WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27, 1883

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

The United States Fish Commission has this year distributed throughout every State and Territory in the Union 80,000,000 white fish, 30,000,000 shad, and 10,000,000 of the salmonidae species. The commission has also distributed 12,000,000 German carp.

According to the recently issued official statistics of the manufacturing industries of Switzerland, there are in that country altogether 2,642 factories, actuated by 1,472 motors, the aggregate power of which is no less than 59,503 horse power. The number of hands amounts to 134,862, of whom 70,364 are men, and 10,462 persons of either sex between the ages of fourteen and sixteen. The most important of all is the textile trade—cotton, silk, wool, flax, etc.

The Old Testament Company of Revisers have now finished the last revision of the Old Testament and are making up the appendix, which contains the unadjusted differences between the American and English revisers. The committee will meet again in July for several days, and resume work in September next. It is expected that the revision will be completed before the end of this year and published by the University presses of Oxford and Cambridge before next spring.

Jefferson M. Levy, the owner of Monticello, in accounting for the postponement of the unveiling of the Jefferson monument tells an interesting story. The Fourth of July had been fixed upon as the day for the ceremonies at Monticello, and June 28 as the time for the laying of the corner-stone of the Lee monument at Lexington. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee submitted to the militia of Virginia whether they should attend the former or the latter. As between Lee and Jefferson the Virginians decided to honor Lee, and the Monticello monument will remain unveiled until next autumn.

"The Pope is now seventy-four," say the London Globe; "a tall, thin, ivory-complexioned man, with a benign expression and smiling lips, bearing the stamp of indelible firmness—the expression of a man to bend, but never to break. Some one has said he has the mask of Voltaire, but this is nonsense. There is none of the saturnine caducity, the depressed mouth and prominent chin, or spectral smile. Leo XIII is tall; walks upright, and thus makes the most of his inches. His hair is snow white, and naturally forms into a crown about his finely developed brow. His long face is serene, his small eyes dancing with intelligence; add to this a harmonious, sonorous voice and a wide knowledge of languages, which he speaks with the correctness of a professor."

A new stroke of railway enterprise in Europe is the establishing of a regular train from Paris to Constantinople, which began running on June 5, and carries passengers between those two points without change of cars. The train consists of drawing room and sleeping cars exclusively, with the addition of a dining room car on which meals can be taken en route, at five francs for dinner and four francs each for breakfast and lunch. By arrangement made with the Governments through whose dominion the train runs the baggage of tourists is inspected, by customs officials without being taken from the cars, and stop-over tickets for Vienna, Bucharest and other places of interest are issued by the company. The trip is made in eighty-two hours, about thirty less than have hitherto been required for the journey.

THE OHIO DEMOCRATS.

Under the foregoing caption the New York Herald of a recent date thus compliments the gubernatorial nomination and platform made by the recent democratic State Convention in Ohio: "The Herald offers its respectful congratulations to the Ohio democrats. They made a platform on which sensible citizens desirous of honest and free government can stand, and have nominated a man upon it who fairly and fully represents the policy."

Mr. Hoadley is an able and an honest man, and a Democrat in the true sense of that word. We make haste to say this of him because before forty-eight hours are over he will probably discover himself to be a villain of the deepest dye. The exigencies of the Ohio campaign will not permit the Republicans to be measly-mouthed in their speech about Democratic candidates; and while Governor Foster is engaged in praising his friends Messrs Brady and Orsey and other members of the party will, no doubt, with equal zeal, devote themselves to "exposing" the Democratic candidate for Governor.

The Ohio Republican platform was simply a begging letter to the voters. It was an appeal to ignorance, prejudice and class interests, and an unblushing appeal. The Democratic platform is a manly document, and in its essential points a careful and admirable statement of correct policies. It demands the purification of the public service, the punishment of Treasury robbers, the equalization of public burdens, economy in public expenditures, and a total change in that policy by which the Republicans have in legislation favored individual and class interests at the expense of the whole people. It calls for measures "regulating the liquor traffic and providing against the evils resulting therefrom by a judicious and properly graded license law." It opposes contract labor in State prisons. It declares for a stable currency.

Upon the tariff these are the words of the platform—and they are well considered, straightforward and sound in every word and clause:—"We favor a tariff for revenue limited to the necessities of the government economically administered, and so adjusted in its application as to prevent unequal burdens, encourage productive interest at home, and afford just compensation to labor, but not to create monopolies."

There is not a friend of tariff and tax reform in Ohio, or in the country, but can stand on that. It has the merit that it is so plainly and clearly worded as to make it impossible, without gross misrepresentation, for the Republicans to raise their cry of "free trade" against it. The Republican demand has been formulated by Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, as for a "tariff for protection with incidental revenue." The Democratic tariff plank is a plain answer to that impudent proposition. The tariff is to be "for revenue," say the Democrats, and the revenue drawn from it is to be "limited to the necessities of the government economically administered." That strikes at the huge surplus revenue which the Republicans have insisted on forcing from the pockets only to waste it on jobs. The tariff is to be "so adjusted in its application as to prevent unequal burdens," which cannot be done without a general and careful revision, for it is now full of the baldest discriminations in favor of monopolist capitalists at the expense of the great body of the people. It is to "encourage productive"—not unproductive—"interests at home;" and if it does that it is certain to "afford just compensation to labor." Finally, it is "not to create monopolies."

SHORTS.

There are over 1,000 bicyclers in Boston. The election in Connecticut this year is for a House and half a Senate. The average elevation of North Carolina is 640 feet above the sea level. Four thousand tons of guano have been sold this year in one Georgia county.

Flowers are extravagantly used on dressy bonnets and hats of every description. Strawberries weighing seven-eighths of an ounce each have been grown in Delaware this year.

There are now fully 30,000 wheelmen in this country, and the popularity of the bicycle is increasing. In England over 5,000 bicycles are used in the mail service, and there are at least 350,000 English wheelmen.

Russian men are, as a rule, handsomer than the women. The Russian woman has loud ways and is loud, unpleasant voice. She almost invariably smokes. Russia is the terrestrial paradise of the demi-monde.

The first cotton duck ever woven was manufactured by Seth Bemis, in Water-town, Mass. It became well known during the war of 1812. Mr. Bemis employed a six-horse team, which, during the war, went between Watertown and Baltimore, carrying duck and bringing back flour.

MOONSHINE.

A married man doesn't shiver now when he passes a seakins sack store, but the sight of a millinery shop sets him wild.

The single eyeglass is worn by the dude. The theory is that he can see with one eye much more than he can comprehend.—New Orleans Picayune.

A blundering compositor, in setting up the toast, "Woman, without her man would be a savage," got the punctuation in the wrong place, which made it read, "Woman, without her man, would be a savage."

A boy in a history class in school was trying to recite about Napoleon's troops ascending the hill in platoon, and said, "They marched up the hill, pantaloons after pantaloons."—Boston Journal.

An exchange tells of a "young lady losing the sole of her slipper while enjoying the intoxicating whirl of a waltz." Of what profit was it to her if she gained the whole whirl if she thereby lost her sole?

A medical journal devotes a whole column to explaining what causes cold perspiration. Any one who has gone up a dark alley and stepped on a dog would be wasting valuable time reading it.—Worcester Gazette.

A correspondent wants to know why green turtle is the sort almost exclusively used for food. We are not very sure, but we surmise that the green turtle is caught easier than almost any other kind.—Texas Siftings.

All of One Mind. Every one who has ever had occasion to use ROSADALIS for diseases of the blood, speaks of it in terms of highest praise and commendation. It is thoroughly effectual, and they all unite in saying there is nothing equal to the Fluid Extract of Rosadalis. Dr. R. WILSON CARR, of Baltimore, says "he has used it in cases of Scrofula and other diseases with much satisfaction."

Dr. T. C. PUGH, of Baltimore, recommends ROSADALIS to all persons suffering with diseased blood, saying it is superior to any preparation he has ever used.

Rev. DABNEY BALL, of the Baltimore M. E. Conference, South, says he has been so much benefited by the use of ROSADALIS that he cheerfully recommends it to all his friends and acquaintances.

"Strive to make a good impression wherever you go," said Jones, as he pulled his foot out of the mud.

Mrs. H. C. Edwards, Newbern, N. C., says: "I am glad to testify to having been benefited by Brown's Iron Bitters."

A good Baptist clergyman of Bergen, N. Y., a strong temperance man, suffered with kidney trouble, neuralgia and dizziness almost to blindness, over two years after he was told that Hop Bitters would cure him, because he was afraid of and prejudiced against "Bitters." Since his cure he says none need fear but trust in Hop Bitters.

There are some men so talkative that nothing but the toothache can make one of them hold his jaw.

"I buy Dr. Benson's Celesty and Chamomile Pills and introduce them wherever I go. Personal knowledge and experience of their effects on others prompts this act." Rev. J. P. Fugett, Rector St. Luke Ch., Myersburg, Pa. 50 cts. at druggists.

STRENGTH

to vigorously push a business, strength to study a profession, strength to regulate a household, strength to do a day's labor without physical pain. All this represents what is wanted, in the often heard expression, "Oh! I wish I had the strength!" If you are broken down, have not energy, or feel as if life was hardly worth living, you can be relieved and restored to robust health and strength by taking BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, which is a true tonic—a medicine universally recommended for all wasting diseases.

501 N. Fremont St., Baltimore. During the war I was injured in the stomach by a piece of a shell, and have suffered from it ever since. About four years ago it brought on paralysis, which kept me in bed six months, and the best doctors in the city said I could not live. I suffered fearfully from indigestion, and for over two years could not eat solid food and for a large portion of the time was unable to retain even liquid nourishment. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters and now after taking two bottles I am able to get up and go around and am rapidly improving. G. DECKER.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is a complete and sure remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Weakness and all diseases requiring a true, reliable, non-alcoholic tonic. It enriches the blood, gives new life to the muscles and tone to the nerves.
