

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1884.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

Congress will convene again after the holiday recess, on Monday next, and it is to be hoped that the members will go to work in earnest and finish up the business most needing attention. There is work enough to do, but we hope that they will not endeavor to do too much. More than a thousand bills have been presented thus early in the session, some few of which are undoubtedly of importance to the country, but the most of which of value only to those under whose direction they were introduced. Those later it is to be hoped will be summarily and expeditiously disposed of in such a way that they will no further annoy the members and hinder the transaction of necessary and legitimate business.

In looking upon the old year, says the New York World, the United States find much for which to be thankful. We have had the drawbacks incident to the faults of extravagance and corruption in government, but on the whole the country has been tolerably prosperous and we enter upon the new year with a gratifying prospect of the changes that promise to put our business interests on a better footing.

Let us measure our condition by comparison. While there have been no great wars in Europe during 1883, the people have stood on the brink of war. It has been armed peace. In Germany, Russia, Austria, Italy, France and England there has been no feeling of security beyond the assurances of the hour. Battalions have been massed on the borders. Fortifications have been strengthened and manned. Neighbor has been watching neighbor with jealous eye, and smooth words of peace have been belied by the reality of hostile preparation.

Aside from this, active troubles have existed. In Ireland an insurrection of crime and cruel murder has been only kept below the dimensions of a rebellion by remorseless prosecutions and wholesale hanging. All over the United Kingdom the people have lived in the terror of dynamite.

The Czar of Russia, with all his power, has trembled over his delayed coronation and slept in his guarded palace in the fear of the midnight assassin.

France has been stricken during the past year by the loss of her brightest and most earnest patriot. Following the death of Gambetta came the intrigues of the enemies of the Republic, only temporarily checked by the death of the Comte de Chambord. The uneasy policy of the Government has brought on a war in Tonquin. In Egypt and other less civilized countries there have been wars of a savage nature which extend into the new year.

In the United States we are happily free from these turmoils and apprehensions of war. Our people enjoy more liberty than the people of any other country on the face of the globe. We are better off than any other people and can boast of more general intelligence and a purer patriotism. Our vast territory is yearly made the home of hundreds of thousands of emigrants who add to our productions and our wealth. Each succeeding year confirms at least the numerical strength of the Republic and draws to it the hope, admiration and wonder of the world. We have established a government of the people, and have raised a Republic to the level of the greatest powers of the earth.

Let us hope that the new year will bring increased national prosperity, liberty and equality.

There is to be a rattling of the dry bones in Washington this Winter. A big fight over the railroad subsidies of previous sessions is to be made. The New York Sun's correspondent at the Capital says:

The Committee on Public Lands expect to report a number of bills when Congress reconvenes next week, declaring forfeited the lands that have been granted to certain railroad companies. The companies most interested are those in the Northwest and South, and the amount of land involved is reported by the Chairman of the committee, Mr. Cobb, to be between 50,000,000 and 100,000,000 acres. The Texas Pacific land grant, it is expected, will be reported as forfeited, and this grant alone involves 14,000,000 acres.

same men controlled the committees from the close of the war up to the Forty-fourth Congress, and they controlled the latter Congress. They had committees packed in their favor. It is a fact that every Republican Congress since 1865 has favored the railroads. If justice be done to the country and to the Government, over 100,000,000 acres of land will be declared forfeited. The questions of private claims, which will, of course, arise, will have to be settled by future legislation. The Government will not oppose men who in good faith have bought from the railroads.

What it Did For an Old Lady.

COSHOCTON STATION, N. Y., Dec. 28, 1878.
GENTS—A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. In one case, a lady of over seventy years had been sick for years, and for the past ten years has not been able to be around half the time. About six months ago she got so feeble that she was helpless. Her old remedies, or physicians, being of no avail I sent to deposit, forty-five miles away, and got a bottle of Hop Bitters. It improved her so she was able to dress herself and walk about the house. When she had taken the second bottle she was able to take care of her own room and walk out to a neighbor's, and has improved all the time since. My wife and children have also derived great benefit from their use.

MOONSHINE.

Advice to an egotistical blower: Shut down your wind, oh!

Many a woman who does not know even the multiplication table can "figure" in society.

"I fill the Bill," said Willie, when he got into his mother's preserve closet. "And I foot the Bill," remarked papa, overhearing the soliloquy.

"I wouldn't mind it so much," said the gilded youth, "if he'd bring a different bill occasionally. But I'm bored to death with seeing the same old bill!"

Nothing disgusts a young lover in lavender pants so much as to find that the piano stool he has been occupying for the last hour has been used as a "twister" at the children's candy-pulling party the night before.

"Do birds think?" asks a writer in opening a current article. If they do, we would like to know what a canary bird thinks of the fat woman who stands up in a chair and "talks baby" through the brass wires of its cage.

While the arrangements were being made for a party a few evenings ago, a young lady present innocently inquired: "Is the invitation to embrace the young ladies?" "Oh, no!" replied a young man, "the gentlemen will attend to that." And now the young woman wonders what the young man meant.

A Quick Recovery.

It gives us great pleasure to state that the merchant who was reported being at the point of death from an attack of Pneumonia, has entirely recovered by the use of DR. WM. HALL'S BAL-SAM FOR THE LUNGS. Naturally he feels grateful for the benefits derived from using this remedy for the lungs and throat; and in giving publicity to this statement we are actuated by motives of public beneficence, trusting that others may be benefited in a similar manner. On sale by all Drug-gists.

FOR THE CURIOUS.

A confectioner says that thirty per cent. of the candy sold is white earth. Somebody who has been counting says that the article "the" is used about 16,000 times in every copy of the London Times.

A forest of trees was recently found under a bed of clay and twenty three feet of soil on Connecticut avenue, Washington.

Roast elephant is a sacred dish in Tonquin and Annam, as are also bird's nest pies, made of esculent swallows with a plate of insects.

The imperial standard of England was first hoisted on the tower of London and on Bedford tower, Dublin, and also displayed by the foot-guards on the union of the kingdoms, January 1, 1801.

Commodore Bainbridge and 315 of his men were captured by the Tripolitans in 1803, and remained prisoners for about nineteen months. His vessel struck on a rock near the shore, and his capture was attended with no dishonor.

When Xanthus in Lycia was besieged by the Romans under Brutus, 42 B. C., the men set fire to the city, killed their wives and children and then themselves. The conquerors, wishing to spare them, promised rewards to any soldier who would bring him a living Xanthian, but only 150 were saved.

Certain Swiss living in the Canton of St. Gallen recently attempted to transform 160 francs, which they buried beneath a headstone, into five millions by the simple process of saying spells over it and passing eight days without clothing, repeating magic formulae all the time. When the authorities discovered this great excitement, but full of faith.

Twists and Twinges.

"My brethren," shouted Dr. Talmage one bright autumnal Sunday, "here is a lesson from the cornfield. God has arranged that the ear and the husk shall be parted. Every rheumatic pain is but a thrust of the husking peg, and every neuralgic twinge is only a twist of the husker."

Possibly; but nobody wants to be husked, for all that, and nature teaches us to resist the process. Therefore, we accept with gratitude whatever helps us to suppress those very twists and twinges.

From his pleasant home, Greenmount, near Sing Sing, N. Y., M. Alfred Baer, a French gentleman, writes:

"I have suffered almost intolerable torments from rheumatism for many years. Of the numerous remedies which I tried, none benefited me. But PARKER'S TONIC gave me great satisfaction. I certify with pleasure that it restored my health. You are welcome to publish this and use my name."

Messrs. Hiscox & Co. call especial attention to the fact that this preparation, which has been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, will hereafter be advertised and sold simply under the name of PARKER'S TONIC. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior preparations under the name of ginger and as ginger is really an unimportant flavoring ingredient, we drop the misleading word.

There is no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles containing the name of PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, contain the genuine medicine if the fac simile signature of Hiscox & Co. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper. doc 13-d&w

How the Tipsy Toppers Tiddle!

When you see a lot of half-tipsy fellows lounging up to the counter of a village bar-room, and asking each other if they will take some bitters, you may be assured that the "bitters" they are after is not "Brown's Iron Bitters."

When you see an old toper slyly and repeatedly visiting his bottle in the closet, and privately taking what he tells you is his "bitters," you may be very certain that the bottle does not contain "Brown's Iron Bitters."

When you find several men complaining of aching heads, and hear them say that the cause of their headaches is over-indulgence in what they call their "bitters," it is beyond doubt that what they have been imbibing is not "Brown's Iron Bitters."

When you find a man with reddened nose, blood-shot eyes, staggering gait, and other indications of regular habits, and are told that his condition is the result of too frequent visits to the "bitters" bottle, don't for a moment think that he has been taking "Brown's Iron Bitters."

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is not an intoxicating beverage, nor is it a beverage at all, or an article which anybody would be likely to drink for the pleasure of drinking.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, although pleasant to take as a medicine, is not "whiskey-drink" medicine, the use of which can be made an excuse for tipping.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is not sold in bar-rooms, taverns, or places where drinking men resort for stimulants. It is only a medicine, and the druggists sell it.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is the great health-giving tonic and strengthener. It is eminently the Family Medicine of the day. It drives out dyspepsia, leibility, and the effects of malaria. It causes no injurious effects, even to the most delicate invalids, but builds up the system, imparting vigor and new life. doc 8-nrm to d&w cd
