

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1883

On September 1 the treasury held a cash balance of $263,104,688, and on the 29th one of $259,004,714. It had not only met all the current expenses of the government, which might be estimated at nearly $17,500,000 if the appropriation bill of 1883-84 be taken as a basis, but had also been able to apply $15,000,000 to the reduction of the national debt.

There is a general disposition to keep secret, until the Pope shall have acted upon them, the results of the deliberations of the Roman Catholic Provincial Council of New York, which has just closed. It is known, however, that the decrees relate to marriage, divorce, religious education, church property, the infidelity of the day, the government of the clergy and other important matters. They cannot be enforced until approved by the Pope.

Under the new management of the Philadelphia gas-trust the expenses have been reduced and the profits of the city's interest in the gas works sufficiently large to lead to the introduction of a resolution in the city council to relieve taxpayers of the cost of lighting the squares and streets by paying for the same out of the profits accruing to the city from the gas-trust. The expense thus sought to be transferred is put at one hundred and eighty thousand dollars.

Negotiations which have been in progress for a considerable time are now practically certain to result in the establishment of a lightning train running, without change of cars, between Paris and St. Petersburg, through Mainz and Berlin. The gauge is uniform to the Russian frontier, where different wheels will be adjusted. It is reported that the train will run at the rate of fifty-six miles an hour, a speed hitherto unattained on the Continent. Drawing-room, sleeping and hotel cars, with every appliance of luxurious traveling, will make the new train the most notable railroad conveyance in Europe.

It is evident that Bismarck and King Alfonso are both making the most of the affair of the latter in Paris. The Prince is apparently instigating the German press to denounce the French government for permitting the Spanish sovereign to be insulted by a mob in the streets of Paris, and to demand full reparation for the outrage. Thus the crafty Chancellor is exasperating Frenchmen while he increases the earnestness of his cause. On his part, the Castilian monarch is secretly encouraging his subjects to express their indignation at the treatment he received while a guest of France, and the loyalty of the disaffected seems likely to be warmed to new life by the fierce blaze of national resentment. Alfonso could not have displayed greater astuteness than by planning a course of action to secure the ill-treatment he has received, and there is a suspicion that Prince Bismarck aimed at the result which has been accomplished. Certainly King Alfonso and the Germans lose nothing but gain much by the affair, while poor France is exasperated by the necessity of an humble apology and by the consciousness that Spain has been driven into a closer alliance with Germany.

There is evidently no love lost on the part of that "good old Reb." Randolph A. Shotwell, for Beast Butler. Capt. Shotwell has recently looked up some of Butler's history in New Orleans and has published extracts from it in his paper, the Farmer and Mechanic. Here is what is said as regards the manner in which the Beast amassed his money: Various pretexts were invented for plundering the inhabitants of the conquered city; men were forced to elect between starvation and the confiscation of all their property and taking an oath of allegiance to the invaders of their country; fines were levied at pleasure, and recusants threatened with ball and chain.

The conduct of the negroes became intolerable. They were fed, clothed and quartered by the Yankees, who fraternized with them generally in a shameful way. The planters in the neighborhood of the city were required to share their crops with the commanding General, his brother, Andrew J. Butler, and other officers; and when this partnership was refused, the plantations were robbed of everything susceptible of removal, and the slaves taken from their owners and compelled to work under the bayonets of Yankee guards.

It would occupy many pages to detail what the people of New Orleans suffered at the hands of the invaders in insult, wrongs, confiscation of property, seizure of property, seizure of private dwellings and brazen robbery. The Yankee officers, from colonel to lieutenant, as the caprice of each might dictate, seized and took possession of gentlemen's houses, broke into their wine rooms, forced open the wardrobes of ladies and gentlemen and either used or sent away from the city the clothing of whole families. Some of the private residences of respectable citizens were appropriated to the vilest uses, the officials who had engaged them making them the private shops of the most infamous female characters. But while Butler was thus apparently occupied with the oppression of "rebels," he was too much of a Yankee to be lost to the opportunity of making his pecuniary fortune out of the exigencies which he had created. The banker and broker of the corrupt operations in which he was engaged was his own brother, who bought confiscated property, shipped large consignments from New Orleans, to be paid for in cotton, and speculated largely in power, saltpetre, muskets, and other war material sold to the Confederacy, surreptitiously sent out from the city and covered by permits for provisions. Of the trade in provisions for cotton, Butler received his share of the gains, while the robbery was covered up by the pretence of using them to feed the Rebels.

Mrs. Agnes Booth inherited all her late husband's property. Dr. Henry C. Potter is spending a short time in Newport for his health. Bismarck is said to delight in assuming the cynical characteristics of Frederick the Great. Alfred de Musset's widow has left 175,000 francs for a monument to the poet. A singular feature of her bequest is a condition that the work be assigned to a sculptor who is a capable artist, but poor.

Miss Anderson declines all social invitations which are not amply vouched for as of the highest degree of respectability. She is quite right in refusing to be petted by the sort of people who patronized every theatrical celebrity who comes along, although it is just possible she may strain a point or two, and err on the safe side.

George Augustus Sala says that neither English or American journalists are to blame for the immense bill of the Russian government for the entertainment of correspondents at Moscow, but the reporters of other countries permitted and demand the payment of their expenses, and ran them up to an extravagant figure.

Mme. Modjeska's son Ralph intends to make this country his future home. He is about 19 years old, and took the highest honor last spring in his graduation from the Ecole Polytechnique in Paris. He intends to practice civil engineering, giving special attention to roads and bridges.

It makes a man sorely puzzled to know, when he takes his shoe off at night, how in the world a piece of wood the size of a lead pencil ever worked in through a crevice about a sixteenth of an inch wide. Puck.

A sponge measuring eight feet in circumference was recently discovered at Key West. It had several fresh newspapers in its hand and a borrowed umbrella, and wore white breeches and a silk coat. -Burlington Free Press.

The cost of stopping a train of cars is said to be from forty to sixty cents, but it wouldn't do any good to hold up half a dollar to the brakeman of the rear end of the train you have just missed, as it goes out of the depot. -Lowell Citizen.

"What is that you are wearing?" asked Farmer John of his fair city boarder. "Oh, that is my red jersey." "All right," was the reply, "but don't go near my brown Jersey over in that field, unless you are good at climbing trees." -Philadelphia News.

An exchange says that newspaper editors never "strike," but the assertion is not borne out by the facts. An editor once struck so hard that a wild-eyed man, with long hair and a long poem, went downstairs seven seconds a time, and landed on his spinal column at the bottom. -Norristown Herald.

The young minister, Mr. W., of a Western city, was invited to occupy the pulpit in an Albany church. His two sisters, chancing to be near Albany, made their plans to go there for that Sunday and hear him. After the service a gentleman of the congregation whom they knew very slightly, hurried toward them and said: "We are delighted to see you here, but how unfortunate that you should have chosen to-day. Don't, I beg of you, think that this is our minister. Dr. is off on his vacation and we have to take what we can get; but come next Sunday, if you're in town, and you'll hear a sermon worth listening to." -Troy Press.

"I wouldn't be without Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile pills if they cost $1 a pill. They cured me of neuralgia, of 9 years standing." Joseph Snyder, Paxinos, Pa. 50 cts. per box, at druggists.

Staw hats are disappearing. New Bloomfield, Miss., Jan. 2, 1880. I wish to say to you that I have been suffering for the last five years with a severe itching ailment. I have heard of Hop Bitters and have tried it. I have used up four bottles, and it has done me more good than all the doctors and medicines that they could use on or with me. I am old and poor but feel to bless you for such a relief by your medicine and from torment of the doctors. I have had fifteen doctors at me. One gave me seven ounces of solution of arsenic; another took four quarts of blood from me. All they could tell was that it was skin sickness. Now, after these four bottles of your medicine, my skin is well, clean and smooth as ever. HENRY KNOCHE.

A Lady Robbed of her Teeth. She was a beautiful young lady of about twenty, and lived in Philadelphia. It was years ago, when physicians used to administer a liquid preparation of iron by means of quills or glass tubes, so that it could be swallowed without coming in contact with the teeth. This young lady had been prostrated by a severe attack of illness, and iron was given to her to restore her to something like her former condition of health. By some mismanagement, or possibly by her own carelessness, she took the doses of iron in such a way that they touched her teeth. She thought her teeth were hard enough, and did not realize the power of the chemicals contained in that preparation of iron to eat through the enamel and honeycomb the teeth. The consequence was that her teeth, which had been an exceptionally faultless set, were utterly ruined. First the enamel went. Then the substance of the teeth became like chalk, and soon nothing was left but a lot of unsightly nags.

Had Brown's Iron Bitters then been obtainable, this young lady might have saved her teeth. As it is, she had to submit to the painful mortification of having them extracted and artificial ones inserted in their place. The beauty of the iron contained in Brown's Iron Bitters is that it is a preparation, free from every injurious feature or ingredient. It can do no harm, nor can it fail to do good. This preparation of iron is the only one that can be taken without damage to the teeth. To build up weak systems, to destroy dyspepsia, to drive out the effects of malaria, to regulate troublesomeness, to alleviate kidney distresses and to confer strength and health Brown's Iron Bitters is what the people want. The druggist has it.

WARNER'S SAFE. Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the CAUSE must be removed, and in no other way can a cure be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver and it strikes at once at the root of the trouble. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon the great organs, both as a FOOD and RESTORER, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system. For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good. For Diabetics ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE. For sale by all dealers. H. H. WARNER & CO., Rochester, N. Y. sept 14-1w
