Where are all of the North Carolina book and job printers? It does seem to us a sin and a shame that work that can be done at home, by our own people, should be given to outsiders, even if it costs a little more to do it here.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Chas.

passed a successful primary examinahas now successfully matriculated.

There were 160 examinees, only 40 of whom passed, and Charley was one of the successful ones. He is now a regular cadet at West Point.

Serious Accident.

Yesterday evening as the freight train on the W. & W. Railroad was coming down the hill near Fifth street, a colored man named Jeff Williams, and who hails from Laurinburg, N. C., jumped from the car, on the side next to the W. & C. A. track, upon which a train was moving in the opposite direction.
The man, in striking the ground, tripped and fell and before he could get out of the way the approaching engine ran over and fearfully mangled one of his feet besides inflicting other injuries, from which it was thought that he could not recover. He was taken to the city hospital as soon after the accident as possible, where this morning Dr. Lane, city physician, amputated the wounded foot. In an examination this morning it was found that the man's skull was cracked besides having a severe flesh wound on the side of his face and head. He is about 25 years of age and was intoxicated at the time of the accident. At last accounts he was fully as comfortable as could be expected, and may, possibly, recover.

Messrs. A. & I. SHIRER have received, per express, a large lot of Children's Blouse Suits made up very handsomely in different shades, which they will sell at astonishingly low prices. Call early and procure a suit for the boys.

The Fourth at Burgaw.

The day dawned gloomy and obscure to those who had anticipated a joyous festival and who had spent many days in preparation for the event. At a little after the arrival of the first train from Wilmington, which contained quite a throng, notwithstanding the threatening aspect of the weather, the rain, which had been falling in gentle showers since a little after midnight, began to pour down in torrents, soon making the streets almost impassable on account of the mud and water, and continued until near noon. The train from the North brought a crowd of visitors, while vehicles and conveyances of almost every description poured in from the surrounding country, until it was estimated that there were 2,000 strangers in the town. Many of these sought a retreat from the pelting storm with friends and acquaintances who resided in the place, while many went to the hotels and other shelter offered them by the kind and generous-hearted people of Burgaw.

At about noon the storm ceased for a few moments, when a procession was hastily formed under the direction of Chief Marshal Dr. W. T. Ennett, and his assistants, and preceded by the Wilmington Cornet Concert Club, marched to the ground, where the corner stone of the new Court House was laid by the Grand Lodge of North Carolina with the imposing and impressive Masonic ceremonies, under the direction of Acting Grand Master H. H.
Munson, of Wilmington. The following articles were deposited in a casket under the stone:

Copy of the act creating the County of Pender; Copy of act locating County site and permanent seat of justice of Pender County; vote of the County locating the County seat; List of County officers, including the Judge and Solicitor of Third Judicial District, Member of Congress from Third Congressional District and members of the legislature; copy of act incorporating town of Burgaw, the census of the town and names of attorneys-at-law and hotels; county seal; plan and specifications for the Court House with the name of architect; name of builder, layer of first brick and maker of the same; $500 Confederate note; German, English, Italian, Prussian, Norwegian, Russian, Nova Scotian, Swedish, Danish, Darmstadt, Duchy of Holland, Duchy of Brunswick, French, Belgian, Hessian, and King of Hanover coins; five cent piece—new issue; copy DAILY REVIEW, July 3d, 1883; copy Morning Star, July 4th, 1883; copy Transcript and Messenger, June 29th, 1883; piece of music by the Wilmington Cornet Concert Club; list of charter members Clinton & Pt.
Caswell Railroad; list of Commissioners of the town of Caswell; Webster's Elementary Spelling Book; list of officers of the Masonic Grand Lodge of North Carolina officiating in the ceremonies; list of officers and members of King Solomon Lodge, F. and A. M., at Burgaw.

After all the ceremonies attendant upon the laying of the corner-stone had been duly observed, the procession was reformed and marched to a large arbor, which had been prepared near by, and under which a rostrum had been erected, where the speaker selected for the occasion, Mr. F. H. Busbee, of Raleigh, delivered an appropriate, scholarly and eloquent address, but which, owing to the inclement weather, was somewhat emasculated. There was a large and interested audience in attendance to listen to the eloquent words of the speaker, but soon umbrellas began to be raised, and people began to seek friendly shelter from the impending rain, which soon poured down in torrents and continued to fall until about four o'clock. By this time the streets were a sea of mud and water, and those who had been so unfortunate or so careless as not to have obtained shelter were in a miserable and forlorn-looking condition from the wet and mud with which their clothing was saturated and dragged. Such was the condition of the streets and the people, that there was no prospect for amusement or pleasure at that late hour, and as soon as the sun began to shine, many started for their homes, in order to secure rest from their fatigue and dry and comfortable clothing.

It was a day of bitter disappointment to hundreds of the citizens of Pender and the adjoining counties who had looked forward to the pleasures of a good, old-fashioned "Fourth of July" in fond anticipation, and had made extensive preparations for the occasion.
The people of Pender County, as well, had entered into the spirit of the time in right good earnest, and had it not been for the weather at Burgaw would have witnessed a day such as it had never seen before. Ample preparations had been made to feed the multitude, and it was truly regretful to see such quantities of nicely cooked and rich and appetizing food absolutely wasted as was the case yesterday. We think there is no exaggeration in saying that the abundance of food on the tables yesterday would have amply fed 5,000 people, while it was estimated that there was equally as much more which had been prepared but was not brought into town on account of the weather.

The good people of Burgaw kept open doors and their hospitality was cordial, unostentatious and we might say, limitless. Every one was welcome and all were cordially greeted. Husbands and wives and mothers and daughters seemed to vie with each other in a spirit of emulation to make the gloom and sad disappointments of the day pass as lightly as possible. Rooms and piazzas were thronged with visitors, each bringing necessarily a quota of mud and wet, while children romped and played in the passages, making altogether confusion, dirt and litter which it will take much hard labor to remove and make the dwellings again as tidy and presentable as a Pender housewife can generally boast. Everything was turned topsy-turvy, yet it was 'all right,' and the ladies, whose real work began after the throng had left, were as cheerful and good-natured as though there was no such thing as mud upon their floors.

The Wilmington Cornet Concert Club furnished music for the occasion, and it is but an act of simple justice to say that, considering the very limited practice they have had, they discoursed excellent music in a very effective and skillful manner, reflecting credit upon themselves as well as upon this city.

There was but very little disorder during the day and incipient disturbances were promptly quelled by the town authorities.

The late afternoon hours were pleasant and had it not been for the mud, which made walking almost impossible, would have been delightful. At about dark those who were to return to the city began to gather into the two cars, which the courtesy of the railroad authorities had placed upon a side track, to wait for the train which was to bear them home, and which arrived in due season, and we left, thus ending the celebration of the Fourth of July at Burgaw.

City Court.

The Mayor's reception this morning was well attended and the proceedings were unusually interesting. The first case was that of John Lane, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, upon whom a fine of $2 was imposed.

Joseph Chapman, also colored, charged with a like offense, was sent below for 30 days.

Then came in quick succession three colored females named respectively, Fanny McDonald, Mary Davis and Henrietta Watson. These were all charged with disorderly conduct, the charges were all sustained and a fine of $5 was imposed with the alternative of 20 days in each case in the city prison. The entire list took quarters below.
