FOR THOSE WHO FAIL.

"All honor to him who shall win the prize."
The world has cried for a thousand years,
But to him who tries and who fails and dies
I give great honor and glory and tears.

Give glory and honor and plentiful tears
To all who fail in their deeds sublime,
Their ghosts are many in the van of years,
They were born with Time in advance of Time.

Oh, great is the hero who wins a name,
But greater many and many a time
Some pale faced fellow who dies in shame
And lets God finish the thought sublime.

And great is the man with a sword un-drawn,
And good is the man who refrains
from wine;
But the man who fails and yet still fights on,
Lo, he is the twin-born brother of mine.

A Giant's Remains in a Mound.
Prof. Norris, the ethnologist, who has been examining the mounds in this section of West Virginia for several months, the other day opened the big mound on Col. R. H. Smith's farm, six or eight miles below here. This is the largest in the valley and proved a rich storehouse. The mound is 50 feet high, and they dug down to the bottom. It was evidently the burial place of a noted chief who had been interred with unusual honors. At the bottom they found the bones of a human being, measuring 7 feet in length and 19 inches across the shoulders. He was lying flat, and at either side lying at an angle of about 45 degrees, with their feet pointed toward their chief, were other men, on one side two and on the other three. At the head of the chief lay another man, with his hands extended before him, and wearing two copper bracelets, while a looking-glass of mica lay at his shoulders and a gorget of copper rested on his breast. Four copper bracelets were under his head, with an arrow in the centre. A house 12 feet in diameter and 10 feet high, with a ridge pole 1 foot in diameter, had been erected over them, and the whole covered by the dirt that formed the mound. Each of the men buried there had been inclosed in a bark coffin.—Charleston (West Va.) Call.

It is a Positive Luxury to brush the teeth with SOZODONT, so fragrant and refreshing is it, and so pleasant is the taste it leaves in the mouth after the operation. Then how gratifying is the effect and how complacent feels the beholder who views in the glass a row of ivories rendered spotless, by this benign and delightful toilet article. Only a few drops on the brush, a rag or sponge is needed for an ablution and yet it is wondrously effective.

Rattlesnakes on Toast.

A typical cowboy, fresh from his herd, went into Elitch's chophouse last night. The tables were all filled, with the exception of one, at which the terror of the plains seated himself. As he pulled off his hat and untied the red bandana handkerchief from around his throat, he looked disdainfully around. The nimble waiter brushed an imaginary bread crumb from the cloth, whisked a bill of fare from the castor and placed it before the festive and untamed youth.

"Take it away!" he snarled. "I can't

"Eat that, I want rattlesnake on toast!"

"Rattlesnake on toast!" yelled the waiter.

"Rattlesnake on toast!" responded the cook.

There was a slight flutter among the guests at this strange order, and the cowboy was scanned by many curious eyes.

He looked a little disconcerted at having his order so promptly taken, and glanced furtively toward the front of the house. He saw the cooks and waiters engaged in filling orders and looking as solemn as graveyards after midnight.

He assumed a nonchalant air and picked his teeth with a fork.

A cook deftly removed the skin from a pickerel, and cutting a strip the proper shape, placed it in a spider.

The waiter who had taken the order came tripping back to the bold buccanyer of the pampas.

"Will you have your snake well done or rare?"

"Rare, with oodles of milk gravy on it."

"Gimme that snake rare—milk gravy on the side," was hallooed to the cook.

"Snake rare; milk gravy—side."

took should back. "Ain't a glory side," "Sag!" said the bovina steerer as the waiter passed him, "I'll make it well done."

"Make it well done,"

"Make it: well done," was answered back.

The lariat wrestler began to grow nervous. The devil-may-care expression had left his eyes, and a soft, subdued, melancholy shade had taken its place.

"Here you are, sir," said the culinary Ganymede, placing a dish in which was something nicely coiled, which look like a fried specimen of the genus crustalus. "Have a little Worcestersauce? Gives a very fine flavor. Some folks like mushrooms with their snakes. Or the proper Chilian colorow. A little salad dressing don't go bad. There's vinegar and olive oil in eastor. Will you have tea or coffee? Very fine tender. Caught yesterday. Fat and tender."

When the waiter was delivering himself of this enlogy on the meal, the steer puncher shoved his chair back. His eyes bulged out and he became pale around the gills.

"I don't think I'll eat anything. I ain't hungry," he said as he rose understandingly to his feet and reached for his hat.

"Maybe you'd prefer brilled moccasins," insinuatingly suggested the waiter.

"No," he replied, as the shaken pallor deepened on his face. "I ain't a bit hungry." He cast another glance at the dish he had ordered, and made a break for the door. He forgot to "pay at the counter."—Cheyenne Sun.

What it Did For an Old Lady.
COSHOCOTON STATION, N. Y.,
Dec. 28, 1878.

GENTS.—A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. In one case, a lady of over seventy years had been sick for years, and for the past ten years has not been able to be around half the time. About six months ago she got so feeble that she was helpless. Her old remedies, or physicians, being of no avail I sent to Deposit, forty-five miles away, and got a bottle of Hop Bitters. It improved her so she was able to dress herself and walk about the house. When she had taken the second bottle she was able to take care of her own room and walk out to a neighbor's, and has improved all the time since. My wife and children have also derived great benefit from their use.

Advice to Consumptives.

On the appearance of the first symptoms—a general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, chilly sensations, followed by night-sweats and cough—prompt measures for relief should be taken. Consumption is scrofulous disease of the lungs. Therefore use the great anti-scorfula, or blood-purifier and strength-restorer.—Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Superior to Cod liver oil as a nutritive, and unsurpassed as a pectoral. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, and kindred affections, it has no equal. Sold by druggists the world over. For Dr. Pierce's pamphlet on Consumption, send two stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BRIGHTEST and BEST!

DAILY, SEVEN WEEKLY, WEEKLY AND SUNDAY EDITIONS.

THE

WORLD

FOR 1884.

PRESIDENTIAL YEAR.

New Proprietor! New Editors!
New Life and Blood!

Six months ago, THE WORLD commenced its new career. Its growth has been unprecedented. Its wonderful advance in circulation, in advertising, in influence, in popularity, warrants the claim of a leading position in New York journalism.

No expense or effort will be spared until THE WORLD is recognized as the GREATEST as well as the BRIGHTEST and CHEAPEST PAPER in AMERICA.

THE WORLD, as the leading Democratic newspaper in the country, knows no faction and recognizes no individual ambitions or aspirations as to the general good of the party and the Republic. It seeks the triumph of principles—not men. It upholds great Democratic ideas and ideals—not a faction or fraction of the party.

At the entrance of the new year the new WORLD desires to express its gratitude for the hearty welcome it has received and the magnificent success it has already achieved. Its welcome comes from the people. Its successes are their work. They have indorsed its merits by more than doubling its circulation in six months, and by doubling its advertising. For this they are entitled to our warm thanks.

No Democrat ought to be happy without THE WORLD. We call upon our Democratic friends in every town and hamlet in the Union to START CLUBS FOR THE WEEKLY. They will get the ablest, brightest and cheapest new paper in the country, as well as an earnest and steadfast missionary and true Democracy.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1884.

About sixty million copies of THE SUN have gone out of our establishment during the past twelve months.

Our paper is pasted end to end all the columns of all THE SUNS printed and sold last year you would get a continuous strip of interesting information, common sense wisdom, and a great deal of fun. You could go on and on from Printing House square to the top of Mount Copernicus in the moon, then back to Printing House square, and then three-quarters of the world or his grandfather has spent another hour, this newspaper in 1883 has afforded the human race thirteen thousand years of steady reading, night and day.

It is only by little calculations like those that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular of American newspapers, and of the millions of Americans and soldiers of American men and women.

THE SUN is, and will continue to be, a newspaper which tells the truth without fear of the consequences. It is a paper that costs you how much the process costs, which presents the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape, and in the most reliable manner. It is the cause of honest government, and which therefore believes that the Republican party must continue to go in this coming year of our Lord, 1884.

If you know THE SUN, you like it already, and you will read it with accustomed diligence and profit during the year to come. It will be the most interesting year in its history. If you do not know THE SUN, it is high time to go into the sunshine.
