THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, AUGUST 16, 1883. NO. 195

The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

William Black calls his latest novel "Tolens."

The Mormons carried every county in Utah at the recent election.

Judge Jere Black's condition was somewhat improved yesterday.

Major E. A. Burke publicly denies that he is after Senator Jonas' seat.

Lord Chief Justice Coleridge sailed for New York on the steamer Celtic, from Liverpool, on Tuesday.

Regarding the Presidential succession, Congressman Bayne, of Pittsburg, pronounces the pending Arthur boom a humbug.

The New Orleans Times Democrat says that the mixed races will finally exterminate the blacks in San Domingo and Hayti.

Dr. John Allen, who attended President Lincoln when he was shot by John Wilkes Booth, died in New York last Friday.

Governor Crittenden, of Missouri, is a candidate for United States Senator, to succeed Mr. Vest, who also wants to be his own successor.

Marseilles and Paris are now connected by an underground telegraphic cable laid in a cast-iron pipe six feet under the surface.

The Swiss railroad companies now cover a portion of their carriages with a phosphorescent preparation, which makes them visible at night.

Republican papers at the North are disgusted with Hayti. They tried to make North Carolina a Hayti once upon a time and the result is not a Hayti but a hate you.

For every five persons who use tobacco in England, France and Russia, there are fifteen in Germany and North America, twenty-four in Belgium, twenty-eight in Holland.

Two little girls, six and five years old, respectively, have recently traveled alone all of the way from Liverpool to Cincinnati, having been forwarded by steamship and railroad men.

Frank Wilkerson, writing from Colorado, says: "A man can buy land houses, ships and even horses from his friends in safety. But a mine no man can sell, and in selling tell the truth about it."

The Italian Government has received assurance from official sources in America that on the reassembling of Congress, next winter, the abolition of the protective duty on works of art will be proposed.

Ex-Congressman Burdick, of Iowa, hitherto a Republican, has declared himself in favor of the Democratic ticket, and will make thirty speeches in the present canvass. Opposition to prohibition accounts for his change of base.

Most Rev. Michael Logue, bishop of Raphoe, in a letter states that the people in County Donegal have passed safely through the crisis of distress, having been saved chiefly by the charity of the Irish people throughout the world.

Mr. Thomas G. Hunt, the New York merchant who disappeared from his home so mysteriously about six weeks ago, has been heard from on his arrival in Cambridge, England. There is nothing yet known to account for his unexpected departure.

The Newberry (S. C.) Observer announces upon good authority that while Senator Hampton would prefer to retire to private life, "so that he could devote more time to his private business, yet while the people want his services he is at their command."

The worst folly seems to be the silver dollar folly. The gold value of the dollars is a shade less than 83 cents, and the government is expending one hundred thousand dollars to build new warehouses to store them in because it cannot drive them into circulation.

The Masked Man of Paris has arrived in New York provided with $100, which he has deposited with R. K. Fox, and challenges anybody to wrestle with him, Greco-Roman style, for $500 or $1,000 a side and the championship of the world. He is 27 years old, weighs 195 pounds, masked, and is 5 feet 11 inches tall.

D. W. Bushyhead, the old chief of the Cherokees in the Indian Territory, has been re-elected after a bitter contest.

The London Statist says the British army "is a mere caricature as compared with modern armaments, not only in point of size but in efficiency. It has no organized transport system, it has no trustworthy commissariat, and though it is armed with excellent rifles, the men have not been taught to use them."

The Chattanooga Times says Andy Campbell, who killed Gen. John Morgan, was promoted to a second lieutenant of volunteers; afterward he was given the same rank in the regular army. He was a reckless, drunken fellow, disgraced his uniform and was finally, while in arrest for disorderly conduct when drunk, killed in a bar-room brawl at Helena, Arkansas, about 1874.

Mr. Wilkin Roddick is at "Nantasket Beach," as we wrote it, and not at Nantucket Beach, as it appeared in yesterday's issue.

Mr. Geo. N. Harriss has secured a position with Messrs H. Brunhild & Bro., of this city, and has entered upon the discharge of its duties.

Mr. Iredeil Meares returned from Raleigh last night where he has been to consult a specialist in regard to his eyes, which have been causing him much trouble and anxiety of late.

Carpenters are busy putting up the bill boards for the Circus posters, and in a few days they will be covered with flaming pictures of what may be seen in Sells Brothers' forthcoming circus.

General Orders No. 71, issued from the Adjutant-General's office, assigns the Smithville Guards, Capt. Scroggs, to the Second Regiment, as Company H.

Mr. J. F. Johnson, of Shoe Heel, who called in to see us last evening to renew his subscription to the REVIEW, tells us that they had no rain of consequence at that point when he left there yesterday morning, and that the crops were in a sad condition for the want of it.

Thanks to Mr. James D. Jenkins, the Secretary, for a complimentary card to the third annual fair of the Rocky Mount Agricultural and Mechanical Association, to be held at Rocky Mount, October 23rd, 24th, 25th and 26th. We acknowledge the reception of a premium list for this fair.

Lenoir Topic: "We were glad to meet Mr. C. W. Bradley, of Wilmington, this week. We formed a very pleasant acquaintance with Mr. Bradley at Blowing Rock this Summer, and are glad to know that he will remain in Lenoir for some time. The Misses Jewett, of Wilmington, are also stopping in Lenoir."

As it is probable that there will be a large influx of visitors here next week in attendance in the Fruit Fair, it is incumbent upon those in charge of the matter to make all necessary arrangements for their accommodation and hence the notice which appears in this issue requesting all who desire to entertain boarders to communicate at once on the subject with Mayor Hall.

Has Arrived.
Rev. R. W. Sanders, of Chester, S. C., arrived here on this morning's train and will conduct the services at the prayer meeting at the First Baptist Church to night. He will also occupy the pulpit of that church on Sunday next, preaching in the morning and evening. He is stopping at the Purcell House.

The Pistol.
On Saturday last Mr. A. K. Reynolds, of Smithville, had a loaded and cocked revolver in his hand, and in attempting to let the trigger down, his fingers slipped and the hammer came down with force sufficient to discharge the weapon, the ball passing through the palm of his left hand, inflicting a painful wound.

Knights of Honor.
The Grand Lodge of Knights of Honor is in session this week at Greensboro, having met on Tuesday. Mr. N. Jacobi, Grand Guide, Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy, State Medical Examiner, and Col. John D. Taylor, Representative of Carolina Lodge, No. 434, from this city, are in attendance. We hope to have some report of the proceedings to-morrow.

City Court.
The following cases were disposed of by the Mayor this morning:
Wm. Sullivan, colored, disorderly conduct, $5 fine or 30 days in the city prison.
Louisa Davis, colored, disorderly conduct, $5 fine or 20 days in the city prison.
Kate Johnson, colored, disorderly conduct, $5 fine or 20 days in the city prison.
All three offenders went below.

Suicide at Councils.
A note from Mr. J. P. Council, Jr., at Councils Station, on the C. C. R. R., informs us of the suicide of a young colored man, name not mentioned, in the vicinity of that place, on Tuesday, by shooting himself in the breast, with a pistol. He was only about 20 years old, and this was his second attempt of late at self destruction. He had recently professed religion and had entered into the subject with such zeal that his mined had become somewhat unghinged, and in this condition he committed the rash act.

The New Postal Notes.
The new postal notes, which are to be used after September 3 in the transmission of small sums of money thro the United States mails, are now being printed rapidly in New York, and they will be ready for shipment to all the postoffices in the country this week. Every book contains 500 postal note forms, with the address of the postoffice printed on each note. The pages of the books are perforated, so that when the notes are torn out stubs remain to show the amounts for which they were issued. A note can be filled out by a postmaster for any amount not exceeding $5, at a cost to the sender of three cents for each note. The notes are made payable to "the bearer," and they can be used as fractional currency in any place to which they are sent.

The notes are printed on pure linen bank-note paper of the best quality, chemically prepared in such a manner as not to be affected by moisture or exposure to light, while it is sensitive to the action of acids or other liquids often used by forgers. The color of the paper is a pure lemon, and the front surface is printed over with an underlying tint of golden brown—a combination selected by Superintendent Macdonald as being the safest and most suitable for the purpose. The water-marks in the paper, twisted in the form of a figure 8, have the words "U. S. Postal Note" in duplicate—reading from both left and right. These water-marks can be seen only when the note is held up between the light and the eye. Three printings are required to complete the note. In the underlying tint is a vignette consisting of a classical female head wearing a helmet, which was engraved from the portrait of a postmaster's pretty daughter. Much of the tint is made up of miniature photographic designs, containing the words "United States Postal Note" repeated many hundred times, and engraved so finely that one can read the words with the naked eye, while it would be difficult to make a counterfeit. Winged wheels, with a halo from behind, make up a portion of the tint. The back of the note is elaborate and is printed in a dark green. In the centre is the monogram "U. S." engraved with a geometrical lathe. The monogram is imbedded in an intricate cycloidal lace work of white line cutting, the tracings of which were done also with the geometrical lathe.

Getting Ready.
The several committees of the Fruit Growers' Fair are doing good work in their several departments, and it is the exhibition should not prove a success it will not be because of any failure of their's to do their duty. At the City Hall men are engaged in erecting stands and tables for the display of the different fruits and other articles which may be sent for exhibition. These tables and stands will be appropriately trimmed and decorated, so that when loaded with the rich and varied fruits which will be contributed they will present a charming appearance.

A Fine Display.
Mr. Thos. C. Cratt makes a very handsome and elegant display at his new furniture house, on South Front street. He has a beautiful stock, and it is displayed with much taste, and ladies and gentlemen will find much there to admire. He has three floors and a large warehouse, and they are all full of goods, which are being disposed of "as rapidly as circumstances will admit of." The third floor is divided into a wareroom and workshop, and it was in this latter that we saw some of the fibre manufactured by the Acme Works, near the city, being made up into mattresses, furnishing a material for the purpose, Mr. Cratt says, equal, if not superior to moss.

Fatal Affray.
From a passenger who arrived here on the Carolina Central train this morning we learn that a quarrel took place between two colored boys at Wadesboro yesterday, which resulted, fatally to one of them. They were working for Mr. H. Behrends, and got into a dispute, when one struck the other in the neck with a sharp chisel, cutting the carotid artery, which caused death in a few moments. We failed to learn the name of either of the parties, but understand that the murdered boy was about 15 years of age while his assailant was about a year older. The remains of the boy who was killed, accompanied by his father, were brought to Laurinburg, where his family lived. The father's agony at the death of his son was described as intense. The murderer was at once arrested and brought to Rockingham and confined in jail.

New Drug House.
We understand that Dr. A. J. DeRosset and Messrs. Munds Bros. have entered into a business arrangement together and will conduct an extensive drug establishment here. They have leased the premises on the Northeast corner of Market and Second streets, which are to be handsomely arranged for the purpose. They expect to open there early in October, and the firm name will probably be Munds Bros. & Co. This new arrangement will not affect the houses now conducted by Munds Bros. in New York and Wilmington. Mr. J. Theus Munds, will remain in New York. Mr. W. C. Munds will continue to conduct the business on Fourth street and Mr. J. Dickson Munds will be found at the new downtown house.

Your Ancestry.
Yes, my friend, you may find it an interesting and instructive task to study up your genealogical tree, and you may find, by patient research, that some of your ancestors were of noble blood, whose coat of arms you might adopt. By going back twenty generations, allowing thirty years to a generation, you will be carried into the thirteenth century, which will be as far back as you will care to go, and where, if anywhere, you will find a noble ancestry. Your trouble will be in following up the most desirable branch of the family tree, for you will find that your ancestry, in that time, in the direct line, numbered just 1,048,576 persons; no more and no less. You had a father and mother; two grandfathers and two grandmothers; four great-grandfathers and four great-grandmothers, and so on, doubling the number in each generation as you follow the line back. Now, it is much more than probable that a few of those occupied noble stations; many were first class citizens; some were "no great shakes" and some were as mean and contemptible as they well could be. As the proportion of the nobility, so-called, is very small as compared with those in the humble walks of life, you will do well to be cautious, or you will bark up the wrong branch of the family tree. It will be well also to remember that the morals of the nobility at that time as a general thing, were nothing to boast of.

Cramps and pains seize upon the bowels and stomach, for which Dr. Worthington's Cholera and Diarrhoea Medicine is the cure.

Silver Plated Spoons and Forks, low prices, at JACOBI'S

There was a big smash-up on the Statesville bound train on the A. T. & O. R. R., when four miles out from Charlotte, on Tuesday morning. Two flat cars and the mail and express cars were badly wrecked but fortunately no one was hurt. There were a number of passengers, among them several ladies, from Wilmington bound for Asheville, on the wrecked train.

Promotion.
Mr. Wm. Easdale, for some years pas Superintendent's clerk in the Carolina Central R. R. office in this city, has been tendered and has accepted a position in the office of Major Winder, the General Manager, at Raleigh. Mr. Easdale has won for himself an enviable reputation as a gentlemanly, clever and obliging official, and we are glad to know that his merits have been recognized and this promotion accorded him.

Historical.
This is the 106th anniversary of the battle of Bennington, which was fought on the 16th of August, 1777, and made famous by the words of General Stark, commander of the American forces, who said, before the battle commenced, "You see those red coats, yonder. They must be ours before set of sun or Molly Stark will be a widow." The Americans were victorious and General Stark lived to be over 80 years of age.

The Fruit Growers' Fair.
Capt. R. P. Paddison, President of the Fruit Growers' Association, who was in the city to-day, tells us that he has had cheering advices as to the probable attendance and display at the Fruit Fair to be held here next week. He thinks that the number present will surely run up into the thousands and there is good reason to hope for a fine display on that occasion. The Fair is to be held next Wednesday and Thursday.

The celebrated 'Fish Brand Gills Twine' is sold only at JACOBI'S Hardware Depot.
