Three months, $1.50; One month, 50 cents. The paper will be delivered by carriers free of charge, in any part of the city, at the above rates, or 10 cents per week. Advertising rates low and liberal. Subscribers will report any and all failures to receive their paper regularly.

The Daily Review has the largest bona fide circulation, of any newspaper published, in the city of Wilmington.

The crops of wheat and other cereals in Russia will be good.

The friends of the outlaw, Frank James, are now confident of his acquittal.

Mrs. Bonanza Mackey has subscribed $10,000 for a box in the Theatre Italiano in Paris.

Frost has appeared already in Central Vermont and also in the lowlands near Leonister, Mass.

The trial of James Nutt, who killed Lyman Dukes, will begin at Uniontown, Pa., on Sept. 6.

The work on the railroad over the Andes is in active progress. The company has material at Buenos Ayres valued at $600,000.

Nearly one thousand soldiers of the Confederate and Union armies are attending the ex-Confederate reunion at Jefferson City, Mo.

On Sept. 2 railway Post Office service on the Northern Pacific Railroad will be opened from St. Paul to Portland, Oregon, 1,920 miles.

Senator Lapham, of New York, cultivates a vineyard near Canandaigua Lake, while Senator Lamar, of Mississippi, raises blooded stock.

At a clam-opening contest at Oceanport, N. J., on Tuesday, Henry W. Herbert opened 500 clams in thirty-five minutes and fifteen seconds.

The Galveston News thinks the cotton crop in Texas this year will be 500,000 bales less than last year's crop. It estimates the product at 1,000,000 bales.

O'Donnell, who killed James Carey, sailed on Tuesday for England, where his trial will take place. The Supreme Court at Cape Town rejected his appeal to be tried there.

There is a drawback to the campaign in Ohio in the illness of Judge Hoadley who has been taken with a malarial attack and has lost nearly two weeks therefrom.

Queen Victoria's recovery from the effects of her fall on the stairs of Windsor Castle, nearly five months ago, is now almost complete. Her general health is greatly improved, and she is in good spirits again.

The insurance companies place the average length of life at forty years. But the average length of life in Great Britain for 1881 appeared to be on the increase. During that year there were twenty-five men and sixty-six women who lived beyond one hundred years. One stout Norfolk yeoman reached one hundred and twelve years.

Paris was wildly excited on last Monday night. The whole city was placarded with proclamations declaring the Comte de Paris King of France as Louis Phillip II. and there is much excitement there. Ten thousand of these placards were torn down by the police but in many places their efforts to tear them down were resisted by the crowds surrounding them.

William H. Vanderbilt is credited by the New York Star with having given away more than $3,000,000 in charity within a comparatively few years. And what of that? W. H., must have an income of at least $10,000,000 a year and if he gives away $3,000,000 in six years he gives far less than the clerk at a salary of $1,000 a year who puts in 50 cents in the box every Sunday with an occasional quarter for the poor of his parish.

Uncle Sammie Tilden has broke out in a new place. He has donned a jaunty sailor hat with a blue jacket and white trousers, very narrow at the top and very wide at the feet, and has gone out from Graystone for a dash of salt water. The New York Sun says the number of trips made during the summer on one of the crack yachts of the New York Yacht Club led to the acquirement of this new taste. He has now engaged Mr. John Roach's magnificent steam yacht Yosemite for the rest of the present season, and it is said that he may order built during the coming winter a steam yacht to excel anything now afloat. Mr. Tilden's friends speak with admiration, not only of the knowledge of yachting that he has picked up in a few weeks, but also of the sterling qualities he has exhibited as a sailor. He faces the roughest weather without the slightest inclination to sea sickness.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, AUGUST 30, 1883. NO. 206

Visitors to Abraham Lincoln's grave keep it constantly decked with flowers.

A church-bell war is about to break out in New York. People who object to the ringing of church bells at unreasonable hours propose to test the legal question as to the right of the ringer in the belfry against the sleeper in his bed.

Baltimore does a large business in peach canning, and the present week is expected to be the busiest one of the season. No waste results from the process, as the parings are sold to distilleries, the stones are used as fuel, and the kernels are sought by confectioners.

Just see how carelessly money is handled sometimes in the government offices. A dispatch from Washington says:

United States Treasurer Wyman and Comptroller Knox have been investigating two instances of carelessness on the part of their employees. Three half sheets of national bank notes bearing the engraved signatures of the Register and Treasurer were recently found among the waste paper of the Comptroller's department and were returned to the office. It was ascertained that a young man who had been assigned to work to which he was not accustomed had accidentally thrown the notes away. On Aug. 14 a package of ten $1,000 United States notes, cancelled, was found on the floor in the redemption division of the Treasurer's office. Acting Secretary French says that while such accidents as these cannot occur without carelessness on the part of some official or employee, yet he does not think the facts furnish cause for the removal of any clerk or employee or for censure of the head of either of the offices in question.

The extent of the outrages committed upon the Jews in Russia may be inferred from the fact that in the single town of Ekaterinoslav as many as 346 houses were wrecked and plundered during the progress of the recent riots, the losses sustained by the Jews aggregating $458,250. Including the fourteen Russians wounded by the troops in quelling the outbreak, the number of lives lost so far has been twenty-eight. At Berchall eighty houses of Jews have been burned, and instances of Jew baiting at other points are numerous. The police and troops are at length acting with energy for the restoration of order.

The Galveston News thinks the cotton crop in Texas this year will be 500,000 bales less than last year's crop. It estimates the product at 1,000,000 bales.

The Fruit Fair Again.

Somebody up in Greensboro (we wonder who it is) writes very handsomely to the Patriot giving an account of the recent Fruit Fair held here and of the experiences of the correspondent while in our city. It is a pleasant article, well worth reproduction, and will be read with much interest by our people. We copy it entire:

"See Rome and die." See Wilmington and enjoy the elegant hospitality of her open handed people and be proud that you are a North Carolinian. Often had I heard of the "Cape Fear aristocracy" and I did not go hence prepossessed. If I saw the representatives of that caste, I confess to a weakness for "blue blood." Cleverer people I never met. Indeed, I am infatuated with Wilmington. It would be a pity to spoil such people with too much of what is called "push." I never saw such pearls in my life and they made Guilford look small by comparison, but these are only raised for private consumption. A magnificent future awaits the Cape Fear country in the development of fruit culture. The soil is sandy and is susceptible of the highest cultivation, while the climate is all that could be desired. For early, high priced fruit Wilmington ought to compete with the more Southern points. One of these days, I am persuaded, it will be so.

The fair was highly creditable, almost as good as the exhibition at Greensboro a year ago. Considering the bad fruit year I might say it was fully up to it. Wilmington almost suffered a panic a day or two before the opening. The fair was a success financially, nearly $300 being left after paying all premiums and expenses. A big item of expense was the exhibition hall. The city opera house had been handsomely fixed up and elaborately decorated for the occasion at a cost of about $500. The visiting attendance was very slim, people having, it is thought, some vague idea that Wilmington is unhealthy. There was never a more mistaken idea. The city is healthy and shows a mortality record that will not suffer by comparison with any city in the State. Mayor Hall, a most captivating gentleman, tells me the city is absolutely free from stagnant water. The few members of the Association who were in attendance were right royally treated. A delightful trip to the Sound and an excursion down the river and outside the bar at Smithville afforded ample diversion and somewhat made up for the torrid heat of the weather. A magnificent ball was given in honor of the Association, but your correspondent thoughtlessly left his dancing clothes at home. The parting scene took place in a room where a half dozen or more were gathered to talk over the fair, criticize what had been done, and to point out what might have been done if so and so had done this, that and the other. It was rather a unique gathering. Capt. Paddison was lying at full length on a hair mattress, literally worn to a frazzle, for no man ever exerted himself as did he to make the fair a success. Mayor Hall was present and at a late hour was about to leave, when Professor Linbeck stopped him, and pulling from his pocket a piece of paper began to read a document which took Capt. Paddison from his bed like a flash of greased electricity. He gained his feet only to be staggered by a well aimed blow from an elegant and handsome gold-headed cane, presented by the members of the Association. Thrice did he gallantly attempt to recover his equilibrium, but it was no go. In despair he succumbed and called Mayor Hall to his rescue. Col. Hall had seen men hors d' combat before, and took in the situation at once. It was handsomely done. We shook hands, promising to meet at Raleigh in October and reelect Paddison president of the Association by ACCLAMATION.

Pomological.

We learn that some of the farmers and others on the Sound who take an interest in the culture of fruit are engaged in budding their trees with the best varieties known in this section. This is the proper season of the year for that kind of work, and as it is a process which requires but little skill, we hope all trees bearing worthless or inferior fruit may be treated in this manner, so that they may be made to produce only the best.

To Builders and others—Go to JACOBI'S for Sash, Blinds and Doors, Glass, &c. You can get all sizes and at the lowest prices.

At 3 o'clock to-day the thermometer in this office registered 81 degrees, which is comfortable enough.

Don't forget the Dime Party at the parsonage of the Fifth Street M. E. church, to-night. It commences at 8 o'clock.

Brig Charles Dennis, from Kennebec river, is lying near the foot of Dock street discharging a cargo of ice for Mr. B. H. J. Ahrens.

A considerable addition is being made to the store of Mr. E. Bellois, on Market street, near Second, in the shape of an extension in the rear, which is to be handsomely fitted up and furnished and opened as a saloon.

One of the beautiful or rather singular sights in the heavens now at midnight, or towards its ghostly hours, is the planet Saturn in quite close conjunction with the bright star Altair, in the Hyades, or head of the bull. Look and see if ever you saw it before.

We learn that the "Phantom Ball," last night at Seaside Park Hotel, was largely attended and was quite an agreeable success. All the participants looked ghostly enough as they glided through the different figures. The envelopes were removed at about midnight.

The Baltimore Oriole commences on the 11th of September and will continue during the 12th and 13th. For the accommodation of those who desire to attend, the Atlantic Coast Line have made a reduction in fare. It will probably be a jolly time and great preparations have been made to have it eclipse, if possible, any of its predecessors.

Our young people ought not to forget the picnic at Duplin Roads, Duplin county, which takes place to-morrow. It is right on the W. & W. Railroad, 36 miles from the city, and there will be plenty to eat and drink, opportunities for dancing to the music of the harpers, and a good time generally may safely be expected.

Exports Foreign.

Schr. Ull Das, Capt. Aquini, cleared to-day for St. Martin's, W. I., with 50,000 feet of lumber, 104,500 shingles, 6 barrels tar, 6 barrels pitch and 1 barrel rosin, valued at $1210.86, shipped by Messrs. Northrop & Cumming.

The Late Gen. Mallett.

We have been reminded that Bishop Green is not the only survivor of the class of 1818, at the University of North Carolina, as stated by us yesterday, in speaking of the death of Gen. Mallett. Dr. Morrison, of Charlotte, a member of that class, is also still alive. Dr. Morrison, it will be remembered, is the father of Gen. D. H. Hill's wife and of Stonewall's Jackson's widow.

Gen. Mallett was at Chapel Hill Commencement two years ago and made a short address on that occasion, which has been printed and will be carefully preserved by those who are so fortunate as to possess a copy. He was 84 years old then and he began his remarks very humorously with the opening lines of the familiar school-boy's speech:

"You'd scarce expect one of my age To speak in public on the stage," which was received with the heartiest laughter and applause.

Personal.

Hon. D. K. McRae has returned from an absence of a month or more at the North looking, we are pleased to observe, much improved in health by his vacation from the cares and duties of his profession.

Mr. A. H. Greene returned to the city last night after a lengthy visit North with his family. He made his headquarters in New York and from thence made occasional visits to many and varied points of interest within easy reach of the city. Mrs. Greene with the children stopped at Winchester for a short time, and on their return will leave Master Greene there at school.

Mr. E. T. Boykin returned to the city last night from attendance upon Bladen Court and remained in the city to-day. He will visit Smithville on the Passport to-morrow in the hope that the trip and the breezes from the ocean may prove beneficial to his somewhat shattered health, and will return to his home at Clinton, Sampson county, on Saturday.

"My wife has found St. Jacobs Oil of exceeding great benefit in rheumatism, with which she suffered much until she used this remedy," says ex-Lieutenant Governor, Norman J. Coleman, of the St. Louis, Mo., Rural World, in a recent communication.
