A WORD FROM MAINE.

We have received a copy of the Mining and Industrial Journal, pub lished at Bangor, Me., which we have read with much pleasure and profit, as it has given us valuable information regarding many of the industries of that State, while at the same time it shows Times that very many of the business entercarried on right here in our midst. But what strikes us forcibly is a long, able and conscientious editorial in which it gives a favorable notice of the North Carolina exhibit at the Poston Exposi tion and speaks commendably of the energy of our officials in making the display so complete as it was. The writer complains, and very justly too, you?" "Hush, Johnny," said Mrs. because Maine failed to do her duty to Verger. 'Go to bed. sir," remarked herself and her interests at that exposis tion. He says:

tion in these columns to the great Im imjs. portance of having a representative Maine exhibit at the then coming Institute Fair in Boston. We were aware that other States and sections were to make a display of their products, and telt that it would be an act of , shortsightedness and folly on the part of the people of Maine to permit the occasion to pass with their State unrepresented The golden opportunity was untinproved, however. Maine tailed to compete, and other States are now drawing the prizes and reaping the rewards of their forethought and enter-

There was little Mr. NERVOUS-NESS, a fidgety, fussy chap, constantly afraid the concern was going to ruin. There was bothersome Mr. BIL-IOUSNESS, quarrelsome and angry. He always misunderstood everybody, and said that everybody misunderstood him.

And there was the much-despised MR. BAD BLOOD. A troublesome creature was he to get along with. He raised a commotion in the concern every day, and made myriads Leave Wilmington, (Sundays exof enemies.

So the wicked partners had to be kicked out. The agent selected to do the business was Brown's Iron Bitters, noted for working so pleasantly, so silently, and so effectually.

Brown's Iron Bitters laid hold o Mr. DEBILITY by the heels and gently dragged him out, laying him daily except Sunday.

Brown's Iron Bitters worried MR. NERVOUSNESS out flat, giving him no chance to make a fuss during the operation.

Brown's Iron Bitters made direct the only remedy I have found that has war on MR. BILIOUSNESS and told given me any ease. My uleer was him that he "must go.".
