

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1883

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

The Minnesota Methodist Ministers' Conference, by a close vote, resolved that "the time has come for all friends of prohibition to cast their ballots for only such parties and candidates as are unequivocally committed to the utter extermination of the liquor traffic by the power of the law."

The Rev. Dr. James Begg, of Edinburgh, whose death is announced in the 75th year of his life and 54th of his ministry, was, and long has been, the leader of the Conservative party in the Free Church of Scotland, opposed to instrumental music and other innovations in public worship. He was a notably powerful and impressive preacher, and his last sermon, delivered a few days before his death, was on the text: "It is appointed unto man once to die."

A large number of Chinamen have just sailed from San Francisco on the return to their native country. They have been so thrifty and industrious that they each carry from $500 to $1,000 with them. This means a competence if they remain in China, although a large proportion of the returning pilgrims took certificates which will permit them to return, thus indicating their general intention to come to this country again.

MOONSHINE.

About this time summer boarders return home to rest after their vacation. Boston Transcript.

Oscar Wilde says that short hair cannot go with knee-breeches. No; it usually goes with striped trousers. Buffalo Courier.

In East Mississippi peppermint raising is having quite a boom. This will counteract the effect of the Georgia watermelon crop. Hartford Post.

A family of Swedes in Chicago tried to use a railroad torpedo for fuel. It is needless to say that they had exercise enough to warm them up. Burlington Free Press.

Yorkel (to his son at a concert during the performance of a duet): "D'ye see, Tom, now it's getting late they are singing two at a time so as to get done sooner." Exchange.

The girl walked slowly down the aisle. Her looks made all the people smile. For on her nose she had a baize. This lovely maiden without guile. Oil City Derrick.

Sitting Bull had the audacity to tell the Senate Committee on Reservations that his members were all drunk. Doubtless the poor Indian was piqued because he had not been invited to drink with the noble Senators. Lowell Citizen.

over some amusing incident and couldn't stop. Finally a doctor was called in, and he couldn't quiet her. As a last resort some one had to tell her that her back hair was coming down. Lowell Citizen.

A Spartan Heroism

is often exhibited by a delicate woman during the extraction of teeth. But why not save them in time, with SOZODONT, and thus obviate the necessity of taxing one's fortune? The tenants of the mouth are far more likely to remain and do good service, if this sovereign protective is used as a safeguard against their untimely destruction. The experience and evidence of hosts of people proves this sanitary fact.

SHORTS.

There is in Lowell a gentleman claiming to be both an epicure and a poet. who says that eating apple pie without cheese is like kissing a girl without a squeeze.

The Chinese Emperor's physician enjoys a princely salary for keeping the Emperor in good health. The salary stops the moment the Emperor falls sick. Some good ideas in Oriental heads.

The divorced wife of Senator Tabor, of Colorado, refuses to pay a counsel fee of $5,000, charged by her lawyers who secured her alimony, and had been uniformly made and never for an instant abandoned, even when the prisoner was without counsel. Mr. Pryor closely investigated the testimony of the seven witnesses from Donegal who have come to London to depose to their intimacy with O'Donnell just prior to his departure for South Africa, and expressed himself as satisfied that it would convince any fair jury that when O'Donnell left Ireland for South Africa he was absolutely free from any connections with the Invincibles, and departed without any premeditation to murder. The American lawyers advise the defence to discourage subscriptions to the National League. O'Donnell is now engaged in a personal quarrel with the Newgate jail physician, because the doctor refuses to allow the prisoner to use tobacco in any form. O'Donnell says he is so accustomed to the use of the weed that the deprivation is injuring his health.

The Washington Capital has some very pertinent remarks relative to the construction by a French company of the Panama Canal. It says: How long do the people of the United States propose to abstain from any assertion of their true interests in the control of the Isthmus of Panama? Do they propose to remain quietly acquiescent with DeLesseps' doing there with French money and are they satisfied to have no part or share in that great work? What do they propose to do when, in 1888 or 1890, they find that DeLesseps has opened a waterway between the Atlantic and the Pacific, and that he and his French friends are in possession of the right to levy any tax they please on American commerce for an indefinite period? These are questions which it is time for us to be considering. The politicians do not care about them because they do not furnish the basis of a political issue, but some day they may give us a larger issue than even the most enthusiastic patriot may desire. First of all it is time for us to abandon all doubts about the completion of the canal. It will be done, and in all human probability DeLesseps will do it. He will if he survives till 1890. One canal at the Isthmus of Panama is enough, and therefore we had better waste no more attention on the scheme for a Nicaraguan canal. Nobody will invest a cent in that enterprise. The French people have already invested or pledged probably fifty millions of dollars in support of the scheme of De Lesseps. He will need perhaps twice as much more, and he will get it. Hitherto the United States has done nothing but expend money in order to enable crack-brained theorists to demonstrate that a canal at Panama is an impossibility. While our theorist are engaged in their demonstrations M. De Lesseps is digging the canal. Very soon it will be apparent to all the world that the canal is to be completed within a comparatively brief period. Then all the world will want to join in the use and perhaps in the control of it. We hold that this canal ought to have been begun, completed and owned by the United States of America. But our statesmen did not so direct us, and the danger is that it will be completed and owned by Europeans.

An Enthusiastic Endorsement

GORHAM, N. H., July 14, 1879.

GENTS—Whoever you are, I don't know; but I thank the Lord, and feel grateful to you to know that in this world of adulterated medicines there is one compound that proves and does all it advertises to do, and more. Four years ago I had a slight shock of palsy, which unnerved me to such an extent that the least excitement would make me shake like the ague. Last May I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I used one bottle, but did not see any change, another did so change my nerves that they are now as steady as they ever were. It used to take both hands to write, but now my good right hand writes this. Now, if you continue to manufacture as honest and good an article as you do, you will accumulate an honest fortune, and confer the greatest blessing on your fellow-men that was ever conferred on mankind.

A Cure of Pneumonia.

Mr. D. H. Barnaby, of Owego, N. Y., says that his daughter was taken with a violent cold which terminated with pneumonia, and all the best physicians gave the case up and said she could not live but a few hours at most. She was in this condition when a friend recommended DR. WM. HALL'S BALSA M FOR THE LUNGS and advised her to try it. She accepted it as a last resort, and was surprised to find that it produced a marked change for the better, and by persevering in its use a permanent cure was effected.

By One of the Fools.

"Why—parson my remarking it—but, my dear old friend, how changed you are. I declare you must have lived very high or very fast to have driven the color out of your hair and the spring out of your step this fashion."

Looking at the sunset on the river from the grounds of his place up the Hudson, my school chum—who is now one of the best known mining experts in the country answered: "It wasn't fast living did it, but dyspepsia and nervous collapse, from over-work. I ought to have stopped years before I did. I was a fool. But who isn't, if you come to that?"

"I am thirty-five years old," writes Mr. Charles H. Watts, of Somers, Putnam Co., N. Y., and had suffered from dyspepsia for fifteen years. Went the round of the current remedies, falsely so called. Listlessly and without hope I gave PARKER'S TONIC a trial. The result may be stated in three words: it cured me. I endorse now without hesitation. It is the dyspeptic's refuge." Mr. G. R. Cole, druggist, of Carmel, N. Y., certifies to the truth of Mr. Watts' statement.

HISCOX & Co., proprietors, call especial attention to the fact that this preparation, which has been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, will hereafter be called simply PARKER'S TONIC. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior articles under the name of ginger, and as ginger is really an unimportant flavoring ingredient, we drop the misleading word.

There is no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, contain the genuine medicine if the fac simile signature of HISCOX & Co. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper. oct 11-d&w

MISCELLANEOUS.

"Suffer and Be Strong."

That is an old saying; and it is in some respects true that strength comes through suffering. Everybody ought to know how to bear pain. Those who can bear it bravely, patiently, and manfully are incomparably happier than the poor fellows who are all the time making frightful faces and uttering grievous groans. If we must suffer, let us learn how to make the best of it, and to suffer as cheerily as possible. But we may do better than to suffer. We may learn how to get rid of the suffering. That will be a great improvement on even the most patient way of bearing pain. The trouble with nine out of every ten sufferers is not that they can "suffer and be strong," but that in their suffering they are weak and miserable and ailing and languid and debilitated and doleful. Not only are they wretched themselves, but they add to the sum of human wretchedness by imparting much of their misery to others. Now, as to getting rid of the misery, and abolishing some of the suffering.

We will do it with Brown's Iron Bitters. There is joy in every bottle of this valuable iron medicine. It is a medicine which is responsible for much of the mastery which has been gained over suffering. It brings iron to the blood in such a way that this needed element assimilates with the circulation, sending through arteries and veins that rich, red-colored vital fluid so essential to vigorous life. Here is the strength which triumphs over weakness, and casts out disease with its consequent suffering. The stomach is made strong, and dyspepsia has to go. The liver is vitalized, and liver complaint must depart. The nerves are toned up, and sufferers from neuralgia are made cheerful. The "bad blood" is made good, and rheumatism loses its hold. What is the use of suffering, when our neighbor the druggist keeps Brown's Iron Bitters?
