The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

The Emperor William, it is said, is well in good health.

Prince Hohenzollern-Luenburg, of Germany, is about to make a tour to the United States.

Mary Crowell won the literary essay prize at the Vanderbilt University over one hundred and twenty-one young men.

The tax rate in New York for 1883 will approximate $2.29. Incorporated companies will pay only about two per cent. taxation.

Capt. Webb's body has not been recovered. His manager offered a reward of $500 for its recovery and then returned to New York.

Local option is being discussed in the Georgia Legislature with inclinations favorable to its adoption as the best solution of the temperance question.

The New England farmers think it is pretty hard that the cigarmakers' locks-out should occur just as the cabbage crop is getting along so as to be available as fillings.

Thirty-seven sporadic cases of cholera are reported in Bombay. When such mortality shows itself thus early in the season it means that there will be an epidemic later on.

The United States mints issued 324,000 standard silver dollars last week. The government will have to rent more storage room for its accumulating surplus of silver coin.

A dispatch from Rome, dated 26th, says that information has been received at the Vatican from New York that the Catholic clergy in the United States will follow the instructions of the Pope in regard to Mr. Parnell and his followers.

Ex-President Davis and his daughter were seen by a reporter who visited a seashore campmeeting, near Biloxi, the other day, sitting bareheaded under a pine tree, listening to a sermon. Both father and daughter joined in the singing.

The Washington Star argues that the present strike of the operators is likely to have one effect that the telegraph company has not calculated upon. The interruption to correspondence by wire has demonstrated to business men the celebrity and certainty of the mails, and how easy it is to do without the telegraph in many cases where it has been used.

The Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette contains letters from four of the Democratic Congressmen from Arkansas on the tariff and speakership. All are outspoken for a revenue tariff. Jones and Peel are openly for Carlisle, Rogers is uncommitted, but in favor of Carlisle, and Breckenridge is uncommitted, but pronounced against Randall or other protectionists. No letter is furnished by Dunn.

The pressure upon the telegraph companies from within and from without to yield to the demand of the operators grows daily harder to resist. The Western Union Company is losing $200,000 a day by the strike, and the public is rapidly losing patience with it. "It is a good time," says the New York Times, "for Mr. Jay Gould to lay the blame on his wicked partners, rebuke them, and come out as the operator's friend."

A writer in the London Truth airs this unkind opinion: "The strongest arguments against the enfranchisement of woman is, to our mind, the power it would throw into the hands of the clergy. Of course, the ladies who so energetically advocate the cause of their sex upon public platforms would not be particularly amenable to this influence. But the vast majority of their weaker sisters would undoubtedly have recourse to their pastors, not only for ghostly counsel and advice, but also for political principles."

The Philadelphia Record thinks that should Mr. Tilden be made the next Democratic candidate for President the platform on which he was elected in 1876 would not need much amendment. The resolution which so vigorously denounces the tariff as "a masterpiece of injustice, inequality and false pretense," and demands that "all customhouse taxation shall be only for revenue," can hardly be changed, since the legislation of last Congress has but slightly modified the tariff.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, JULY 28, 1883. NO. 179

Additional advices from Darban relative to the death of King Cetewaye at the hands of the insurgents state that all of his wives and many of his chiefs were also killed and we suppose by this that the race of Cetewaye is now extinct.

A dispatch from Baltimore, dated on the 26th, says of the funeral of the remaining victims of the horrible disaster near that city:

The remaining victims of the Tivoli calamity were buried to-day from Corpus Christi Catholic Church. The interior of the church was draped in mourning, and the auditorium was thronged with relatives and friends of the victims. Caskets containing the remains of three young ladies, members of the congregation, were before the altar at one time, one of the corpses being borne into the church as the mass of requiem was being chanted. In another part of the city a young woman was buried with her infant child clasped in her arms, just as they had been taken from the water. Another funeral was that of a young couple who were to have been married in a few days. They were taken from the water clasped in each other's arms.

We counted 64 market carts at the new Market House this morning and the display of fruits and vegetables was excellent.

We have added quite a number of new subscribers to our list along the line of the Carolina Central during the past two days.

Rev. Thos. W. Brown, Chaplain of the Church Charity Foundation, of Brooklyn, will preach to-morrow morning at St. James' Church.

There was two large boat-loads of watermelons at Market dock this morning. They were nice in appearance and went like dew before the morning sun.

The crops along the line of the C. C. R. R., are in a flourishing condition. Cotton is said to be one-third better than is usual at this season of the year. While corn, in most places, is fully up to the "general run." In some localities rains are needed, but the crops are not actually suffering from the want of rain.

Mr. Orrin T. Thomas leaves for New York next week to resume his studies. He will take up several new branches but owing to popularity and large demand he will make crayon India ink and pastel portraits a specialty. During his absence he will have a new studio fitted up with an entrance from the street.
A fine assortment of Guns and Pistols at JACOBI'S Hardware Depot.

Laurinburg High School.

From the Principal, Prof. W. G. Quackenbush, we have received a catalogue of Laurinburg High School for boys for the fourth year, which ended last month. There are 129 in all in the list, in which we notice the names of Masters Geo. J. Bridgers, Douglas T. Cronly, Geo. A. Huggins, J. Starr Johnson, Robert B. Lewis, Roger Moore, W. Harris Northrop, Uel M. Robinson and Robt. L. Williams, from this city.

Sudden Death.

Mr. John D. Woody, of the firm of Woody & Currie, received a telegram this morning from Batesburg, S. C., stating that his brother, Ira Woody, died very suddenly at that place at about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. No particulars have been received as to the cause of death. Mr. Woody, of this city, will leave on to-night's train for Batesburg, to attend the obsequies of his brother. The deceased was about 35 years of age and was formerly engaged in mercantile pursuits at South Washington, Pender county, whence he removed to South Carolina about four years ago.

In View of the End.

Mr. Isaac B. Kelley, Sr., of Keenansville, Duplin county, whose serious sickness we mentioned several days since, is no better, but is continually growing weaker. His physicians say that he may possibly live a month, or even two months, but that he is liable to be taken away at almost any moment. Mr. Kelly has been informed of his condition and expresses his entire resignation in contemplation of the approaching end of a busy, active and honored life, and has recently made a profession of religion, and has been baptized and duly admitted into the Presbyterian Church in that town.

The Railroad Meeting.

The meeting of the stockholders of the Wilmington, Clinton & Point Caswell R. R., to be held at Clinton on Wednesday next, promises to be a very interesting one. In addition to the stockholders from this city who will attend Mayor Hall will also go up with the idea of urging the extension of the road to Wilmington and also on to Fayetteville, possibly in connection with the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R.—This is no idle scheme, be it said, but one which has been carefully considered and which has good foundations upon which to rest.

The Power of a Smile.

If there is anything in the world that has more power than a smile, when it is shot off from the right kind of a gun, we have never seen it. The smile of a girl will draw a young man from his mother and bad company. It will teach him to be a man and he will, if he loves the girl, do nothing that would chase the smile away. The smile of the mother will conquer the wayward child and compel it to come into camp to be spanked or caressed. The smile of a teacher can do more with a pupil than a bundle of hazel brush. A good, old fashioned, natural, unaffected smile costs nothing, wears out no costly machinery; but rather oils it and makes it run smooth, and is a medicine that we all like to take, and it leaves no bad taste in the mouth.

An Enterprising Establishment.

The New York Journal of Commerce says that the largest sale of cotton goods that has taken place in this country since 1878 was held in New York July 26th. There was an immense assemblage of prominent and interested buyers from all parts of the country. There was sold over 11,000 packages of leading domestics. The list of purchasers contains the names of the largest jobbing houses in this country and we notice among them, those of Messrs. Aaron & Rheinsteim, of this city, the representative wholesale dry goods firm of the State, who lead the list as reported in the Journal of Commerce. We learn that they purchased largely at this sale and that they were also among the heaviest purchasers at the recent sale of 1,800 cases of blankets. Mercantils will find this establishment a convenient and congenial place to visit when in the city.

Mr. S. VanAmringe has taken out a license as auctioneer, and will sell in front of the Court House all stocks, bonds, real estate, &c., entrusted to him for that purpose. He has had years of experience, and knows all of the machinery of the business. This, be it understood, will not conflict with the duties of his official position.
