The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 29 bales.

Capt. J. M. McGowan, of the "North State Saloon", No. 6, South Front St., in an address today's paper, reminds the lovers of cool beer that he still has it on draught.

The druggists of this city will take the members of the Pharmaceutical Association to the Seaside Park Hotel to-night where they will find a supper prepared for them. Mine host Perry has also tendered them a complimentary treat.

The druggists of Wilmington will give an excursion to Smithville and the Port tomorrow, the 9th inst., on the Prosper, complimentary to the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association. We tender thanks for an invitation, through Mr. J. H. Hardin, Local Secretary, to attend.

Capt. A. D. Cazaux reached home from his trip to Europe, last night. He sailed from Liverpool for New York in the steamship Adriatic, and reports that the business which called him away was satisfactorily arranged and that we may expect, during the cotton season, to see several steamers here to take cotton direct to Liverpool and other European markets.

Personal.
Mr. E. P. Bailey, of the firm of Hart, Bailey & Co., who has been absent in Europe for the last two months, has returned, having reached this city last night. He was a passenger in the steamship Fulda, from Bremen for New York, and reports that he had a pleasant passage, besides a good time generally since he has been absent.

The Army Worm.
As an answer to queries propounded a few days since relative to the cotton worm, we have received the following, which we publish with pleasure:

EDITOR REVIEW.—In reply to B. J. Jr., from Scott's Hill, N. C., allow me to say to him that my experience with the army worm is to put my pigs and small hogs in the fields infested by them and in a very short time the worms will be all eaten up and new vegetation will come. This is a sure preventive.
Very respectfully,
W. J. BONEY.

A Desperate Blow.
Two colored men, George Carey and John Hill, employed at the Newkirk place, on Wrightsville Sound, now occupied by Mr. James Cowan, had a quarrel yesterday noon when the former drew a knife and cut the latter on the side of the head, the neck, back and forehead, in the last of which the knife blade penetrated the skull and was broken off. The wounded man, who is about 19 years of age, was brought to this city to Dr. Potter, who succeeded in removing a portion of the blade about an inch long without much difficulty, but the point still remained. The scalp was removed to the skull and many ineffectual efforts were made to remove the remaining point, and it was only after repeated attempts that it was extracted. The wound was then dressed and the patient taken to the city hospital, and at last accounts was as comfortable as could be reasonably expected. Dr. Potter was assisted in the operation by Drs. Norcom and Schonwald.

George Carey, the assailant, escaped. He is a married man—his family residing in this city—and has the reputation of being a quarrelsome and turbulent man. At last reports he had not been arrested, although we understand that a warrant has been issued for his apprehension.

GRAPE CULTURE.

Experiments of Captain S. W. Nobles, Near this City.

For the past six years Capt. S. W. Nobles has been experimenting in grape culture, near this city, and has completely refuted, by his results, the oft repeated and argued assertions of theorists that bunch or cluster grapes would not ripen in this locality, and that the soil and climate were totally unfitted for the cultivation of exotic fruits. He asserts and plainly demonstrates with accomplished results that the theorists either were arguing from theory and willfully neglecting to test grape culture in this climate or that they were governed by the bare assertion of persons who had never given the matter of grape culture a fair trial. Capt. Nobles has proven himself to be a philanthropist to the Cape Fear section, and in order to encourage others to come here and engage in the good work of tilling the soil and growing remunerative crops, has kindly given us for publication the results of his experimental labor in grape and small fruit culture. He, besides being a practical farmer, is a man of intelligence and has put his reading and book learning in pomology to a practical test with the most satisfactory results. These experiments, as he terms them, were all made in connection with his farming and consequently, but a very small portion of his time, comparatively speaking, has been devoted to the new industry. In the fall of 1877 he started his experiments in cultivating bunch grapes, having purchased a few vines, one of each variety, from nurseries. Now he has over one hundred varieties which embrace the Flowers, Mish, Hopkins, Isabella, Catawba, Delaware, Concord, Perkins, Ives, Martha, Salem and Scuppernon of the old varieties, and of the new he has the Vergeunes, Prentiss, Lenoir, Lady, 20 of Rogers' Members, 4 of Arnold's and many others, including the Malaga, which are very desirable. He has now 400 vines in bearing, 12,000 growing, and will set out this fall at least 24,000, and possibly more. He has in the past two years endeavored to hybridize some vines, but cannot tell as yet what will be the result. We were shown over his vineyard yesterday and never saw a more luscious looking sight than the well filled trellised vines as they fairly groaned under their weight of ripe and delicious fruit. The grapes were all uniformly ripe and were a sight well calculated to make one enthusiastic over the subject of grape culture. In a space of 1 of an acre of ground was at the least calculation $100 worth of ripe grapes, if sold at the reasonable price, say about 6 cents per pound, at which Capt Nobles disposes of his harvest. He says that the secret of the fruit ripening uniformly is in cultivation and pruning. It is not so much trouble to cultivate grapes as it is to grow corn, and the crop on our soil is far more remunerative. As a further evidence that this climate and soil are peculiarly adapted to grape culture we have but to state that Capt. Nobles' harvest is now ripe. All of his fruit has ripened at least two weeks in advance of that grown in other portions of the State, and it is a matter of much regret that his crop will all have been gathered before the meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association in this city on the 22nd inst. He is of the opinion that a grape of sufficient body can be successfully cultivated here to make raisins. When the fact is taken into consideration that grape vines are easily propagated and that they need no protection in this climate in the winter, we see no reason why this locality should not eventually be a famous grape growing belt. Capt. Nobles has called our attention to the fact that Wilmington is three degrees South of the latitude of San Francisco and the grape growing belt of California, while Portugal and the grape growing belt of the old country including the Islands of the Mediterranean Sea, where the famous Smyrna and Malaga grapes are raised are in or about the same latitude of Washington City, and hence several degrees north of the latitude of Wilmington. But in connection with this matter we must not lose sight of the fact that the now renowned grape-growing belts of the world are on the West side of the continent, where the temperature is warmer in the same latitude than it is on the Eastern coast by two or three degrees, yet after allowing the difference usually accorded, we have a climate about similar to that of the grape-growing belts. It is the expression and teachings of all intelligent pomologists that a light, porous sandy soil is best fitted to the cultivation of the vine, and it would appear at a casual view of the subject, even if we did not have positive proof of the fact, that the soil and climate of the Cape Fear section were peculiarly adapted to this industry.

In addition to the efforts of Captain Nobles, we find upon inquiry that others in this city have experimented with exotic grapes with the very best results, and their experience adds new weight to the already proven fact that we have a grape climate and soil. Three years ago a little grand daughter of the late Henry Nutt, Esq., planted the seed of a Malaga grape in a flower pot, and in due time the tender vine forced its way through the earth in which the seed was planted, and grew luxuriantly during the Summer. Mr. Nutt, thinking that the vine would not stand the climate, took no pains with it and let it stay out in the yard during the Winter. In the Summer, to his great surprise, he found that the vine was alive and had not been injured in the least. He then took it out of the pot and planted it in his yard and trained the vine on a trellis. Just before he died he was rewarded for his care of the vine by sixty well developed bunches of Malaga grapes, which were of delicious flavor and equaled the imported fruit. Mr. W. A. French, Mr. Jas. W. Collins and Mr. Geo. R. French, Jr., have grown and ripened the Malaga grape, while the latter has also successfully experimented with the Black Hamburg. He plucked from his vine last Summer a number of bunches which had "shouldered," two of which he weighed and found that each cluster turned the scales at 1 1/2 pounds.

Capt. Nobles has not only experimented in grape culture, but has given some attention to small fruits. Four years ago he purchased a wild Goose Plum, a fruit of excellent flavor, and propagated from it. The next year he had 40 trees, the third year he had 300, and this year he has 7,000 plants or grafts which are from 4 to 5 feet high. He says that in this climate the grafts will absolutely bear the first year after being set out. He let a gentleman of this city have one of the trees, and in eighteen months after it was grafted it ripened nineteen perfect plums. He has also on his place 3,000 peach trees in bearing. He has forty varieties and propagated them from trees which he bought. Besides the bearing trees he has 30,000 seedlings now ready for budding and grafting. He has also 1,000 apple trees in bearing and 5,000 seedlings. It is a rule with him, whenever he hears of a fruit to purchase a few trees at any price and propagate them from them. In order to thoroughly test our climate and soil he has experimented with the pear, apricot, goose berries, and currants and has been successful with them. Now, in conclusion, we think it has been clearly demonstrated that our soil and climate are peculiarly adapted to grape culture, and we hope at no distant day to see and know that the Cape Fear section is a renowned grape growing belt.

Well Said.

The Atlantic Steam Fire Engine Company, of Newbern, held a meeting on the 6th inst., at which they passed a series of resolutions unanimously, which were highly commendatory to our citizens and especially to our gallant firemen. They are as follows:

First, That the recent visit of this company to the city of Wilmington, disclosing the unbounded hospitality and generous spirit of its citizens, and especially of its gallant Fire Department, has impressed every member of this company, and kindled an appreciation of the enterprise, energy and zeal of our sister city, which will remain with us through all the changes and hardships of the future.

Second, That the officers and members of the Wilmington Steam Fire Engine, No. 1, and of the Howard Relief Fire Engine No. 1, not only won the admiration and gratitude of this company, by their hospitable and kindly treatment of us, but also called forth our highest emulation by their dexterity and skill as firemen, the admirable equipment and management of their engines, and their noble acknowledgment of our humble claim as brethren engaged in the same war against a common enemy.

Third, That it is our desire to perpetuate the kindly feeling thus begun, to render enduring the auspicious friendship thus established between the Neuse and Cape Fear, and that we will extend to the gallant firemen of our sister city a cordial welcome, whenever it may suit their convenience, to the City of Elms.

3th, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Company No. 1, and to the Howard Relief Fire Engine Company No. 1, and also published in our city papers.

Meeting of the Pharmaceutical Association.

(MORNING SESSION.)

The annual meeting of the Pharmaceutical Association convened in Tienschen Hall, in this city, this morning. Forty members were present and eight new applicants were added to the list of membership. Those in attendance were fine looking, and form a very attractive and intelligent looking body of men.

The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock by the President, Mr. Wm. Simpson.

Col. E. D. Hall, Mayor of the city, delivered an address of welcome to the members, tendering them the freedom of the city. Dr. W. H. Green delivered a terse address in behalf of the druggists of Wilmington. The addresses were responded to by Mr. J. G. M. Cordon, of Tarboro, on behalf of the visitors in a very happy and effective manner.

The following named gentlemen answered to the roll call:

S R Biggs, Williamston; Wil N Bobbitt, Rockingham; J G M Cordon, Tarboro; H O Farman, Oxford; W H Green, Wilmington; A L Grimes, Thomasville; G C Goodman, Mooresville; F W Hancock, Newberne; Jno B Hanks, Jno H Hardin, Wilmington; W W Hargrave, Wilson; E F Hatch, Jno H Hill, Thos B Hill, Goldsboro; J C Hood, Smithfield; Jas I Johnson, Raleigh; Jas W King, W R Kingsbury, Wilmington; G L Kirby, Goldsboro; A S Lee, Raleigh; S R W Martin, Winston; E H Meadows, Newbern; F C Miller, J C Munds, J D Munds, W C Munds, Wilmington; H M McDonald, La Grange; Jno K McIlhenny, Wilmington; E M Nadel, Wilson; J D Nutt, Wilmington; L Richardson, Seima; B T Simmons, Weldon; Wm Simpson, Raleigh; T C Smith, Charlotte; J P Stedman, Raleigh; Jno H Stevens, Monroe; V O Thompson, Winston; A P Thorp, Rocky Mount; John Tull, Morganton; E V Zoeller, Tarboro.

The following named gentlemen were admitted to membership Messrs. J. M. McMinn, Hendersonville; J W Conoley, Wilmington; Wm Anderson, Wilmington; B S Royster, Williamsboro; H. H. Lyons, Asheville; H W McNat, Shoe Heel; Geo Everington, Laurinburg; Jno W Harrison, Macon.

The reports of the President, Secretary and Treasurer, were read and referred to committees.

Dr W H Green, President of the Board of Pharmacy, read his report which was accepted.

Charlotte was selected as the place to hold the next annual meeting of the Association.

After the appointment of the usual committees the meeting adjourned until 2 o'clock.

In an ante room adjoining and connected with the Hall in which the Association holds its meeting, Messrs. W. H. Brown & Bro. of Baltimore have a very fine display of bulk extracts, and fine toilet articles, plush perfumery boxes, and a very handsome display of satin goods, all of which they make a specialty. Mr. F. D. Green, who is at the head of that department of the house, is displaying and showing the goods, while Mr. Thomas B. Hill, a traveling salesman of the house, has a very fine and full line of samples on exhibition.

Messrs Brunhill & Bros of this city have about 10,000 cigars on exhibition which were made in their establishment in this city, the Champion Cigar Factory. The display is very creditable and we are pleased to see that they are not hiding their light under a bushel, but are showing to the visitors what is being done in this city.

Mr. Joseph B. Weaver representing Young, Ladd & Coffin, of New York, has a fine display of Lundborg's perfumes.

Sharp & Dohme, of Baltimore, have a large and varied display of pills, fluid extracts, syrups, roots, and herbs. They are represented by Mr. John A. Wellington who is assiduously showing and talking up his goods.

Messrs Munds Bros. of this city and New York, have a pretty display of hand painting satchel powders. All of the displays are very creditable and interest much the druggist for whose inspection they are laid out.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
The meeting was called to order at 3:30 o'clock.

The committee on Education asked to be and were continued until the next meeting.

The Auditing committee reported that they had examined the books of the treasurer, Dr. A. S. Lee, and had found them correct and well kept. Mr E V Zoeller, delegate to the last meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association, made his report which was ordered printed.

At this juncture we were compelled to close our report.

The next meeting of the Association will be on Friday morning.

Great Closing Out Sale.
