MISSISS BURR & JAMES—Female School
CIRCUS—Sel's Brothers—On Fourth page.
W H GREEN—Wholesale and Retail Druggist

The storm signal still floats.
The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 416 bales.

Peter Cowan, the colored man who was sent to the hospital a few days ago, sick with malarial fever, died yesterday.

The big Circus advertisement appears on the fourth page of this issue. It is good reading.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the thermometer in this office registered 75 degrees, just one degree below Summer heat.

The sun made its appearance for a few moments at about 9 o'clock this forenoon for the first time since early on Sunday morning.

Arrangements have already been made to run an excursion train from Shoe Heel, on the C. C. R. R., to Wilmington on the 29 inst., to see the circus.

The dwelling house of Mr. O. A. Wiggins, on Masonboro Sound, was unroofed during the storm of yesterday. We did not learn the full extent of the damage done.

Kit Huggins, Mayor of Paddy's Hollow, was in great distress of mind this morning because, as he said, "the storm of yesterday broke into his room and rained all his books and official papers."

There was lots of fun yesterday afternoon in killing coots in the ricefields on Eagle Island. The tide was over the causeway and a large part of the island and parties paddled about in boats bagging their game.

Last evening Mr. J. E. Farrow paddled across the river in a small boat and in about half an hour killed nine rabbits with his paddle, which were swimming about in the water.

The steamers A. P. Hurt, for Fayetteville, and John Dawson, for Point Caswell, after having been detained here all day yesterday by the violence of the storm, left for their respective destinations at about 6 o'clock last evening.

Sixteen head of beef cattle, together with a cow and calf, reached the city today, some of which were remarkably fine in quality and all above the medium grade. They were from the plantation of Mr. J. B. Winder, of Warsaw township, Duplin county.

Capt. J. H. Savage, Superintendent of the County Poor House, who has been quite sick and confined to his bed for several days, we are glad to say, is convalescent and has so far recovered as to be able to be up and about the house, although not yet able to stand exposure.

All of the fence in front of the Poor House was blown down yesterday, besides a part of the stockade. There were also a good many panels of rail fence about the plantation blown down, and it will take two or three days to put them all in order again.

George A. Mebane, of Raleigh, now the sole editor and proprietor of the Banner-Enterprise, the paper published in Raleigh in the interest of the colored people, and also member of the Legislature, called upon us to-day. He is here in the interest of his paper and says that he is now fulfilling, scrupulously, all contracts made by his predecessors, as well as by himself.

New Millinery.
Mr. S. J. Baker has just returned from the Northern markets and addresses herself to the ladies in an attractive advertisement in this issue. Her new goods will begin to arrive about the latter part of the week and she will therefore be in continual receipt of them for the next two months. We invite the attention of our readers to the announcement she makes to-day.

Astonishing the Cubans.
MANZANILLO, CUBA.—The pharmacists, Messrs. Pedro Cespedes Fons, announce the remarkable cure of Senor D. Jose Ramirez Fornaris, Planter, who suffered from chronic rheumatism, and who was cured by St. Jacob's Oil in three days.

A fine assortment of Guns and Pistols at JACOBI'S Hardware Depot.

The Freshet.

From a letter received in this city this morning we learn that the rain yesterday at Fayetteville was very heavy and continued all day. A telegram received from there to-day states that there had been a rise of 10 feet in the Cape Fear and that the water was still rising. The Raleigh papers reports a very heavy rainfall in that section and we think that there is a great big freshet coming.

The Danger Past.

Fears were entertained this morning that the storm of yesterday would revisit us again sometime to-day, but we think them groundless as this noon the storm centre was East of Cape Hatteras, and moving rapidly with the Gulf Stream in a Northeasterly direction. At that hour strong Northeasterly gales were prevailing on the Southern and Middle Atlantic and New England coasts.

The Rice Crop.

There have been many fears expressed that, in the storm of yesterday, the rice crop, now just ready for harvesting, would sustain serious injury. There has undoubtedly been considerable loss, but we imagine it has been much less than was at first anticipated. Mr. John F. Garrell informs us that his loss will not amount to more than $5. He had not begun to harvest, and anticipating the approaching storm, he let the water on to his rice on Monday, thereby protecting it from damage by the storm. Where rice had been recently cut and was lying on the stubble when the storm came on it will be very much furred and much of it will be lost by being washed away, but where the grain was standing the damage will be inconsiderable. At least, such is the opinion of a gentleman with whom we have conversed on the subject who is well acquainted with its culture.

From Smithville.

The storm at Smithville was very severe and caused much damage.—From officers of the steam tug Utah, which arrived here this morning, we learn that every pilot boat was blown ashore on the flats opposite the town and the Uriah Timmons was sunk, but she lies in such a position that she can be raised without much trouble. A baque and a schooner (names not learned) went ashore, but were soon gotten off, neither having sustained any serious damage. A few small houses in the rear part of the town were blown down and several larger buildings had the tin blown from the roofs. Every wharf on the water front of the town is in ruins, and there is no place left at which a vessel can make fast.

At Federal Point the storm was so severe that the people left the houses to secure safer quarters further inland; and at the Rocks the steam dredge lost all her scows save one. At the latter place a part of the piazza of the hotel was carried away. Fortunately no lives were lost, nor was any person injured at either place.

The W., W. & O. R. R.

E. F. Martin, Superintendent of the W., W. & O. R. R., was in Charlotte on Monday. The Journal-Observer gives quite a lengthy report of his being there, and as one or two items may be new to some of our readers, we copy a portion of the article:

Martin is an old slave of Gen. John B. Gordon, of Georgia, and got his ideas of railroading from his old master. His plan is to form local companies in all the towns of the State, each party subscribing to so many shares in the proposed railroad. He has visited a number of towns, and has enrolled thousands of shareholders. He has already graded six miles of his road from Wilmington to Wrightsville Sound, and says that he will succeed beyond the shadow of a doubt in completing the road. It is proposed to run the road to Wrightsville first, thence to Jacksonville, along the coast, in Onslow county. He talks railroad with surprising intelligence, and says that within the course of three years Wrightsville Sound will be a port of entry, with as fine a breakwater as the Delaware. The country along the line of his road is low and flat, and from Wrightsville to Jacksonville, there will not be a cut over five feet deep. It is exclusively the colored people's enterprise. Rev. J. C. Price is president of the company, and all the other officers and directors are colored. Martin showed us a map of his railroad drawn by a colored draughtsman, and which was excellently executed. He has been working on this project for a long time and has so well succeeded that there is no doubt of his ultimate success.

Last night at the mayor's office, Martin addressed a large crowd in behalf of the railroad, and explained to them his plan of operations, and painted in glowing language the benefits that are expected to accrue to the stockholders from the road. He met with cordial, able encouragement in Charlotte, we learn. Among his list of stockholders are a number of white people.

De Gemman What Saws Wood.

A day or two ago, while the guests of a prominent boarding house in the city were at dinner, regaling themselves with the good things set before them, and temporarily oblivious of business troubles and cares, the door suddenly opened, and in walked, unannounced, a young colored girl and inquired if "de gemman what saws wood" was there. Instantly are of the quick, the guests comprehended the situation and gravely replied "yes" and pointed to a modest young gentleman present with the information that "dar was the gemman what saws de wood," whereupon the girl boldly approached the latter and informed him that Mrs. Blank wanted him to hurry up and finish his dinner as she had a lead of wood for him to saw. The thing was really ludicrous and everybody present was convulsed with laughter. The advice which that young man has since received as to the physical benefits to be derived from sawing wood and the profits to be obtained from the business would fill a volume. At Christmas, they say, he may feel in his stocking for a wood-horse and a saw.

The circus men have been busy to-day in replacing the bill boards which were blown down by yesterday's storm and adorning them with flaming illustrations of circus life.
