SELF-MADE AND SELF-MADE.

Any man, says the New York World, who amasses a fortune through honorable conduct and steady application in business through superior ability and industry in a profession, or by the exercise of intelligence, judgment and perseverance in any honest pursuit, deserves respect.

Such men are plentiful in New York and are scattered all over the United States. In a young and growing country and under a free government there is ample opportunity for their growth. The late Edwin D. Morgan was one of them. Peter Pooper was another. The elder Astor and A. T. Stewart take rank in the honorable list. The names of Havemeyer, Hewitt, Royal Phelps and a hundred others might be quoted to show that we have a good share of such meritorious people in the metropolis.

But there are self made millionaires of another character. Who will pretend that the honors due to such citizens as we have named ought to be extended to Jay Gould, Vanderbilt, Russell Sage and others, who owe their enormous wealth to very different methods? While the Coopers, Hewitts and Astors acquired their millions by intelligence, industry and rectitude, the Goulds sages and Vanderbilt's have become self-made millionaires through very different practices.

The Money Kings of Wall street and the railroad kings of Forty-second street become literally "self-made" by a curious process. They obtain possession of a charter or grant, a telegraph line or a railroad, get up a "ring" in the direction, meet together in the board room, and with the aid of lax laws double or quadruple the capital stock and go forth with doubled or quadrupled millions.

Now and then they sell out all the stock they own in a corporation and then engulf it in some "rival company." They make pools to put a stock up or down as they please. When they get the power they issue bonds or stock to themselves without paying a dollar to the victimized company. In all these operations the people are the sufferers. An honorable merchant benefits those with whom he does business. The Money Kings who vote themselves new millions by stock-watering put extra charges on the public for railroad fares, telegraph messages and transportation at each operation. Of course they do nothing illegal, according to the decisions of judges elected by their aid. The Government does not allow money to be issued by a bank without the deposit of ample security. But the laws interpreted by railroad judges permit the Money Kings to issue the representative of unlimited money in the shape of millions of watered stock without a dollar of security or of value to rest upon.

We respect the self-made millionaire whose wealth is the well-earned reward of intelligence, industry, energy and rectitude. We do not respect the self-made Money Kings whose millions are accumulated by practices more remarkable for sharpness than for integrity.

sixty to eighty thousand. The official vote also shows that the Democrats were unable to hold anything like the whole German vote, and that they made surprising gains in unexpected places. Everything considered, the Ohio map will find much to study with care in the returns from the latest election in his State.

MOONSHINE.

It's a proud day for Boston. Five of her citizens have been appointed judges of a cat show.

In all intellectual pursuits a hull must come, or the mind will give away. The base ball season is over.

Two ostriches in California have kicked their mates to death. The males in that country have a discouraged look.

A dangerous summer resort: Man chased her-by-the-sea. Why not change its name to "Villain's still-pursued-by-the-sea?" —Life.

"It was a hard thing to build a church, a harder thing to pay for it, and a harder thing still to fill it," is the disheartening remark of a wornout preacher at Cheyenne, W. T.

A Wisconsin man has returned eighteen cents that he stole from the government. It is doubtless fortunate for the government that this Wisconsin man, in his mad pursuit of wealth, did not take an entire quarter.

The lightning struck a man out in Ohio, and when the news was broken to his wife, she asked in a sad but surprised tone of voice, "Is he dead?" "Yes," was the reply. "Poor John; then the lightning must have struck him more than once."

An "old bachelor" writing in the Philadelphia Call says: "Conjugal felicity is earth's most fiery hell, and it is the result of bad courting." Why a man who is experiencing that sort of domestic atmosphere should sign himself an "old bachelor" is obvious. But he shouldn't go behind the returns.—Norristown Herald.

FOR DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, Depression of Spirits and General Debility, in their various forms; also as a preventive against Fever and Ague, and other Intermittent Fevers, the "FERRO-PHOSPHORATED ELIXIR OF CALISATA," made by CASWELL, HAZARD & CO., New York, and sold by all Druggists, is the best tonic; and for patients recovering from Fever or other sickness, it has no equal.

PERSONAL.

Judge Hoadly's wife is said to be handsome.

Gen. Hancock is going to recuperate his health in Mexico.

Gen. Schofield will leave San Francisco for China this week.

Bismarck thinks Gladstone is cold-blooded and has a healthy mind.

Miss Chamberlain, the noted American beauty, is with her mother in Paris.

Mrs. Cornwallis West is said to be freckled, which is an astounding and grievous bit of news.

The Crown Princess of Germany seems to be a woman of as versatile talent as Sarah Bernhardt, but she has not yet gone on the stage.

It is said that the Comte de Paris did not go to the Comte de Chambord's funeral because he was afraid of being arrested and exiled. This does not speak well for republican France.

Mr. Julius Brehm was the name of a Pennsylvania woman of unblemished character and religious life, who committed suicide because she thought she was not as good as she thought she ought to be.

Mr. Hercules L. Dausmann, of St. Louis, who is known as a great buyer of paintings, has added five horses to his favorite objects of purchases, and is about to have about $100,000 worth of valuable trotters.

SHORTS.

Boston girls never giggle. They merely express their delight by a dreamy, far away, North Pole smile.

A spring has been discovered in Texas, the water of which, it is alleged, cures all the ills of the flesh and ministers to a mind diseased. It is at Toyale, and one of the remarkable cures mentioned is that of a Texas ranger, who was hopelessly insane.

A private letter from Mazatlan, published in the San Francisco Bulletin, gives a terrible picture of the ravages of the yellow fever there. The writer says: "Out of an opera company numbering thirty-one members, all of whom reached here in good health, seventeen died in less than three weeks, including the prima donna."

Mr. Capel was asked what struck him most forcibly in this country, and he replied: "The precociousness of children." He says that while in Baltimore the Archbishop took him to call on a lady. While making the visit a boy aged 4 years came in the room, and his mother said: "My son, speak to the Archbishop." He obeyed readily, and holding out his hand, said: "How do Arch?"

Slaughter Bassett of Lexington, Ky., paid $5 for the front door sill of the old courthouse at that place, when the building was torn down. It is of stone, and is prized by Bassett because Henry Clay and Aaron Burr stood upon it when the latter asked him to defend him, and he pledged his honor that he was innocent of an attempt at a Western conspiracy. Receiving the pledge, Clay appeared in Burr's defense, but afterwards declined to speak to him when he found out that Burr had lied.

Abraham Kreiser's two daughters have dwelt in a small log hut in the mountains near Indiana, Pennsylvania, for thirty-eight years past, aliof from all other human beings. The two hermits are about 60 years of age. In speaking to each other—for they never speak to others—they sing their words with longdrawn drawls. They are hard workers, and can swing the axe and fell large trees. They have no fear of anything from trap to bear. They sleep with their axes by the bedside. It is said that both were disappointed in love about forty years ago.

Complete returns from three-fourths of the counties of Ohio indicate that Judge Hoadly's majority will not fall far below thirteen thousand. This is a loss of about seven thousand votes from the extraordinary record of last year, and that, too, on a phenomenally large vote. The same returns indicate that the prohibition amendment has been defeated by a majority ranging from

An Enthusiastic Endorsement.

GORHAM, N. H., July 14, 1879.

GENTS—Whoever you are, I don't know; but I thank the Lord and feel grateful to you to know that in this world of adulterated medicines there is one compound that proves and does all it advertises to do, and more. Four years ago I had a slight shock of palsy, which caused me to such an extent that the least excitement would make me shake like the ague. Last May I was induced to try Hop Bitters. I used one bottle, but did not see any change, another did so change my nerves that they are now as steady as they ever were. It used to take both hands to write, but now my good right hand writes this. Now, if you continue to manufacture as honest and good an article as you do, you will accumulate an honest fortune, and confer the greatest blessing on your fellow-men that was ever conferred on man in kind.

A Great Blood Medicine.

One of the best medicines ever known for the cure of diseases arising from impure blood, no matter from what cause, is ROSADALIS. It is a great alternative medicine as well as a blood purifier. It cures Scrofula, Swellings, Goitre, Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Rheumatism, &c. Read the following important letter from a distinguished gentleman in Florida:

LAKE IRENA, Fla., June 10th, 1882.

I have been a great sufferer for 15 years, not able to walk from an injured leg. I have tried many M. D.'s and their remedies to little purpose. I believe ROSADALIS will cure me. Send me one dozen by steamer. It was recommended to me by a friend. I have taken 2 bottles, and find it helping me. The druggists who usually keep it are out of it, and I cannot afford to wait the slow arrival of their supplies.

is often exhibited by a delicate woman during the extraction of teeth. But why not save them in time, with SO-ZODONT, and thus obviate the necessity of taxing one's fortitude? The tenants of the mouth are far more likely to remain and do good service, if this sovereign protective is used as a safeguard against their untimely destruction. The experience and evidence of hosts of people proves this sanitary fact.

By One of the Fools.

"Why—pardon my remarking it—but, my dear friend, how changed you are. I declare you must have lived very high or very fast to have driven the color out of your hair and the spring out of your step this fashion."

Looking at the sunset on the river from the grounds of his place up the Hudson, my school chum—who is now one of the best known mining experts in the country answered: "It wasn't fast living did it, but dyspepsia and nervous collapse, from over-work. I ought to have stopped years before I did. I was a fool but who isn't, if you come to that?"

"I am thirty-five years old," writes Mr. Charles H. Watts, of Somers, Putnam Co., N. Y., and had suffered from dyspepsia for fifteen years. Went the round of the current remedies, falsely so called. Listlessly and without hope I gave PARKER'S TONIC a trial.

The result may be stated in three words: "it cured me."

I endorse now, without hesitation, it is the dyspeptic's refuge." Mr. G. R. Cole, druggist, of Carmel, N. Y., certifies to the truth of Mr. Watts' statement.

HISCOX & CO., proprietors, call especial attention to the fact that this preparation, which has been called "the best Remedy for GINGER TONIC," will hereafter be called simply PARKER'S TONIC. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior articles under the name of ginger, and as ginger is really an unimportant flavoring ingredient, we drop the misleading name.

There is no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, contain the genuine medicine, if the fac simile signature of HISCOX & CO. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

How to GET SICK—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

MISCELLANEOUS.

"Suffer and Be Strong."

That is an old saying; and it is in some respects true that strength comes through suffering. Everybody ought to know how to bear pain. Those who can bear it bravely, patiently, and manfully are incomparably happier than the poor fellows who are all the time making frightful faces and uttering grievous groans.

If we must suffer, let us learn how to make the best of it, and to suffer as cheerily as possible.

But we may do better than to suffer. We may learn how to get rid of the suffering. That will be a great improvement on even the most patient way of bearing pain. The trouble with nine out of every ten sufferers is not that they can "suffer and be strong," but that in their suffering they are weak and miserable and ailing and languid and debilitated and doleful. Not only are they wretched themselves, but they add to the sum of human wretchedness by imparting much of their misery to others.

Now, as to getting rid of the misery, and abolishing some of the suffering.

We will do it with Brown's Iron Bitters. There is joy in every bottle of this valuable iron medicine. It is a medicine which is responsible for much of the mastery which has been gained over suffering. It brings iron to the blood in such a way that this needed element assimilates with the circulation, sending through arteries and veins that rich, red-colored vital fluid so essential to vigorous life. Here is the strength which triumphs over weakness, and casts out disease with its consequent suffering. The stomach is made strong, and dyspepsia has to go. The liver is vitalized, and liver complaint must depart. The nerves are toned up, and sufferers from neuralgia are made cheerful. The "bad blood" is made good, and rheumatism loses its hold. What is the use of suffering, when our neighbor the druggist keeps Brown's Iron Bitters?
