THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VII. WILMINGTON, N. C., MONDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1883. NO. 237

The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

Mrs. Cornwallis West, the English beauty, is about to visit her brother-in-law, the British Minister at Washington.

The Chicago Herald (Independent) thinks the best thing the colored convention did at Louisville was to adjourn.

Governor Cleveland, of New York, is at his desk from 9 o'clock to 1, and after lunch until 6. He keeps no horses.

Bismarck is superstitious. He will take no important step on Friday, believers in astrology, and has predicted the day and hour of his own death.

General Francis E. Spinner, the ex-Treasurer of the United States—he of the famous signature—has been visiting Boston. The signature is still out bias.

Lord Coleridge's brother, Henry James, is a distinguished Jesuit, and has written a commentary on the Gospels, entitled "The Public Life of Our Lord."

Bob Ingersoll will take the stump for the Republicans. Having acquitted the star route thieves, the grand old party thinks he will be able to pull through the balance of it.

Mrs. Julia Gardner Tyler, widow of ex-President Tyler, and Mrs. Sarah Childress Polk, widow of ex-President Polk, draw their pensions of $5,000 each at the agency at Knoxville, Tenn.

The Republican party, says the Atlanta Constitution, in the various States where there is any movement appears to be petering out. In the language of the proverbialist, let her peter.

Senator Sherman does not look either for an extraordinary vote in Ohio or for such a Republican majority as will recall the Garfield year. He thinks there will be a heavy vote for prohibition, which will not, however, be carried.

This is from the Dubuque Herald: "As the eagle's blast has died away, the warcloud lifted, and the sun of peace shone out, the warp and woof of the Republican loom has constantly shrunken; it has not the fundamental elements entitling it to a long reign."

The Atlanta Constitution takes the view that a Southern man on the Presidential ticket "would not help it in either section. All the interests of the South are bound up in the Democratic ticket, and a Southern name would not increase its hold upon Southern votes."

Gladstone never will be a duke, it is said by his friends, in emphatic denial of the rumor that he was to go to the House of Lords with that title. The great commoner has defied the Upper House and denied its claims too often to strengthen them by becoming one of them.

The great attendance on the General Convention of the Episcopal Church in Philadelphia may be inferred from the statement that the limited seating capacity of Old Christ Church compelled the turning away from its doors of a half-dozen persons to every one gaining admittance.

The Chicago Times believes that the best method of changing the character of the primary is to vote for a candidate, the successful candidate to name the delegate. It urges that "the nominating assembly would consist then of a great number of persons selected and appointed openly and without disguise by different aspirants to the chief office to be filled by popular election."

The Norfolk Virginian says that a negro Mahone emissary appeared at Fairfax Courthouse the other night and made a speech in which he compared Mahone to the Apostle Paul and made other blasphemous comparisons, which so disgusted the white portion of his audience that several of them who have heretofore acted with that party declared their determination to return to the Democratic fold.

Quoting the New York Herald, "Logan and Mahone are said to have made an alliance." The Maryland National Farm and Fireside says: "Birds of a feather flock together. One deserted his principles at the beginning of the war and the other at its close. Doubtless they will constitute the Radical Presidential ticket in 1894, and a lively pair they'll make to draw to. A regular 'Jack-pot'!"

As a public benefaction St. Jacobs Oil has no equal in the world.

For other locals see fourth page. Now is the time for fat possums. Oysters are beginning to arrive quite freely.

Sells' circus is to play in Charlotte tomorrow. Nactly, Bro. Workman. You are correct. It was a sort of lapsus pennae.

The Lillian Spencer "Creole" troupe arrived in the city yesterday and are at the Purcell House.

Yesterday was decidedly cool and fallish, and fires were a luxury. The mosquitoes must go.

Cornelius Harnett Council No. 231 Royal Arcanum, meets to-night at 8 o'clock. It

There is a great scarcity of fish in the market, and dealers complain that they cannot supply one half the demands of customers.

Rev. A. Kirkland, of Whiteville, preached to good congregations at the Second Presbyterian Church yesterday morning and again at night.

For Toys and Tinware, go to the new 5 and 10 cents store, No. 16, South Second street, between Market and Dock streets. 6t

The DAILY REVIEW has the largest circulation in this city of any paper published within the limits thereof.—Anybody who wants to dispute this proposition can be accommodated at this office.

Grand Lodge No. 2, Independent Order of Good Samaritans, will meet in this city to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock, in the City Hall. A large number of delegates from different parts of the State are expected to be present.

For the Young. Rev. Frank H. Wood announced last night at the Front Street Church his purpose of preaching a sermon next Sunday evening in the interest of young men. We are glad that he has made the announcement and trust that the house will be filled to overflowing as we know that the discourse will be interesting, instructive and important.

Masonic. The annual convocation of Knights Templar of North Carolina will be held at Charlotte to-morrow, the 9th inst. Grand Commander H. H. Munson, Grand Secretary J. C. Munds and Mr. J. Mc D. French, of this city, will attend and will leave for that purpose on to-night's train on the Carolina Central railroad. Ex Senator Withers, of Virginia, Grand Master of the United States, has signified his intention to be present.

City Court. Charles Williams was brought before the Mayor this morning for disorderly conduct on Saturday night. He was fined $2 for the offence, which he paid.

William Edwards, colored, for disorderly conduct was fined $5, but as he was minus the necessary funds he was sent below for 30 days.

There were two cases of disorderly conduct in which the decision was reversed. We suppress the names by request. There was one case of affray which was turned over to Justice Mills for his action. We suppress the names in this case also.

Sick Ducks. We learn that there is a singular disease prevailing among the ducks at Wrightsville Sound, which has proved fatal in nearly every instance. The first symptoms of the disease is a drooping of the wings, followed by a giving way in the back and loss of the locomotion, after which the ducks begin to swell about the eyes and this is soon followed by death. Maj. C. M. Stedman lost 30 ducks by this disease in two days.

The Confederate Dead.

A circular letter has been received here from Adjutant General Jones, stating that it is the wish of the Ladies' Memorial Association that the State Guard take part in the ceremonies incident to the reception and re-interment of the remains of the North Carolina Confederate dead, who are to be removed from Arlington to Raleigh. The remains will reach the latter city on Tuesday, the 16th inst., and companies intending to participate in the ceremonies should arrive in Raleigh no later than on the morning of that day.

Lillian Spencer.

The "Creole" will be presented at the Opera House to-night, and in all probability to a very large audience. Our exchanges, generally, speak in terms of warm commendation of the troupe, and the New York Herald says of her personally:

She is a very beautiful girl of about 20 years of age, possessing a lithe, graceful figure, and with the handsomest eyes and teeth it was ever the writer's pleasure to behold. Her performance was indeed a masterpiece of genius.

Miss Spencer played in Raleigh on Friday night, and to a large house. The Visitor warmly commends both Miss Spencer and the troupe.

Magazine of History.

The October Magazine of American History appeared promptly on the first day of the month. It opens with a portrait of Sir Henry Clinton, suggestive of the Private Intelligence furnished that notable by Americans, at Washington's elbow, in the dark days of the Revolution, and now first given the public. These thrilling records are contributed by Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet, with an introduction and notes by Edward F. De Lancey. The first of the series occupies sixteen pages of the department of Original Documents in the current number. The opening article of the magazine, superbly illustrated by its author, Edgar Brodhead, is "A Picturesque Corner of Three States—a chapter of Indian History and Tradition." Of exceptional interest is the "Historical Sketch of Pierre and Jean Lafitte, the famous smugglers of Louisiana," by Hon. Charles Gayarre. Joel Benton follows with "The Webster Spelling-Book, Its Centennial Anniversary." Hon. Isaac N. Arnold, President of the Chicago Historical Society, contributes "Something New of Benedict Arnold and his Descendants in England." Publication office, 30 Lafayette Place, New York City.

Rev. T. A. Reed, of Beaufort, N. C., preached to large congregations at both the morning and evening service at the First Baptist church yesterday.

MARRIED.

PAYNE—MURPHY—In the Presbyterian Church, Clinton, N. C., on the 3d inst., by the Rev. Jos. B. Wilson, D. D., Rev. C. M. PAYNE, Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, N. C., to Miss CORA MURPHY, of Sampson county.

IN MEMORIAM.

MISS HATTIE HARDY—Written in Fifth Street M. E. Church, Sunday evening, Oct. 7th, 1883: And are we brought to this sad hour, To meet, to slay, to kneel, to pray, And she, dear friend—poor withered flower so dear to us—so far away.

So far away in death's dark night, Cut off in life's fair youthful bloom, Forever hid from mortal sight, And coldly mouldering in the tomb.

Poor stricken heart, bowed down with grief, No burning words hath power to tell Where wilt thou turn to find relief, And canst thou—canst thou, say farewell?

Alas! thou must be still, poor heart, Pass under His afflictive rod, She sweetly sleeps—though tear drops start—Beneath the cold and silent sod.

The dear form sleeps—but, glorious thought, Her spirit soars on wings of love, And by a saviour's power she's brought To share a happier home above.

Look up, poor heart, bowed down with grief, Thou canst not look to him in vain; ETERNAL love shall bring relief, And parted friends shall meet again. —W. J. P.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A BIG MAJORITY! "YOU ARE ABOUT TO BUY SOME Clothing," said a newspaper man to a friend a few days since. Well, I'll relate a little incident which may influence you in your purchases. Last Summer I went to Clinton to the Farmer's dinner and on returning home found myself among what Senator Vance would have called a lot of plain people. The subject of Clothing was being discussed, and somebody suggested that a vote be taken to ascertain who was the most popular Clothier in Wilmington. The result was a big majority for A. & I. SHRIER, they being the principal favorites, because it was conceded that their styles were more correct, their garments more durable and their
