WILMINGTON. N. C.

-ATURDAY, DECEMBER 29 1883

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C. as second-class matter.

Joel Chandler Harris informs a New York contemporary that the negroes of Hepburn, of Iowa; Stone of Massa the South know little about the banjo; fiddle, the flate and the life, and blow a tin trumpet with surprising skill; but never a banjo, a tambourine or a pair of bones." The New York Sun parades this monstrous slander of the darkey as a verity. Mr. Harris is evidently a of Alabama! man of limited experiences, after all-He has many things to learn yet.
