THE COLLAPSE OF THE POLITICAL TRIALS.

The Charleston News and Courier, commenting on the political persecutions in that State, says: 'Three trials... Two mistrials and one acquittal under the instructions of the court. Such is the fruit of the unscrupulous labors of Speer and Melton. A renegade who had been paid for his treachery by a public office and had sent some ignorant Democrats to jail in Georgia was hired to assist District Attorney Melton. Government spies were sent to Columbia to watch every step of the jurors and the witnesses. Juries were packed, so that on no single jury was there even one man who was of the same political faith as the citizens who were on trial. The Grand Jury was dispensed with, and the trials were had upon the mere motion and personal action of the District Attorney. Without a conviction has been obtained. So flimsy was the evidence, so manifest was the false swearing of the Government witnesses, that even a jury of Greenbackers and Republicans could not bring themselves to the point of returning a verdict of guilty. Deserving of all praise are the jurors who fearlessly did their duty, despite the threats of their associates and the allurements of the Government's counsel. We know not who they are. It is sufficient to know that there was one just man or more on every jury that Messrs. Speer and Melton conceived to be capable of any nefarious work that could be cut out for them. We do not blame the Government witnesses for their willful lying. The persons who are guilty are District Attorneys Speer and Melton. They knew what the characters of the witnesses were, and what their testimony was to be. They had every opportunity to examine the witnesses and test their trustworthiness. There is little doubt that they knew that their witnesses were telling untruths. It is what the witnesses were employed for. The truth was not wanted, for it would have afforded no grounds for the prosecution of any Democrats. Not content with packing the juries, District Attorney Melton, in the Marion case, brazenly declared that it was not the practice of the District Courts in this State to disclose the Government's view of the facts as well as the law. Judge Bryan, with dignity, rebuked and contradicted him, and it was instantly shown that what Mr. Melton had asserted was not the practice as actually provided for by the formal rules of the United States Court. A prosecuting officer who will behave in this fashion, with the certainty of being found out, gives evidence of intellectual dullness as well as moral obtuseness. For this term the contest is one, and it is doubtful that it will ever be renewed under similar conditions. Judge Bond is too acute a lawyer to permit, hereafter, in defiance of the State law on the subject, the standing-aside of jurors in cases of misdemeanor. With a fair trial by an impartial jury, no citizen has anything to fear. But what a contemptible attitude the Government has been placed in by the Attorney General and his subordinates! The whole power of the United States used unscrupulously to send to the Penitentiary reputable citizens who are guilty of being Democrats, and the Government balked and defeated by the presence of indomitable courage where it was not looked for or wanted, and by the splendid ability, tact and industry of the counsel for the defence. The truth prevailed once more; and the confidence of good government is assured. Underneath the trials in Columbia lay the desire to divide the Democracy, so that the State should be Monarchized in President Arthur's interest next year. So at one blow justice is done, innocent men go free, and a deep-laid conspiracy to injure the people is completely frustrated.

Ben. Butler, according to a correspondent of the New York Herald, proposes to make things lively for the Democratic party next year. He is laying his plans to capture the Presidential nomination. He recognizes the fact that he merits he would stand no chance if he intends trying the effect of a scare. He has not lost his faith in the soaring power of powder boats, and the grand explosive he is preparing for the Democratic national convention is an advance nomination by the so-called Labor party. He believes that he can control this organization with ease, and that with this nomination secured he can say to the Democratic convention, 'Nominate me or take certain defeat in New York, Pennsylvania and nearly every other Northern State.' He is confident that with the Democratic nomination he can carry Massachusetts,

New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, and while he admits that the South does not love him, he believes that it would nevertheless remain solid for the Democratic party in spite of the candid date. Stuff!

About seven hundred land hunters from Illinois left that State on the 28th of November, via the Illinois Central Railroad, for Mississippi, where they are now seeking homes along the line of the railroad. A hearty and hospitable reception awaited them in Mississippi. Committees were appointed at all prominent points to meet the excursionists and induce them to stop off and examine lands, and there is a universal rejoicing among the planters, merchants and men of every class over the visitors. They will be welcomed everywhere, and will be entertained free of charge at every place where a stop is made. The excursionists are men of means, who appreciate the advantages presented by the rich but exceedingly cheap lands in Mississippi.

Is Your Blood Pure?

For impure blood the best medicine known is ROSADALIS. It is the great Southern time-tried and true Remedy, and may be implicitly relied on when everything else fails. Take it in the Spring time especially, for the impure secretions of the blood incident to that season of the year, and take it at all times for Cancer, Scrofula, Liver Complaints, Weakness, Boils, Tumors, Swellings, Skin Diseases, Malaria and the thousand ills that come from impure blood. Talking about the Liver we presume that its temper is more often caused by a disordered liver than anything else. To insure a cheerful disposition take ROSADALIS. The Great Southern Remedy, which will remove the prime cause, and restore the mind to its natural equilibrium.

MOONSHINE.

The waves are over at war. They are constantly shelling the beach. When the head of a family accidentally backs into a tub of hot water he can be said to be past-boiled. Philadelphian Call. No matter how peaceable a meeting is the people composing it always have to be called to order. Boston Transcript. When the widow buries her first husband she becomes pensive, but after she gets the second she is usually expensive. Farmers Gazette. "No, indeed, there's no place like home," sighed the man who tripped over the coal scuttle and fell into a wash-tub while fumbling around for a match to light the kitchen fire. N. Y. Journal.

Question Your Druggist.

and he will tell you, that there is a greater demand for SOZODONT than for any other preparation for the teeth. Then ask yourself whether an article for which the demand is general and constant, must not possess genuine merit. The mental response will be that it does, since the conclusion is irresistible, that if it did not really polish and preserve the teeth, a discerning public would long since have discovered the fact. It advertises itself.

SHORTS.

Ex-Governor Hall of Delaware owns interests in thirty-five vessels and controls twenty-five. His property is estimated to be worth $300,000. Stephen M. Meredith, a young lawyer of Reading, Penn., who disappeared for a time under some discouraging circumstances, has returned home, and voluntarily subscribed to an oath before an aidman that he will never again play at any game of cards or billiards either for pleasure or gain, or participate directly or indirectly in any form of gambling. One of the sights of Paris this Winter will be a score of Red Indians from the district of the Upper Missouri. They belong to the Moha tribe, and are presided over by a venerable chief. In the true style of Indian fiction, they wear eagle feathers in their hair, and after pitching their tent in the Jardin d'Acclimation, at once proceeded to light the calumnet of peace. Despite the inventions of recent years the largest telescope in the world is still Lord Rosse's, at Parsonstown, Ireland, although it was constructed some forty years ago. It is also the most powerful in respect to its height grasping capacity, a very important matter in the study of faint objects, such as nebulae. Its mirror is six feet in diameter, and the length of its tube is fifty-three feet. According to the calculations of the Belgian Association with regard to the abuse of alcoholic drinks, the annual consumption of spirits is now 124 and that of beer 254 litres per inhabitant. The litre is about one and three quarters English pints. The sum spent annually in the public houses is estimated at 475,000,000 francs. The retail liquor trade is perfectly free in Belgium, and anybody can open a public house where he pleases.

Josiah Davis' Trouble.

Josiah Davis, No. Middletown, Ky., writes: I am now using a box of your HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE upon an ulcer, which, for the past ten days, has given me great pain. This salve is the only remedy I have found that has given me any ease. My ulcer was caused by varicose veins, and was pronounced incurable by my medical doctors. I find, however, that HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE is effecting a cure. Caps or large collars are worn on tight walking jackets by young ladies. One voice all over the land goes up from mothers, that says, "My daughters are so feeble and sad, with no strength, all out of breath and life at the least exertion. What can we do for them?" The answer is simple and full of hope. One to four weeks' use of Hop Bitters will make them healthy, rosy, sprightly and cheerful.

The Growing Child.

It is well known that a large majority of the human race die in childhood. Of course everybody has to lie, some time or other. But there is such a thing as prolonging life, and also of making the most of it while it lasts. A growing child is exposed to more risks than an adult. The system is in its formative state, and very receptive. If contagious diseases are in the atmosphere, the child is particularly exposed to them. Diseases which will pass over a full-grown man or woman will attack a growing child, and often with fatal effect. A growing child is liable to all manner of accidents. Cuts, wounds, bruises, and casualties of various kinds may happen at any moment. Were it not for the natural elasticity of children, the death-rate among the young people would be far larger than it is.

A growing child is worthy of the very best care. It should be guarded against disease and accident. To conquer the diseases which attack the digestive organs, the blood, the kidneys, the liver, and the nerves, there is nothing like Brown's Iron Bitters. This is the only preparation of iron which can be given without mischievous results to teeth or stomach. It vitalizes the blood, strengthens nerves and muscles, and promotes sound digestion. A growing child's future depends much on what his condition is during the years of growth. It is essential that he reach the complete adult maturity in healthfulness and vigor. Keeping this in view, how important it is that parents should closely observe their children's health, and in ample time begin to correct any tendency to weakness or decline. The timely administering of Brown's Iron Bitters will do wonders toward keeping the growing child in excellent health.
