

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C. MONDAY, JANUARY 7, 1884.

Gen. Grant is said to be now in easy financial circumstances and to have foregone general speculation. He is one of the largest stockholders in the banking and brokerage business of Ward, Grant & Co., New York.

The celebrated clipper ship Young America has been sold to an Austrian house for $15,000, and will henceforth be engaged under the Austrian flag.

The colossal apartment house craze has broken out afresh in New York city. Thus, within the past few days, contracts have been signed for a ten-story structure of that class on the southeast corner of Sixty-second street and the Boulevard.

The Louisiana reformers, or some of them, have astounded the postmaster general by sending an attorney to ask him to deny the New Orleans Exposition the use of the mails on the ground that it is really a branch of the lottery company.

A New York letter says: "The year goes out with more or less complaint among merchants and business men as to the unprofitableness of trade during the past twelvemonth, coupled with a disposition to take serene views of the outlook for 1884; but, if one could get at all the facts, there are many shrewd people who believe it would be found that most of the croakers have a handsome balance for the year's trade on the profit side of the account."

The last night of the year is full of superstition for the Swedish peasant folk, and the young people especially hope to read their future as the old year dies out. Here are two of the games they practice: After the light is put out in your bedroom you must throw your slipper over your left shoulder and then look next morning to see in what position it has fallen.

Twists and Twinges.

"My brethren," shouted Dr. Talmage one bright autumnal Sunday, "here is a lesson from the cornfield. God has arranged that the ear and the husk shall be parted. Every rheumatic pain is but a thrust of the husking peg, and every neuralgic twinge is only a twist of the husker."

Possibly; but nobody wants to be husked, for all that, and nature teaches us to resist the process. Therefore, we accept with gratitude whatever helps us to suppress those very twigs and twinges.

From his pleasant home, Greenmount, near Sing Sing, N. Y., M. Alfred Beer, a French gentleman, writes: "I have suffered almost intolerable torments from rheumatism for many years. Of the numerous remedies which I tried, none benefited me. But PARKER'S TONIC gave me great satisfaction. I certify with pleasure that it restored my health. You are welcome to publish this and use my name."

Messrs. HISCOX & Co. call especial attention to the fact that this preparation, which has been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, will hereafter be advertised and sold simply under the name of PARKER'S TONIC.
