HER PICTURE.
I see her now—the fairest thing That ever mocked man's picturing, I picture her as one who drew Aside life's picture and looked through The mists of all life's mystery As from a wood to open sea.
The soft, wide eyes of wonderment That trusting looked you through and through;
The sweet, arched mouth, a bow new bent,
That sent love's arrow swift and true.
That sweet arched mouth! The Orient Hath not such pearls in all her stores;
Not all the storied spice-set shores Have fragrance such as it hath spent.
I picture her as one who knew How rare is truth to be untrue—As one who knew the awful sign Of death, of life, of the divine, Sweet pity, of all loves, all hates, Beneath the iron footed fates.
I picture her as seeking peace,
And olive leaves and vine-set land; While strife stood by on either hand,
And wrung her tears like rosaries.
I picture her in passing rhyme As of, yet not a part of these—
A woman born above her time;
A woman waiting in her place,
With patient pity on her face.
Her face, her earnest, baby face;
Her young face, so uncommon wise—The tender love-light in her eyes—Two stars of Heaven out of place.
Two stars that sang as stars of old,
Their silent eloquence of song,
From skies of glory and of gold, Where God in purple passed along That patient, baby face of hers That won a thousand worshippers!
That silent, pleading face; among Ten thousand faces just the one.
I still shall love when all is done,
And life lies by, a hard unstrung.
That face, like shining sheaves among That face, half hid 'mid sheaves of gold;
That face that never can grow old;
And yet has never been quite young.
—Joaquin Miller.

An Improvident Count.
In 1883 the oldest son of Prince Frederick of Palm, the young Count Alfred, then studying at the Bond University, ran away from home because his family would not allow him to marry a young girl, well brought up, and whose parents were comfortably off, but of comparatively low birth. For a while the Prince of Palm remained ignorant of his son's whereabouts, and was only informed last September that he was working as a navvy on the Illinois Railway, a few miles from Chicago.
He had been recognized by another navvy by the name of Schneider, who had served in Germany in the same regiment of hussars as the young Prince.
Schneider wrote to the prince to inform him that the count and himself occupied the same lodging at Chicago. The prince immediately sent the manager of his estate to bring back the prodigal son, who refused to return unless he was allowed to marry the young lady for whose sake he left home and country.
The prince's consent has been granted.

Rosadalis

the cure of the Scrofulous Taint, Rheumatism, White Swelling, Gout, Goitre, Consumption, Bronchitis, Nervous De-from an impure condition of the Blood.

The merits of this valuable preparation are so well known that a passing notice is but necessary to remind the readers of this journal of the necessity of always having a bottle of ROSA-DALIS among their stock of family necessities.
Certificates can be presented from many leading Physicians, Ministers and heads of families throughout the South endorsing ROSADALIS in the highest term. We are constantly in receipt of certificates of cures from the most reliable sources, and we do not hesitate to recommend it as the best remedy for the cure of the above diseases.

A Dog at the Telephone.
The telephone has enabled a physician, several miles away, to detect whether a child had the croup. The child's mouth was held near to the mouth-piece of the instrument and the physician heard the cough. But more singular than this is the following case of a dog recognizing its master's voice through the telephone: Jack is a coach dog that found its master by telephone. In some way Jack got lost and fortunately was found by one of his master's friends, who went to his office and asked by telephone if the man had lost his dog.
"Yes, where is he?" was the reply.
"He is here. Suppose you call him through the telephone." The dog's ear was placed over the ear piece, and the master said, "Jack! Jack! how are you, Jack?"
Jack instantly recognized the voice, and began to yell. He licked the telephone fondly, seeming to think that his master was inside the machine.
At the other end of the line, the gentleman recognized the familiar barks, and shortly afterward he reached his friend's office to claim his property.

of superior "style," the languid city beauty surveys the imaginary physical shortcomings of her rustic female coun-sinner. Yet if the latter possess a finer set of teeth, as she probably does if she uses SOZODONT, and the metropolitan believe does not, that striking contrast so much in her favor enables her to turn the tables with a vengeance. Pearly teeth are better than "style."

Mackay's Old Whiskey.
Two distinguished citizens here have lately received demijohns containing some priceless whiskey, fifty-nine years old, that was accompanied by the compliments of John W. Mackay. Somewhere abroad Mr. Mackay found a few gallons of this old nectar ripening in a

What it Did For an Old Lady.
COSHOCOTON STATION, N. Y.
Dec. 28, 1878.
GENTS—A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. In one case, a lady of over seventy years had been sick for years, and for the past ten years has not been able to be around half the time. About six months ago she got so feeble that she was helpless. Her old remedies, or physicians, being of no avail I sent to Deposit, forty-five miles away, and got a bottle of Hop Bitters. It improved her so she was able to dress herself and walk about the house. When she had taken the second bottle she was able to take care of her own room and walk out to a neighbor's, and has improved all the time since. My wife and children have also derived great benefit from their use.
