evenings and wide-open bedroom windows, will speed the advent of the time when the late dinner hour shall cease to be the saddest of the sad twenty-four, nay, when digestion, like all normal functions of the animal organism, shall be once more not only a painless but a pleasurable process."

We hear the complaint that there is a great scarcity of hooppoles in the city, in consequence of which our naval store men are put to considerable inconvenience. There would be a ready sale at good prices should a lot be brought here.

The following is a list of the unmailable postal matter remaining in the Postoffice in this city: Lewis Dennis, Ponce, Porto Rico; Mrs. J. W. Foster, No 163 S Broad street; Postal beginning Dear Friend and signed J A II.

Parade and Inspection.

It is expected that the inspection of the Wilmington Light Infantry will take place at about 7 o'clock to-morrow evening, and the Company will form for that purpose at about half-past 6 o'clock. If the weather is stormy, the inspection will be in the City Hall. It is hoped that our citizens generally, and especially the ladies, will turn out and witness the parade and inspection.

Stedman Bucket Co.

We regret to learn that the C. M. Stedman Bucket Company is in a fair way to be disbanded. For several months there has seemed to be but little care for its prosperity, and the building has been allowed to remain much of the time with open doors and the property allowed to go to ruin and waste. This should not be. It is an organization that has done faithful and efficient duty in the past, and as a valuable aid to the protection of property, it should be kept up to the high place upon which it once stood. We know but little of the causes which have led to this apparent demoralization of its affairs, but hope that, whatever they may be, a remedy may be found and applied, and the company once more become an honor to our city and fire department.

Military Inspection.

Col. F. H. Cameron, Inspector General North Carolina State Guard, who is now on a tour of inspection of the different military organizations in the Eastern portion of the State, is expected to arrive in the city to-night, for the purpose of inspecting the Wilmington Light Infantry. He will perform that duty to-morrow evening, at which time the corps will turn out in a full-dress parade for inspection. Col. Cameron has now nearly completed his tour of inspection in this section of the State.

Yolande.

Those who have been waiting for the publication in book form of William Black's new novel, Yolande, will be glad to know that it has at last been issued in that shape. For some time past it has been running as a serial in Harper's Bazar, and to those who have not read regularly but have merely taken a glimpse now and then at the matter, much interest has been excited as to the appearance in book form. We thank the Harpers, the publishers, for a bound volume of the story, received through Heinsberger's book store, of this city, of whom the work may be had.

Mr. Orr's negatives are well cared for. Duplicate pictures finished at low rates. Lardner, Photo., Yates Gallery. 1wtl.

Disaster at Wrightsville.

There was a runaway and upset at Wrightsville Sound last night. A party of some young folks were in an ambulance which was being driven along between the Seaside Hotel and Capt. Manning's place when the horses snied violently at something near the road and started off in a run. The driver lost control of them and they broke from the traces and left without stopping to say good-bye. The ambulance was dashed down the slope and overturned in the mud and two of the party, a young lady and young gentlemen, were scratched and bruised, the others escaping injury. The party were compelled to remain at the Sound all night and returned to the city in the wagonette this morning.

A Busy Place.

We paid a short visit this morning to the extensive trunk, harness and saddlery establishment of Messrs McDougall & Bowden, No. 114 North Front st., and were well pleased with what we saw. The front portion of the store is occupied as a salesroom in which all the articles in their line are exposed for sale in complete order. Next in the rear is the trimming, and still further to the rear is the wood work department, while in a detached building in the yard is the blacksmithing department. On the second floor is room for the painting and storage of carriages. Everybody was busy and there was an air of go-ahead-iveness about the premises which seemed to be the precursor of success.

How Colds Are Taken.

A person in good health, with fair play, says the Lancet, easily resists colds. But when the health flags a little, and liberties are taken with the stomach or the nervous system, a chill is easily taken, and, according to the weak spot of the individual, assumes the form of a cold, or pneumonia, or it may be jaundice. Of all causes of "cold," probably fatigue is one of the most efficient. A jaded man coming home at night from a long day's work, a growing youth losing two hour's sleep over evening parties two or three times a week, or a young lady heavily "doing the season," young children overtired and with a short allowance of sleep, are common instances of the victims of "cold." Luxury is favorable to chills-taking; very hot rooms, soft chairs, leather beds, create a sensitiveness that leads to catarrh. It is not, after all, the "cold" that is so much to be feared as the antecedent conditions that give the attack a chance of doing harm. Some of the worst "colds" happen to those who do not leave their houses or even their beds, and those who are most invulnerable are often those who, by good sleep, cold bathing and regular habits, preserve the tone of their nervous system and circulation.

At this writing there is absolutely nothing known as to the whereabouts of the two Richmond duelists. There are plenty of rumors in Richmond but no facts.

July and August.

A weather prophet of some local celebrity, whose predictions have crept into the papers but whose name is not given, and who is said to have been quite successful heretofore in his predictions, tells us this much about the months of July and August, which may or may not be correct. He says: The heat on the 4th and 5th of July is likely to be something phenomenal, consequent upon the conjunction and parallel declination of the sun and Jupiter at that part of the ecliptic where it is cut by the solstitial colure in the early degrees of Cancer. It may be some consolation to the average boy bent on "having a Fourth" to learn that although that star spangled anniversary is almost sure to be hot, it most likely be fair. On the whole, July will be a very warm month, with more than an average number of violent thunder showers. On the 19th occurs the conjunction of Mars and Saturn at 10:19 P. M., and on the same day Jupiter is in conjunction with Mercury. A violent storm may be expected on that and probably the following day, with intense electrical manifestations along the and on the North Atlantic ocean.

August will also be a hot month, with the exception of the 9th, 12th, 24th, and 26th, about which dates stormy weather is likely to prevail. It need not excite surprise if the configuration of Jupiter and Uranus, and Saturn with Venus, on the 12th, should precipitate a violent hailstorm. There will be a good deal of thunder during the month, and the prospects are that the growing crops will not suffer for want of rain.

Artistic work at low rates for the summer months. LARDNER, Photo. Yates Gallery. 1wtl.

The Art Amateur for July contains pleasing designs of buttercups and apple-blossoms for china painting, a charming pond-lily design for embroidery, two pages of jewelry designs, a page of monograms and a page of capital borders for wood-carving. The work of American painters in the Paris Salon is reviewed, and drawings are given of fifteen of the most attractive and important pictures in the exhibition. An admirable and copious illustrated article on "The Theory and Practice of Pen Drawing" is alone worth the price of the number to the many who are interested in this humble but useful art. Other valuable practical articles are those on art teaching for women in Paris, landscape painting in oil, painting heads on china, wood-carving and wood-staining. No one interested in art should fail to examine the July issue of this excellent magazine. Price, 35 cents; per annum $4. Montague Marks, Publisher, 23 Union Square, New York.
