The Daily Review has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in the city of Wilmington.

Oscar Wilde's lecture in Dublin was a complete failure, the house being empty.

Passenante has just died in the Italian galleries. He was the youth who tried to kill King Humbert in 1874.

Mr. Sullivan, the pugilist, now wants to wager $1,000 that with his bare fist he can knock down an ox.

Insanity is becoming prevalent among the older families of Boston. Too much over-culture and intermarriage.

Dr. Schlemann has named his two children Andromache and Agamenon. The young people begin life quite seriously handicapped.

George Eliot's poem, "The Dead," set as a cantata with orchestra and vocal effects, will be given at the Postivist festival of the dead, in London, on New Year's Day.

The Princess Dolgourouki has rented a house in London for the Spring season. Count Molikoff, under the private will of the Czar, will superintend the education of her children.

Congressman Wadsworth, of New York, will not be able to attend Congress until after the holidays, as his injuries from falling off his horse are more severe than expected.

Mr. Arminius Vambery, the celebrated traveler who bravely and successfully penetrated to Central Asia in the disguise of a dervish, is now professor of Oriental languages at Pesth.

Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt is to give a grand ball in his new mansion in New York on the 11th inst. It is said that three thousand invitations have been issued, and as many more applied for.

The new comet will, it is said, be visible on Wednesday next, the 12th inst. It will be found near the milky way and can be seen by the aid of an opera glass, or, if it is a particularly clear night, with the naked eye.

A streak of exceeding good luck has befallen a convict in the Columbus, Ohio, penitentiary, named Louis Brandt. His uncle, the Baron Berstein of Frankfurt-on the Main, died recently and left him a fortune valued at about $1,000,000.

Secretary Chandler has another source of unhappiness beside the obstinacy and frequency with which United States vessels get into trouble. He is an inveterate newspaper reader, and keeps one clerk perpetually clipping from the papers everything good or bad published about New Hampshire's eminent son.

The Haytian minister to Great Britain has suddenly resigned his post, sending word to the foreign office that anarchy reigns in Hayti, that attacks are made upon British property and British subjects, and that these have rendered his position untenable.

London's new Lord Mayor, Fowler, is of good birth and education, a college graduate, and much travelled. He is partner in Fowler, Dimsdal & Co., a London banking house, founded by Baron Dimsdale, a physician, who went to Russia to inoculate the Empress Catherine, and whom she loaded with money and honors.

Apologies of the announcement of the engagement of Miss Jennie Flood, the bonanza king's daughter, to an English nobleman, a Chicago paper recalls the story of her love for a young clerk in her father's bank in San Francisco, and says that, though she may marry some one else, her heart does not go with her hand. Her father discharged the young man on learning of the attachment, and hurried Miss Jennie off to Europe.

Disappointment in matters of pleasure is hard to be borne, in matters affecting health it becomes cruel. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup never disappoints those who use it for obstinate coughs, colds, irritation of throat and lungs, etc.

Business in Christmas goods is getting rather lively.

The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 1,102 bales.

The condition of Mr. J. W. King has not improved any since yesterday.

The cisterns and wells are again getting dry and rain is sorely needed now.

Two fine entertainments are promised at the Opera House next week, the Rajah and the Black Dwarf.

There was only one case before the Mayor this morning, which was a simple case of drunk and down, and was discharged.

Rev. Dr. Patterson is now in Raleigh, the guest of Mrs. Geo. W. Mordecai. He hopes to revisit Wilmington before returning to Texas.

Some of Theodore Thomas' people drove down to Wrightsville yesterday and partook of Myrtle Grove oysters at Capt. Manning's place. They were loud in their praises of the delicious bivalves.

A German, complimentary to the young ladies now visiting in this city, some of whom came here to attend the Concert last night, will be given this evening, in Germania Hall, by the L'Artesio Pleasure Club.

We are glad to learn that Manager Dyer has made arrangements with Mr. Locke for the appearance here before the close of the season of the Boston Concert Company and the Boston Ideal Company. The dates are not yet announced.

The shell road to the Sounds is now in excellent condition and all that is needed for next Summer's campaign is a few more shells in some worn spots and plenty of shade trees. We notice that the causeway over the creek is rapidly being widened and improved.

Personal.

Mr. James Sprunt and his bride, Miss Luola Murchison that was, daughter of Col. Kenneth M. Murehison, of New York, arrived in the city on Tuesday night and have taken up their abode in the residence prepared for their reception, corner of Market and Sixth streets. They were the recipients, on the night of their arrival, of a delightful serenade tendered by a number of young gentlemen in the city, friends of the groom.

Maj. C. P. Bolles, of the U. S. Hydrographic Survey Corps, is here on a visit to his family, the first he has been able to pay them in three years. Until recently Maj. Bolles has been stationed on the Pacific Coast, engaged in making surveys on the coast of Lower California, but is now in office in Washington City.

The Dakota Ranchero.

Mr. C. E. Bramble, stock-raiser of Scotland, D. T., having used the world-renowned pain-banisher, St. Jacobs Oil, for all ailments of cattle and horses; also for rheumatism and neuralgia in his own case, says that from his observation of twenty-five years, there is no pain-cure its equal. He is never without it.

The Latest Madison Square Success.

Theatre-goers will be pleased to learn that the new play from the Madison Square Theatre, "The Rajah," will be presented at the Opera House on the evening of December 13. "The Rajah" is a singularly bright and attractive comedy and is generally regarded as the author's (William Young, Esq.) best piece of dramatic work. The play has attained nearly two hundred consecutive representations at the Madison Square Theatre, which is adequate proof of its exceptional merit. "The Rajah" abounds with scenic displays, all of which have been taken advantage of in true Madison Square style. One set, in particular, a glade scene, with a brook of real water running across the stage, is a marvel of the stage carpenter's skill. The original cast will appear here. The company carries complete scenery made in duplicate of that made in New York. All in all, a thoroughly finished performance of "The Rajah" can be anticipated. The sale of reserved seats will begin at Dyer's on Tuesday morning next.

Theodore Thomas.

One of the most difficult duties devolving upon the reporter is that of criticizing a performance justly where all the parts are equally well sustained. This is true, whether the entertainment be vocal, instrumental or both combined. In those usual cases where some are passable, some better and a few good, it is comparatively easy to criticize by showing the distinction between this, that or the other part; but where all are excellent there remains nothing but to speak of the performance as a whole, and to this are we reduced in writing of the concert last night. There was a large audience in attendance and mostly of that refined and cultured class of music loving ladies and gentlemen who could understand and appreciate the beauties of the divine art in the grand harmonies of the masters as interpreted by skilled musicians. The concert commenced promptly at the appointed hour and by the time that a half dozen measures had been played the audience, who had been in a feverish state of expectation and anxiety, were captured, and they were most willing captives.

Every member of the orchestra was a master of his particular instrument and, under the direction of the world-renowned Theodore Thomas, every tone and movement was the perfection of skill and the most thorough training. There were but few young men among them and nearly all had reached, and some had passed beyond, middle life. In time, tune, tone, technique, shading and phrasing, all seemed a perfection of skill, of which the audience gave their appreciation in rounds of rapturous applause at the conclusion of each piece.

The selections were from Berlioz, Wagner, Beethoven, Weber, Liszt, Rossini, Schumann, Mendelssohn, Strauss and Rubenstein, and it would be impossible to say which was the best, as each possessed beauties which the others did not. The music of Wagner was different from all others and was a revelation, if not a revolution, in musical composition. The Adagio from Beethoven's Fifth Symphony was a sublime composition and was rendered with exquisite taste and pathos. The prelude in the Overture to Wm. Tell brought out the rich beauties of the violoncellos and the marvellous skill of the performers on those instruments.

But it is simply impossible to describe all the splendid features of the occasion. Never before was such glorious music heard in Wilmington, but we hope the day is not far distant when it may be repeated. Our people have done well in bringing them here and the management of the Opera House deserve especial praise for their untiring efforts to cater to the best musical taste of the city.

Improvements and Changes.

The large warehouse on South Water, between Market and Dock streets, recently occupied as auction salesrooms by Messrs Cronly & Morris, has been undergoing extensive alterations and repairs and is now occupied by Messrs W. I. Gore & Son as a wholesale commission house for the sale of heavy groceries and peanuts. The lower floor has been entirely remodeled and made convenient for the particular branch of business for which it is intended—the grocery department—and the office, which is not yet completed, is in the front part of the building. It will be a model of convenience when finished. The second floor is devoted to the peanut business and the necessary machinery will be run by a water motor fed by the Clarendon Water Works, the pipes for that purpose having been laid within the last week.

Another Peal.

The wedding bells have rung again and this time over the union of Mr. Martin S. Willard, of this city, to Miss Elizabeth Oliver, of Newbern. The ceremony took place in Christ Church, on Wednesday night, the Rector, Rev. V. W. Shields, officiating. Mr. Willard and his bride arrived here last evening. The Newbern Journal says of the happy event:

The church was elaborately and handsomely dressed, and the bridal escort elegant and extensive. The marriage ceremony was solemnly and impressively performed in the presence of an immense concourse of persons, and was followed by an elegant reception at the home of the bride's father, Wm. H. Oliver, Esq. The bride and groom leave this morning, for their home in Wilmington accompanied by a number of friends.

The celebrated 'Fish Brand Gills, Twine is sold only at JACOB'S HARDWARE DEPOT.

The Black Dwarf.

This spectacular drama, now having an unprecedented run, will give an evening's performance in this city on Tuesday night, the 11th inst. The piece depends for its success a great deal on its scenic and mechanical effects and the painter and machinist have worked at their specialties with the hope and expectation of arriving at perfection in the Black Dwarf. How well they have succeeded in the accomplishment of their cherished hopes we will all know on Tuesday evening next.

For the Little Giant.

The Fire Department of Wilmington, which is probably one of the best in the Southern country, compared with the amount of material employed, does not know what it is to stand still, but is constantly being increased in efficiency. A movement is now on foot by the members of Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Co., No. 1, to purchase a heater for their engine, the Little Giant, whereby the water in the boiler can be kept at a steady high temperature and steam can be raised without delay. By this means the engine will be always ready for work promptly on arrival at the scene of a fire. The heater will cost, it is said, about $125 and there seems to be no doubt that the money will be secured.
