The Daily Review has the largest single side circulation, of any newspaper published, in the city of Wilmington.

Ex-Senator Tabor is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Colorado.

The Republican papers do not like Judge Field as a possible Presidential candidate.

President Arthur has signified his intention to be present during the Oriole festival in Baltimore.

Ex-Senator McDonald will give Judge Hoadly a lift after filling five appointments to speak in Iowa.

A number of tanks are being constructed in Washington for an artificial ice factory in South Africa.

William Marwood, the British hangman, never, it is said, saw a man hanged until he performed the work himself.

"Sunset" Cox denies the rumor that there is an alliance between himself and Mr. Carlisle in regard to the Speaker. ship.

The famous Wm. L. Yancey was born at the Shoals of Ogeechee, while his mother was visiting her parents at that place.

Judge Devens, ex-attorney general of the United States, absolutely declines in advance the Republican nomination for Governor of Massachusetts.

Hon. Thos. A. Hendricks says that he knows nothing of the so-called "Henderson interview," in which such a decided preference for the old ticket was expressed.

The diseases that the London Lancet says may be conveyed by books are measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria, sore throat, whooping cough, bronchitis and perhaps phthisis.

Senator Williams claims that all but eighteen members of the Kentucky legislature will vote for him for re-election on the first ballot, but the Lexington Press believes that he is mistaken.

The Detroit Free Press thinks, from the result of the trial, that Frank James, instead of being a robber and murderer, must have been, in the eyes of the jury, a pious missionary from the South Sea Islands.

Governor Knott, of Kentucky, has appointed as his Secretary of State the Hon. James McKenzie, formerly a Congressman from the Second Kentucky District, and known all over the country as "Quinine Jim."

Senator Garland, of Arkansas, is of the opinion that the Democrats of that State will send a solid McDonald delegation to the next Presidential Convention of that party. He also thinks that McDonald will receive the nomination.

Mr. W. W. Corcoran, the venerable Washington banker, says he has not been so well for several years as he has been since he went to Greenbrier White Sulphur this year. He will not return to Washington until the end of the season.

The World says that a story comes from Boston that our navy not only has a Secretary but also secretaries, and an officer of the Tallapoosa is detailed to escort. Mrs. Chandler when she visits the Exposition. We hope this story is not true.

In her recent speech before the Freethinker's convention at Rochester, New York, Mrs. Susan H. Wixson indulged in a neat bit of satire when she said that one reason why women went to church was "for the purpose of laying up treasures in heaven, finding it next to impossible to lay up any on earth."

The New York World is of opinion that the triumph of the American Navy was probably reached when the Miantonomoh was put in commission — to be towed to New York. As a matter of precaution a naval tug followed her to pick up the officers and crew in case the Miantonomoh should behave as was expected.

The Washington Star remarks that James Buchanan and Andrew Johnson were neither the highest type of statesmen nor model Presidents, perhaps, but the former issued an executive order prohibiting the use of government conveyances for private purposes, and the latter refused to accept presents of any kind while an occupant of the Presidential chair. Let these points be remembered when comparisons are being made.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII.

WILMINGTON. N. C., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1883.

NO. 216

The death rate of New Orleans is swollen by enormous negro mortality, twice as great as among the whites.

THE STORM KING.

How he Raved all Night Long —Very Little Damage Done Here—High Tides and Floating Bath Houses at the Sound —Blowing Big Guns South of Us &c. &c.

We find it stated in the Philadelphia Record that "Senator Mahone is reported to have resorted to the device of paying his workers in Florida Ship Canal stock, at $7 a share. The worker is told that it will soon be worth $40 a share."

The North German Gazette, Bismarck's organ, has changed its tune with regard to France, its latest utterance implying that if the French Government wishes to embark in filibustering schemes, Germany will not notice them so long as German interests are not prejudiced thereby. And so another spark of warlike anticipation has faded out.

William Marwood, the British hang-
man, never, it is said, saw a man
himself.

John Jacob Astor is said to have deeded his estate, worth about $65,000,- to his only son, W. W. Astor, the United States Minister at Rome. The father reserves an annuity of $100,000 for himself. The Astor idea is practically to entail the family property, and to keep the estate intact from generation to generation, after the custom in England.

The World rebuts Jay Gould's testimony as a self-made American millionaire. It says the Astors are rich by inheritance, and that Vanderbilt, if left to his own resources, would probably have been an oyster or butcher. Many other Northern men could be cited who, now enormously rich, would have not been worth a dollar but for their daddies.

The Philadelphia Record has this:

"It is reported that John Roach said:
'I could build a vessel for the government as cheaply as for a private individual if naval officers were forbidden to interfere with the work.' No doubt he could. But the naval officers who have to go to sea in the naval vessels may be obliged to interfere to see that when the government pays a dear price it does not get a cheap vessel. No one doubts Mr. Roach's ability to build cheaply—for himself.

The Philadelphia Times scores one for Jay Gould: "Let intelligent persons take what view they may of Mr.
Gould's career, they will search in vain for anything of the commonplace. He has simply bought when other people wanted to sell, and sold when other people wanted to buy. As a result he finds himself, at forty-seven, one of the richest men in the world, with ability and discipline to maintain his fortune, and with intellectual resources to enjoy it when the taste for mere acquisition is gone."

There was the usual amount of dullness at the City Hall this morning.

We very much fear that we may hear of some terrible disasters on the coast, although so far none have been reported.

On account of the storm none of the river steamers left here to-day, but remained as snugly as possible at their respective wharves.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer in this office registered 74 degrees, which was three degrees warmer than at the same hour yesterday.

From what we can learn there has been considerable damage to the crops in this section, and especially the rice crops, by the winds of yesterday and to-day, but the details are not yet accessible.

It was fun this morning to see empty flour barrels taken up by the wind on Market street and rolled over and over at almost railroad speed, on the way to Market dock, where they took passage on the broad bosom of the Cape Fear for the unknown vastly deep.

You could hear all sorts of reports to-day relative to the New York and Baltimore steamers, but the truth of the matter is that not a word has been heard here yet relative to any one of them. We do not feel any particular uneasiness as regards their safety.

Sept 11, 1883

The Charleston News and Courier came to us this morning with a handsome map of that city, printed in colors and showing the divisions of the city into twelve wards, by act of the Legislature. It is another evidence of the great enterprise displayed by the News and Courier, but, then, it has an appreciative people to back it up.

Wires Down.

The telephone wires are down between here and the Sound and in many places throughout the city, in consequence of which telephonic communication is almost entirely interrupted.
Workmen are employed this afternoon in repairing the damage and the lines will be all complete by to-morrow and in good working order.

The Rainfall.

An immense amount of rain seems to have fallen here during the prevalence of this storm. In all, the amount yesterday and to-day is 7.60 inches, as we learn from the Signal Office here, distributed as follows: From 7 a. m. yesterday to 3 p. m. .64 inches; from 3 p. m. to 11 p. m. 3.10 inches; from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. to day 3.56 inches and from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. .30 of an inch.

Personal.

Mr. S. Behrends, of the firm of Behrends & Monroe, has returned to the city after an absence of a month or more, during which time he traveled extensively in the North and West, visiting the great furniture manufacturing cities of the country.

Capt. W. W. Carraway, of the Raleigh News and Observer, is in the city with an anxious desire to go to Whiteville to be in attendance at Columbus Court, but the miserable weather has prevented.

Sells' Circus.

There were many laughable occurrences during the day occasioned by the vagaries of the wind, and we are glad that we have no serious accident to record. The top of the Southern Express Company's wagon was blown off just as it had returned to the office from the delivery of packages, and went sailing along threatening to make a forcible entry into Messrs. McDougall & Bowden's saddlery and harness store through one of the windows. It was no unusual sight to see an excited pedestrian chasing a hat which was trundling off on its rim with painful rapidity towards Market dock.

We learn that there was no storm at Columbia, S. C., yesterday, while at Charleston, S. C., and Savannah, Ga., the gale blew at about 30 miles per hour.

Officials on the W. C. & A. R. who arrived here this morning, report that a storm of wind and rain accompanied them all the way from Florence, S. C., to this city, and that at Flemington and Whiteville it blew fearfully.

The maximum velocity of the wind in this city was 39 miles per hour. From passengers who arrived from Smithville last night we learn that it blew a strong gale at that place, but as the telegraph wires are down we are able to give but little account of the storm at that place. The wires are down in almost every direction, and for the present we seem to be cut off from communication with the outside world.

An Ugly Neighbor.

A few days since at Duplin Rodd, Duplin county, Mr. Cornelius Boney, son of Mr. Ephraim Boney, killed in the yard of the latter a rattlesnake which was 5 feet and 10 inches in length, 10 inches around the body, 7 inches around the head, 3 inches between the eyes, and had 14 rattles. This makes the second rattlesnake which has been killed near the same place within the last ten days and both reptiles were nearly of the same size.

at almost railroad speed, on the way to
for the unknown vastly deep.
