It is confidently expected that the display of flowers will be the finest made upon it.

An Englishman named Graham who has been making ascents of the Himalayas, has disproved the general impression that life at an elevation of 30,000 feet is almost impossible. He has demonstrated the possibility of both breathing and living at an elevation of several thousand feet higher than Mont Blanc, and of undergoing the fatigue of much longer and more trying ascents than those from Chamounix or Zermatt.

Yesterday's Raleigh Visitor tells us this little bit of interesting news relative to the State Agricultural Society and the proceeds of the Fair held last week: The public were startled this morning about 11 a. m. by the announcement that the N. C. Agricultural Society had made an assignment of all the proceeds of the Fair of last week to Mr. Leo D. Heart. The cause is said to have been expected suits on old bonds of the Society and the attempt to attach the proceeds for their payment. ## Personal.

We received a pleasant call this afternoon from Miss Fannie May Witt, special correspondent of the Atlanta Sunny South, who visits our city in the interest of her paper. Miss Witt represents a paper that is published in the South, and is thoroughly Southern in tone and sentiment, and we trust that she may meet with an encouraging reception here.

The Diocese Divided.

Telegrams were received here last evening, from Philadelphia, to the effect that the House of Bishops had consented, by a close vote—one majority—to a division of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina. This settles that matter. The next step will be taken by Bishop Lyman, who will call a convention of the new diocese, at a time and place to be named by him. Bishop Lyman will preside at this convention.

City Court.

Paton Moore, colored, charged with disorderly conduct, was brought before Mayor Hall this morning and fined $3 for the offense.

David Mallett, colored, for throwing rocks, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or take 30 days in the city prison.

Mary Jane Jordan, colored, for an affray, was sentenced to pay $5 or go below for 20 days.

As the last two had strong constitutional objections to the payment of fines they were sent below.

"Top O' The Morning."

Mr. John F. Ward and his admirable company were greeted at the Opera House last night, as they deserved to be, with a full house, the play presented being the Irish comedy "Top O' The Morning", written expressly for Mr. Ward. We shall not attempt to particularize, but will simply say that Mr. Ward in his triple characters was simply immense; Miss Davenport as the "Twin Sisters" was admirable and little Miss Lillie Ward won the sympathy and admiration of the entire audience. In fact, every character was well sustained and, judging from the applause with which they were greeted, gave full satisfaction to the large number of persons present.

The music was furnished by Messrs. Smith and Greenwald and was the subject of universal praise for its excellences.

To-night will be presented the grand prize drama of "Morna Doon," and it will, of course, attract another crowded house.

The celebrated "Fish Brand Gillat" Twine is sold only at JACOB'S HARDWARE DEPOT.

Dr. E. S. Pigford has moved into the office occupied by the Messrs London as a law office, and is fixed in his new quarters as snug and cozy as possible.

The rain, which has been threatening for several days, began to fall at a little after 11 o'clock last night and continued with but little intermission ever since.

Some young men can be accommodated with good board in the large residence on the South side of Red Cross street, between Front and Second. See advertisement in this issue.

Thanks to the gentlemen of the L. Arioso German Club for an invitation to the series of Germans to be given by the Club on the first Wednesday night of each month during the season. Messrs C. B. Wright, J. M. Cronly, J. W. Bolles, J. F. Pugh, L. P. Davis, F. L. Meares, and W. C. Jones are the governing Committee.

Female Rowdism.

There is a lot of young colored girls whose ages range from about 12 to 15, who are running about the streets in the early part of nearly every night, who ought to be taken care of by their parents or somebody who has a right to control them. We have seen them on several occasions in the early evening hours, and their conduct has been boisterous and rude to that degree that they became absolute nuisances.

The First District.

Hon. A. M. Waddell will canvass the First District, in this State, in aid of the election of Capt. Thomas G. Skinner, the nominee for Congress from that district, in the vacancy made by the death of Congressman-elect Pool. He will leave here on Thursday night, and will go to Edenton via Norfolk, where he will first speak, and from thence he proposes to make a pretty thorough canvass of the district, closing in Carteret county, which was formerly in the Third District, represented by him, and where he has lots of friends.

Burglary.

The building on the N. E. corner of Mulberry and North Seventh streets, occupied in the front as a store and in the rear as a dwelling by Mr. J. W. Burton, was broken into last night and robbed of $1.80 in change. The burglar gained an entrance at one of the side windows in the portion of the house used as a dwelling and passed through the room (Mr. Burton and his family being at the time asleep in a room adjoining) to the store, and evidently went directly to the desk where the money was kept in a tin box. There were about $9 in a drawer which was overlooked by the thief, and there is no evidence that anything had been taken or disturbed save the amount of money mentioned. The thief was undoubtedly a boy who was intimately acquainted with the premises. He was barefooted and his track was not that of a man fully grown. In order to gain an entrance he got a small keg out of the yard to stand upon, and the first that Mr. Burton knew of the matter was by seeing the keg out side and the window raised. There is as yet no clue to the rascal, but there is not a doubt that it was some one who has been in the habit of frequenting the store daily and thus became familiar with the locality.
