THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1883. NO. 234

The Vermont apple crop will be almost a total failure this year. Jem Mace has challenged John L. Sullivan for a match of four rounds, Marquis of Queensberry's rules, for $10,000 a side.

Paulus Moort, a full-blooded African negro, was ordained last Sunday, in Philadelphia, as a clergyman in the P. E. church.

Peter Begart and wife, of Downsville, celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of their marriage. There is only a few days' difference in their age, which is 66.

Congressman Reagan, of Texas, favors Thurman for President and Carlisle for Speaker. He admits that two of the Texas delegation are Randall men.

Three to four inches of snow is reported to have fallen in Northern New Hampshire and Vermont on Tuesday afternoon. At St. Johnsbury, Vt., the weight of the snow damaged the apple trees and telegraph poles.

Germany has reared a splendid monument on the banks of the Rhine, over against Bingen, to commemorate the invasion and conquest of France. The French are raising a monument to commemorate the heroism of defeat.

An experienced political doctor in Ohio advises a 26-inch porous plaster over the mouths of each of the leading Democratic bosses, but the Boston Post says nothing but chloride of lime would serve as an antidote for Republican orators.

Mrs. Matilda Field, of Tennessee, is the youngest daughter of the famous Davy Crockett. She is sixty-two years old. The San Antonio, Texas, papers tell of a granddaughter of Crockett who is in needy circumstances in that town of the Alamo.

Gen. Roger A. Pryor has gone to London to defend Patrick O'Donnell, the man who killed the informer, Carey. He is to be followed by ex-Judge Fullerton. The question arises now, will they be allowed to appear and plead in an English court?

Henry Study, of Ransom, Ill., left $65,000. He was a cripple from birth. At the close of the war he donned a soldier's uniform, invented a pathetic story, and began to travel as a beggar. In three years he got over $50,000, and on the interest he lived in idleness.

Official returns just issued show that last year the proceeds of the duty upon playing cards in France was 2,362,036 francs, or 2,444 francs more than during 1881. In 1879 there were 39 manufacturers and 13,422 retailers of packs of cards, whereas last year there were 60 manufacturers and 13,911 retailers.

The Washington Star thinks it is evident that the confidence expressed by Mahone and his sub-bosses in Virginia as to the result of the election, is all assumed. While professing to feel secure they are straining every nerve, and are resorting to secret methods of a questionable character, to say the least, to avert defeat.

The heat on the Colorado desert has been greater this season than during any previous year for many years past, and the suffering of those whose duties compel them to make the tedious trip frequently is almost overpowering. During two weeks the thermometer in the day time stuck persistently at 130 degrees.

In 1870 the University at Oxford conferred upon Turgeneff the honorary degree of doctor of civil law. The whole town was searched in vain for a university cap large enough for him. He had finally to content himself with his everyday black silk "stove-pipe." The flaring red gown had never before been seen in Oxford.

Devout Moslems confidently predict the end of the world on November 8th, the close of the Mohammedan thirteenth century. Tradition declares that in the present month, during the Ramadan fast, the sun shall rise in the West, the day of mercy and forgiveness shall cease, and that of judgment and retribution begin. Thus, a proclamation has been issued from Mecca warning all true believers to prepare for the coming day, which has been widely circulated, and has created a great impression.

A Canada man having lost $40,000 in speculation eased his mind by thrashing his broker.

The British Consul at Scutari Albania was fired at while on a hunting expedition a few days since, but fortunately was not hurt. The would be assassin escaped.

Mr. Noble Thompson, of the popular stables 1393 Broadway, states that St. Jacobs Oil is the best pain-cure for man or beast that has come under his notice in fifteen years.

The carpets for the Library rooms have arrived and been put down; the new gas jets have been added, and everything about the hall looks new, neat and tidy. A meeting of the Association was held last night and seven applicants were added to the membership.

The conduct of some of the gallery gods at the Opera House last night was simply outrageous and we hope for the sake of decency and good order that if such proceedings are attempted to-night the police will arrest the guilty parties and see that they are adequately punished.

Mr. H. A. Bunker, a graduate of St. Andrew's, Hanover, Germany, is in the city and will give lessons in German, French and dancing, as per advertisement published in this issue.—Mr. Bunker comes here with excellent testimonials and his charges are certainly moderate.

Mary Hay, indicted for keeping a disorderly house, was on trial when our report closed.

Total Depravity.
Some dirty, low bred scoundrel, who ought to be horsewhipped until his hide is taken off and then tarred and feathered and kept so until his wounds should be healed, came through Magnolia, Duplin county, on Tuesday evening's train, and just as the cars were leaving threw off among the bystanders, some of whom were ladies, who were present to see the departure of friends, a lot of the most scurrilous, nasty, obscene trash, which it is impossible to imagine. The car was not known, but we would delight to welcome him to the cordial hospitality with which he would be greeted at Magnolia should he ever visit that town and it become known that he was the beast who so grossly insulted them and outraged common decency on Tuesday night last.

From Faderland.

Among the passengers—residents of this city—who have recently arrived from Europe, were Mr. H. A. Glameyer, wife and daughter, Mrs. John Oldenbulte and son, and Messrs. John Geischen and Nish Hullen. Mr. Glameyer and family reached this city on Monday night, the 1st inst., Mr. Hullen arrived here last night, and the rest of the party are yet in New York.

Thomas Laspeyre

A friend has favored us with a clipping from a Butte City (Montana) paper which records the death of Mr. Thomas Laspeyre, a native, and for many years a resident, of Wilmington, which occurred at Butte City recently. Mr. Laspeyre was a member of an old and honored family of the Cape Fear. He left Wilmington about 1852, and when little more than a youth, and emigrated to California. He first located at Stockton, in San Joaquin county, but afterwards removed to Butte City. He was elected to the California Legislature for several successive terms, and served also in other positions of trust in San Joaquin county, and at the time of his death was Attorney of Butte City. The paper pays him a high tribute as a man of sterling worth and as an official of unimpeachable integrity.

Legerdemain.

Prof. Zera Semon gave the third of his series of unique entertainments at the Opera House last night, and it was fully equal to any of its predecessors. It was divided into four parts, as follows: Magic, Ventriloquism, Marionettes and Limb from Limb. There was a large audience in attendance, who were delighted as well as astonished at the Professor's skill in all that he undertook to perform. He is certainly a proficient in his business and deserves well of the public. The following held the lucky numbers that drew the principal prizes:
John J. Williams, Castle, between Sixth and Seventh streets, a silver watch.

Willie Kordlander, Fourth and Hanover streets, set of French china.
Julia Mulford, Sixth, between Nixon and Swann streets, chamber set.
W. Evans, barrel of flour.

The entertainment will be repeated to-night with a change of programme, but the Professor will perform the "Limb from Limb" act, in which he decapitates and dismembers his little daughter, for the last time, so that all who would like to see that interesting and astonishing act may have an opportunity.

The October Heavens.

Jupiter is morning star, and wins the place of honor in the monthly presentation for the surpassing beauty of his appearance as well as for the fact that his approach to the earth will soon bring him into a position favorable for telescopic research. No planet in the solar family exceeds in interest for terrestrial observers the one that holds a place second only to the sun in size and majesty. The desire to learn something new concerning our giant brother increases every year, while the constantly recurring red spots, white spots, and intensely colored belts are proofs of Jovian activity that whet the curiosity of diligent observers. Not many aspects of the huge planet's disk at the coming opposition will escape the attention of eager watchers who make a specialty of Jovian astronomy. On the 37th, at noonday, Jupiter is in quadrature with the sun on his western side, being the third of the great planets to reach this epoch in the synodic course. The Prince of Planets then beams from the starry depths of 90 degrees in longitude west of the sun, rising about six hours after sunset, being near the meridian at sunrise, and setting about six hours after sunrise. Thus, attended by a brilliant retinue of stars, he travels with stately step on the celestial road, and reigns the brightest of them all throughout the still watches of the silent night. The October moon falls on the 16th, at 37 minutes after 1 o'clock in the morning.
