THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1883. NO. 202

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

The condition of the Court de Chambord continues very critical.

Zorilla, the Spanish agitator, is a tall, dark Castilian, aged fifty years.

Hanlan, the oarsman, has $53,000 called down, all made within the past six years.

Robert Lincoln's eyes were crossed when he was born and were subsequently straightened.

It was thought probable that cars would be run regularly across the big Brooklyn bridge to-day.

Colonel M. V. Sheridan, brother of the lieutenant general, does the press reporting for the Presidential party.

Paris cleans 1,500 miles of streets for $1,000,000 a year, and New York pays $1,000,000 a year for not cleaning 468 miles.

The foot and mouth disease has appeared among the cattle of Spalding County of Lincoln, England, and is spreading.

The cities of the United States are getting in debt. They owe over $400,000 more this year than they did ten years ago.

The local journal of Cape May greatly damaged its popularity by accidentally using a "b" in place of an "s," calling the place a bummer resort.

Mr. Samuel S. Cox will, according to the New York World, receive nearly the entire Democratic vote of his State in his contest for the speakership.

Sunset Cox has about made up his mind to ask Congress next Winter to investigate the conduct of government directors of the Union Pacific railroads.

The sculptor Schilling has been invited to go to Kissingen to make a bust of Prince Bismarck which is to be the final model for all future portrayals of the Prince.

Money continues plethora in New York at 2 1/2 per cent. on stock and laterals, and 2 per cent. on United States bonds. Time loans are 4 1/2 per cent., and prime discount 5 1/2 per cent.

Lord Queensberry is about to purchase an extensive tract of land in Texas. His agent has been making a tour of the country with a view of investing in ranch property and stock.

Many of the so-called milliner shops in New York are said to be private tipping places for fashionable patrons. The increased cost of dresses, etc., is really the price of champagne and other drinks.

Talmage refused to taste the wine which was poured gratis for him at a Kentucky hotel table, even though the waiter assured him that, being weak and home-made, it would not intoxicate.

A canister containing a white powder, which can only be ignited when brought into contact with water, has been found at Plymouth, England. The police believe that the contrivance was intended for use by Fenians.

The marriage of Canuto Pecci, nephew of the Pope, with Miss Bueno, will take place in Paris this month. Mgr. de Rende will bless it, and Mgr. Cattaldi, the prefect of the pontifical ceremonies, will represent the Pope.

Louis Pasteur, the great French naturalist, whose researches into the causes of disease have made his name world-wide, has been granted a pension of $5,000 a year by the French Government in recognition of his services.

It is alleged that among the speculators who were fleeced in the late Wall street operations ex-Governor Cornell, of New York, figures to the amount of a quarter of a million dollars. Some of his friends, however, deny that his losses were so large.

A party of bicyclists have been traveling through the country districts of Poland. They created great excitement among the rural population, who followed them in crowds along the roads, and regarded them with superstitious awe.

Cardinal Manning takes a hopeful view of Irish affairs. Agrarian agitation is at an end. He says the social disturbances are mainly due to the continental secret societies, and that Ireland cannot thrive without England and he is opposed to assisted emigration.

Sarah Winnemucca, the Piute Princess, has written a book concerning the habits of the Pintes. The volume will be issued by a Boston house shortly.

There are rumors in Washington of a consolidation of telegraph companies. A dispatch from that city, dated Wednesday, says:

A rumor was current among the brokers here yesterday afternoon that steps were being taken in the direction of a consolidation of the American Rapid, Bankers' and Merchants' and Postal Telegraph Companies for the purpose of organizing a strong opposition to the Western Union Company. The rumor, however, could not be traced to any trustworthy source.

There is a crusade inaugurated in Massachusetts against Butler. The Boston Traveller publishes several columns of anonymous opinions under the heading "Butler Must Go," which were obtained in response to inquiries sent principally to rank and file members of the Republican party through the State about Gov. Butler's chances of reelection this fall. We quote:

Some 300 wards, cities, and towns are represented, and of course the drift of the reports are anti-Butler. The general Republican opinion is that the Tewksbury investigation has sealed the Governor's fate. But it does not seem to be because his charges were not substantiated, but because he proved too much and "defamed the fair name of Massachusetts." Scattered through the reports there are several which anticipate Butler gains, several of the correspondents writing that their people like a live Governor. The chief significance of the whole eight columns, however, is found in the incidental references to the Republican candidates. It is evident that there is much more widespread disagreement on the question of personal candidacy than existed last year, when there was really very little sectional feeling in the Republican Convention. Henry L. Pierce of Boston, is strongly endorsed in the cities, the correspondents writing from the western counties and from Cape Cod to say that if he is nominated Gov. Butler will make material gains.

The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 3 bales.

The moon enters on its last quarter at 18 minutes past 12 o'clock to night.

Clarendon Council, No. 67, A. L. O. Honor, will meet to-night, at 8 o'clock.

The excursion spoken of for to-night on the Minniehaha has been unavoidably postponed.

Last night was comfortably cool, for the first time this week, and people could sleep without oppression from extreme heat.

There was another display of fireworks last night, in front of the city Hall, and it was witnessed by thousands.

Rain is again very much needed. The streets are dry and dusty, and if this weather continues a few days longer vegetation will suffer.

There was a large attendance on the excursion given yesterday by the ladies of Front Street Church and the occasion was a very enjoyable one.

Rev. T. H. Pritchard, D. D., will commence his pastorate of the First Baptist church in this city on Sunday, the 4th day of November next.

The city is almost deserted to-day, those of our visitors who have not returned to their homes having gone either to Smithville or the Sound.

To-day the thermometer in this office registered 92 degrees, but somehow the day has not seemed so uncomfortably warm as any of its immediate predecessors.

Mr. Isaac L. Greenwald returned to the city last night after a two weeks' trip to the Northern cities, where he laid in his Fall and Winter stock of boots and shoes.

There was a great demand for conveyances to the Sound this morning, by people who wanted to witness the regatta of the Carolina Yacht Club, which was announced to take place at 12 o'clock noon, to-day.

This is the time of the year to lay in supplies of coal and wood. It is both prudent and economical to do so. Some of the weather prophets say we are to have a hard winter, with plenty of snow and ice. Vennor, however, says that both November and December will be mild and rather open. But he is not infallible.

At 3 o'clock this p. m. the thermometer in the office of Messrs. Birdsey & Rankin indicated 96 degrees, which was 2 degrees higher than it has been at that place at any time this year.

Removals.
The Produce Exchange is to be removed on the 1st of October next to the room on the Southwest corner of Water and Princess streets now occupied by Mr. E. J. Powers and by Messrs Birdsey & Rankin and others. These rooms are to be made into one by the removal of the partition in order to make sufficient room for the transaction of the business of the Exchange.

Messrs Cronly & Morris will remove at about the same time to the room on the Southeast corner of Water and Princess streets, and we understand, that Messrs D. L. Gore & Co. will occupy the building made vacant by the removal of Messrs Cronly & Morris.

Postal Notes.
It appears that the postal revenues derived from the sale of postage stamps have fallen off as the time for the reduction of letter postage rates approaches. This indicates that the public is making preparations for the change and are not adding to outstanding stocks of stamps and that when the 1st of October comes a very largely increased demand for the new stamps will be the result. It is assumed that the sales of postal cards next year will be less than those of the fiscal year just ended, but the decrease will be made up in the number of stamps sold. No provision has yet been made for the redemption of three cent stamps and envelopes in the hands of postmasters. This redemption can only take place by act of Congress. It is suggested that these three cent stamps and envelopes can be used for double postage by adding a one cent stamp, and there will be no necessity for their redemption, which would entail a great amount of labor and expense upon the department.

Fair Notes.
The receipts at the gate for tickets to the Fair aggregated $376, a sum much larger than we expected, and one that must be highly satisfactory to the Association.

We have endeavored, during the day, to get the total of receipts and expenditure of the Fair, but as some of the bills have not yet been rendered, have found it impossible to do so. It will probably be three or four days before all the bills will come in. When they do, and the accounts are adjusted and settled, we have been promised for publication a detailed statement of the receipts and disbursements attending the exhibition, which will be an interesting matter to many of our readers.

The hall was kept open last night until 11 o'clock, and was visited by a good many of our people. During the evening nearly all of the fruit was disposed of at private sale and carried away. In consequence of this there was no sale of fruit by auction this morning, as was advertised to take place in yesterday's issue of this paper.

The hall, this morning, looked deserted and bare, and quite a number of ladies and gentlemen, who came to attend the auction sale that was advertised to take place at 10 o'clock this morning, were sadly disappointed when they found nothing but a few interior and decayed apples and grapes, which had been left as worthless, and the floor strewn with the debris caused by the removal of the articles.

The grapes on exhibition at the Fair were some of them rather inferior, for the reason that the exhibition was held too late in the season for the best varieties. Had it been held two or three weeks earlier we have not a doubt that the first premium would have been awarded to Capt. Nobles, of this city, as we have seen within the last month, products from his vineyard fully equal in point of excellence to any we saw at the Fair.

It has been suggested by a good many that should the Fruit Growers' Fair be held in this city again next year, there would be an exhibition such as the South never has seen; and also that it should be held earlier in the season: We endorse the suggestion and have no doubt that the result indicated would follow. The people of this section have been aroused by the exhibition to the importance of the fruit growing interest, and in another year would make ten-fold greater efforts to make a display equal to the best fruit growing counties in the State.

The celebrated "Fish Brand Gills" Twine is sold only at JACOBI'S Hardware Depot.

It is said that the thermometer this afternoon registered 97 degrees at a point on Market street, North side, near Front. This is the highest yet, this season.

Mr. E. T. Draper, Manager of Mr. Julius Samson's dry goods house, returned to the city last night after a few weeks spent in the lake region of Wisconsin. Mr. Draper was accompanied by his eldest daughter, who remained behind on a visit to her uncle in Wisconsin.

Artistic.
We have had our attention called to some new specimens of pastel work and a landscape sketch at Heinsberger's book and music stores. They are the work of Mr. Orin T. Thomas, and were sent here from his studio in New York. We have had occasion to speak commendably of Mr. Thomas' work, while he was in the city, and we think these specimens are fully equal in point of merit to any of his previous efforts.

The Races at Wrightsville.
There was a large crowd present at Wrightsville to-day to witness the races. The new Banks House was occupied for the first time and it is estimated that there were 150 persons on the beach.

The rowing race was won by Mr. A. Lord, of the Kurios.

In the yacht race the Glide won with the Rosa second and the Frolic third. The race was between the yachts Glide, Rosa, Frolic and Foam. The Contest was on the ground, but did not enter. The Foam dropped out of the race on the second round.

Messrs. Richard Bradley, W. R. Kennan and Wash Lamb were the Judges. These were no prizes. This news is by telephone.

The Late Fair.
Compliments are in order now for the gentlemen who so successfully managed and conducted the Fruit Fair held here this week. They had before them in the outset a stupendous undertaking, and one which was extremely doubtful as to results. By the patient and energetic exercise of industry and perseverance they have succeeded in not only gathering together a large number of intelligent producers, but they have succeeded in laying before them the most magnificent collection of fruits that has ever been exhibited in North Carolina.

There were some drawbacks, of course, and some little hitches in the management, but these were to be expected, as a matter of course, and they do not, by any means, detract from the merit of the exhibition. We can only trust that the Fair may be held here again next year and that the same gentlemen may be entrusted with its management, provided they can be induced to accept the undertaking.
